TO DECLARE WAR ON GERMANY'S ALLIES

SENATOR STONE IS URGING THAT SUCH ACTION BE TAKEN

Believes Congress Will Do That and Put an End to a Situation That
Is Now Anomalous.

ARE ACTUALLY ENEMIES OF AMERICA

Washington, Nov. 26.—Declarations of war against Austria-Bulgaria and Turkey, Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee, declared today seem "exceedingly advisable to simplify a situation now anomalous."

"We are intact," said he, "now at war with Germany's allies."

Senator Stone's only reservation was that such action should be in harmony with the policy of the executive branch of the government. Although he voted against the declaration of war on Germany, Senator Stone has reiterated that the war once begun has his whole support. His statement today was taken as indicative of the agitation for war on Germany's allies which will face congress when it convenes a week from today.

"There should be an understanding of course," said Senator Stone, "between the two branches of the government before any action is taken. But we are, in fact, now at war with Germany's allies. The situation is anomalous. It would in my opinion simplify matters greatly if we formally declare war against Germany's allies. It seems to me exceedingly advisable."

"I have understood that some, if not a large number of Austrians troops have been on the western front. They soon may be actually fighting the American forces, the two forces firing at each other. Anyway, the Austrians are desperately engaged with Italy, which is one of our allies. Just as much as France or England."

BRITISH AIRMEN SWOOP LOW TO REACH GERMANS

British Army Headquarters in France, Sunday, Nov. 25.—(By The Associated Press.)—The work of British airmen during the present offensive forms a graphic chapter in itself.

Despite the vile weather which compelled them to operate within a few feet of the ground they kept steadily at their task and rendered invaluable assistance both in reconnaissance and offensive operations.

There have been almost continuous battles between German infantry and airmen flying as low as thirty feet above the ground. Never before has this kind of warfare been carried out on such a large scale. Pilots have attacked infantry and gun crews indiscriminately wherever they encountered them and have inflicted heavy casualties on the enemy with bombs and machine guns.

The nature of the fighting can be seen from the experience of a British pilot whose machine was literally shot to pieces by rifle and machine gun fire and who finally crashed down behind his own lines with ten bullet holes through his clothing, although he himself was unhurt.

Another young airman yesterday presented himself at the headquarters after having been shot down for the third time within two days. He was delighted over his experience and immediately applied to another machine so that he might go out again.

One aviator attacked a column of German infantry marching in close formation and hurled two high power bombs directly among them. The troops scattered and as the airman whirled away he saw two heaps of dead about huge craters which the bombs had torn in the road.

There were innumerable cases of airmen successfully bombing airfields, train stations and gun crews. A large number of artillery crews have been wiped out either by machine gun fire at close range or by bombs.

Naturally many of the airmen had miraculous escapes from death and some of course have paid the full price and have gone to swell the toll of brave men who have given their lives for their king and country. Among the hair-breadth escapes reported is that of an aviator whose machine was torn to pieces while he was fighting German infantry with his machine gun. He was caught in the shell fire and all the wings of his machine were shot away.

Fortunately he was flying only twenty or thirty feet above the ground and close to his own lines. He crashed into No-Man's land and found himself unhurt. He immediately came under rifle and machine gun fire. But he found a German rifle with some ammunition and engaged the enemy single handed. As he fired he worked his way back until he reached one of his own patrols.

There is not much humor in fighting of this nature but one incident occurred which is making the whole British air service laugh today. One of the youngest British airmen was flying at a low altitude when four enemy machine guns opened on him. He swooped down and shot three of his opponents as he swept by. The fourth machine gun kept firing and the aviator in a spirit of boyish mischief leaned over the side of the car and wriggled his fingers in a joyous derision at the German. Just as he was in the midst of this interesting performance his opponent put a bullet squarely through the palm of the airman's open hand.

The aviator presented himself at a dressing station and when puerilely admitted the truth with crest fallen face. His consolation for his wound was roars of laughter and advice to be more polite to a Boche in the future.

MORE OF THE "CLEAN" CAMPAIGN.

Attention was called Saturday afternoon of the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette of the city carriers and rural agents of the Journal-Gazette, offering to pay them the subscribers they could divert to that paper. The letter to the carriers was reproduced in both the News and the Sentinel on Saturday and the letter to the out-of-town agents was along similar lines. In this letter to the agents the following course of action is advised:

"Start in this morning and give all your subscribers a Journal-Gazette. Then go to our agent in your city and check up with him, so you will not both be delivering a Journal to the same party. Of course if one of our agents is already delivering a Journal to one of your subscribers you will have to lose this subscription, but hold all you can. We hope you will take this opportunity to make more money than when you were handling the Sentinel."

Thus were men in the employ of the Sentinel—men whose names were obtained by the theft of the Sentinel's mailing list—urged to desert their employment for a price.

But this was not all. Not only were the Sentinel's lists of carriers and agents taken but likewise its mailing list of out-of-town subscribers. To these subscribers a form letter has been sent by the Journal-Gazette in which they are urged to switch over to the Journal-Gazette, the statement being made in this connection that ere long the publishers of the News will attempt to "force the News into your home."

Now, of course, the publishers of the News and Sentinel have no objection to any legitimate effort that may be made by the publishers of the Journal-Gazette to induce people to take the latter paper, but they most seriously object to the use in such a campaign of lists stolen from the Sentinel office. In the absence of positive information, it is not charged that any employee of the Journal-Gazette stole these lists, but it is charged that they were stolen by some one and that the management of the Journal-Gazette knows that it is making use of stolen property. How the Journal-Gazette obtained the lists and what if anything it paid for them, cannot now be stated, but the circumstances that are known are enough to warrant the condemnation of the whole proceeding. He who knowingly uses stolen goods is no better than the man who stole them.

TOTAL MAY BE $18,000

Y. W. C. A. Met With Glorious
Success in Women's Campaign.

SOME SUBSCRIPTIONS NOT YET TURNED IN

Five Outside Counties Could Not Get Into the Game.

"We believe," said Miss May Jewell Smith, treasurer of the Fort Wayne Young Women's Christian association, "that the total for Allen county in the Y. W. C. A. campaign will reach $18,000. We are hoping, too, for reports of additional subscriptions from the outside counties."

The fact is, that Allen county, in the campaign which closed on Saturday evening, already has gone $1,153 over its quota of $15,000, and this condition assists materially to make up for the shortage in all of the other counties of the district, except Huntington, which came across nicely with its apportionment of $1,000. The total in Allen county, up to Monday morning was $17,153. Various obstacles prevented the success of the work in five of the counties. Some had not yet finished because of the lack of time, could not be organized for the work. Organizers going from Fort Wayne would have lost the opportunity to work here and make the bigger success of the Allen county campaign.

Following is the summary of Saturday's work:

WHEN A GERMAN IS NOT GERMAN IS MADE CLEAR

Washington, Nov. 26.—When a German is not a German is understood today by Alexander Fred Frelsheim, one of those who sought to register as an alien under President Wilson's proclamation. He came here from Germany when he was five years old and Marshall Spahn has advised him to his surprise that the fact that his mother after the death of his father married an American citizen, resulted automatically in her children becoming Americans. Authorities here say that while only 18 Germans who came to Washington after the declaration of war have registered their departure, many more have left for unknown destinations without taking the trouble to register.

MANY GIVEN COMMISSIONS

H. B. Dennison and J. M. Guyer Receive Appointments as Captains.

SEVERAL NAMED
2ND LIEUTENANTS

Official Roster of New Officers Will Not be Available Till Tuesday.

A large number of men from Fort Wayne and northeastern Indiana in the officers' training camp at Fort Benjamin Harrison will be given commissions. All of the men in the camp have known for some time unofficially the rank which they will receive. Those who failed in their efforts to win the coveted commissions have been so informed and many of them have left the camp.

While the official roster of commissioned men will not be available for publication until after the commissions are awarded Tuesday, a comprehensive list has been secured.

The unofficial list with the name, address, rank and branch of service, and where available the point of assignment of each officer, from northeastern Indiana, follows:

Captain.
H. B. Dennison, Fort Wayne, Camp Custer.
J. M. Guyer, Fort Wayne, Fort Dodge.

Probing Mystery That Involves Death of City Policemen.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 26.—The police department today continued its inquiry into Saturday night's tragedy which resulted in the death of nine members of the police force and one other when a bomb, intended for the supposed destruction of the Italian Evangelical church exploded in the central police station where it had been brought for examination.

According to the police nothing has been uncovered to indicate the bomb's planting or the explosion had connection with any anarchists and anti-government activities.

The police pointed out today that if the Rev. August Galliana, pastor of the church, was the intended victim, the bomb planters owed, for Galliana was not in the city on Sunday when officials believed the infernal machine was timed to explode.

Galliana and some of his followers were expected to appear at the trial of eleven Italians Wednesday for the murder of two detectives who were killed in a labor riot several weeks ago.

As they were to be witnesses for the state the police believe Saturday's outrage had connection with their appearance at the trial.

A federal inquiry into the outrage was demanded by Congressman W. J. Carey in a telegram sent to A. Bruce Bielask, chief of investigation department of justice at Washington.

Mr. Carey said he would introduce legislation when congress convenes in December to give the police department

Summary of the Day's War News

British troops have captured the high ground in Bourlon wood and now dominate the region about Cambrai. This success came after two days of the most vicious fighting and its importance is indicated in part by the fact that German traffic southeast of the Cambrai has been heavy the probability being that the civil population of the town has been removed.

General Byng's latest triumph was one of hard and heroic endeavor. In paying tribute to the third army Field Marshal Haig declares that the capture of the Bourlon position "crowns a most successful operation and opens the way to the further exploitation of advantages already gained."

Apparently the British commander will push his advantage still further and besiege Cambrai, which is three miles to the east.

Bourlon village changed hands three times in the desperate battling for the possession of it and the adjoining wood. Severe fighting continues there and the Germans, massing their best troops in efforts to retrieve the position which means all to the security of Cambrai, pressed back the British from parts of the village Sunday. Gen. Byng's men withstood attacks on the wood and held the high ground intact. There also has been heavy fighting west of Moeuvres, southeast of Quent.

In six days Gen. Byng and the third army have broken the Hindenburg line, taken a score of villages, secured the dominating position west of Cambrai and overrun territory equal in area to that gained in the first three months of the drive in the Ypres salient. Nearly 10,000 prisoners, 100 guns and much war material have been captured. More important still probably is the "further exploitation" to which Field Marshal Haig refers in his congratulatory message.

Around Verdun, the pivot point of the German line in France, there has been heavy fighting in which the French have been victorious. After repulsing a strong German attack on the right bank of the Meuse near hill 344, the French attacked the enemy on a front of more than two miles in the same region. They occupied the first and second German lines and captured more than 800 prisoners.

From Lake Garda to the Adriatic the Italians continue to hold the invading Austro-Germans in check. Finding it impossible to break through the line directly west of the Piave river, the enemy has been making very strong attacks on the Asiago plateau, where he was defeated last week in an attempt to encircle the important Monte Meletta position. The fighting has been most severe, the Italians meeting attack with counter attack.

East of the plateau between the Brenta and the Piave only artillery has been active. Along the Piave the Germans are showing signs of activity.

FRANCO-BRITISH FORCES TO AID OF TIRED ITALY

and Supply Trains Within Sound of the Great Battle.

HAVE BEEN ON AN EIGHT-DAY MARCH

Italian Army Headquarters in Northern Italy, Sunday, Nov. 25.—(By The Associated Press.)—Solid ranks of Franco-British infantry with artillery and supply trains were seen by the correspondent today within sound of the battle on the Italian northern line. They had been on an eight day march.

The correspondent was on a tour of the northern fighting front where the great battle is continuing with unexampled violence. Maj. Gen. Dignorgio was found commanding the extreme left of the fourth army at the point where the fighting was heaviest.

Throughout yesterday and today the battle in the mountains has developed in a steady succession of heavy attacks and counter attacks with occasional brief intervals for re-forming the lines and re-organizing new positions.

Twelve consecutive assaults. Twelve different enemy assaults have been made within a few hours preceding the correspondent's visit to headquarters on the field but the Italian lines have not yielded a foot of ground and Gen. Dignorgio, while grave because of the fierce struggle his men was making against tremendous odds, was calm and confident that the defensive line would hold until reinforcements were swung into the fighting.

Staff officers from headquarters were taking the trip along the line and the route lay straight north into the fighting zone.

A sight to stir the blood. In another zone a sight which stirred the blood was when solid ranks of allied reinforcements crowded the roads.

Already they were within sound of the rumble of the guns and the boom from the battle and off in the distance could be heard above the gallop of the cavalry, the tramp of the infantry and the clatter of the batteries and supply trains.

The French reinforcements were first seen in force. They were splendid looking young men. One of their officers with whom the correspondent talked and who had stripes earned by gallantry on his sleeve, said they had just arrived after a hard forced march, with others following. Soon these others came in view and for two miles the party passed through endless lines of French. There were squadrons of cavalry in the road and in the nearby fields, and long lines of troops with artillery trains and supplies. Field kitchens had been set up at one point and the midday meal was being served. The men looked in the best of condition.

MAY DECLARE WAR ON GERMAN ALLIES IN COMING SESSION

Washington, Nov. 26.—Continued stupendous appropriations bills and other war legislation will feature the legislative program of the session of congress which is to open Dec. 3 and probably run on until autumn. Bond issue plans and other proposed legislation will be talked over soon between the president and congress leaders.

MEETS DEATH IN ENGINE PIT

Mitoe Pap Vasiloff Instantly Killed at the Pennsylvania Round House.

EVERY BONE IN HIS BODY IS BROKEN

Engine Backs Onto Him
While He is at Work—
Native of Macedonia.

Mitoe Pap Vasiloff, thirty-two years old, was instantly killed Monday morning at 8:40 o'clock when engine 7512 backed onto him as he was attempting to get out of engine pit No. 28, at the Pennsylvania round house. Vasiloff was a round house pit cleaner and was at work in that capacity when the engine entered the round house. Instead of remaining in the pit, where he would have been safe, the unfortunate fellow tried to get out and was caught between the engine pilot and the sill supporting the round house floor at the end of the pit. His chest and head were horribly crushed and death was instantaneous. Y. Tocheff, the hostler at the throttle of the engine, did not see Vasiloff, but B. F. Hostetter and Miss Hettie Schultz, employees at the round house, did see him and called to him to lay down in the pit, but he either failed to understand them or did not hear them. Coroner J. E. McArdle was summoned and after viewing the remains at the round house, ordered them removed to the Schone & Ankenbruck undertaking parlors. Vasiloff began work at the round house November 2. He was a Macedonian and came to America with his wife some time ago, leaving two daughters in the old home in Macedonia, expecting to send for them later. Mr. and Mrs. Vasiloff resided at 106 Holman street, where the remains will probably be taken for funeral services.

OPENED INDOOR RANGE.

Number of Marksmen Assemble to Prepare for Shoots.

Upwards of a dozen members of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club assembled at the indoor range in the basement of the warehouse building at the General Electric works Saturday night to participate in the opening of the range for the season. The meeting had not been advertised in advance and the attendance was not up to expectations. However, there was considerable enthusiasm displayed by those who did show up, and the indications point to a most aggressive and interesting series of shooting events during the winter. No records were made of the shooting Saturday night, the marksmen devoting their energies to getting gun sights adjusted and making other preparations for the season's work. Rifle shooting meets will be held Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights and revolver practice will take place on Wednesday night.

Although the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club is a city organization, the greater portion of the members are employees of the General Electric works and the General Electric company. The club is in every possible way, even to the extent of providing and equipping the indoor range, which is located in the basement of the warehouse building, No. 6. Four of the officers of the club are employees of the G. E. company, but they are selected by ballot and do not claim any privileges that are not granted to members not employed by the company. During the summer months the shooting is done on an outdoor range, under military rules and with military rifles and ammunition. The officers of the club are: President, E. A. Wagner; vice president, H. A. Hartman; secretary, George R. Gawohn; treasurer, C. J. Reuss, and executive officer, O. E. Archibald. All are G. E. employees except Mr. Reuss. The indoor range, it is said, has no equal in the state. The five targets are equipped with retrieving apparatus, by means of which the target may be brought to the marksmen and returned to its position at the will of the latter without leaving his bench, and the lighting arrangements are excellent.

G. E. BAND TO ENLARGE.

Will Have Greatest Musical Organization in City.

If plans contemplated are carried to a consummation, the General Electric Works' band will be the largest organization of its kind in the city in a week or two. The band holds a business session and rehearsal tonight and will probably take in eight or ten new members, bringing the membership up to over fifty. Several new marches, quicksteps and other kinds of musical numbers have been received and will be heard for the first time by Fort Wayne people at the next public gathering at which the band participates in a musical way.

NEW MEN AT WESTERN GAS.

Plant is One of the Busiest in the City.

Many new men are being put on the payroll at the Western Gas Construction company, the following six men having been put to work this morning by Superintendent W. G. Kayser, of the plant: Otto Gaff, benchmark; J. H. Dailey, machinist; J. August Salott, tool maker; Howard Jones, laborer; Charles A. Easton and Ed. Grook, helpers. The Western Gas plant is at the present time one of the busiest concerns in the city, having orders on hand enough at the present time to keep it busy until late in the spring.

HAD 102 EXCURSIONISTS.

The special train on the Wabash yesterday for the benefit of the Wabash football team and its "rooters" brought in 102 passengers. The company expected 300, but because of the cold, only a little over one-third that number showed up. What they lacked in numbers, however, was more than made up in "rooting" and cheers. The train was in charge of Conductor H.

D. Thornburg and Engineer E. J. Petty arrived and departed exactly on schedule time.

RETURNS TO WORK.

E. M. Gnu, machinist apprentice at the Pennsylvania erecting shop, has returned to work after being on the sick list for the last three weeks, and G. W. L. Kline, machinist helper, of the same department, is also again to be seen performing his duties after a week's layoff for the same reason.

C. C. Hake, machine operator at the Pennsylvania machine shop, failed to appear for work this morning, and gave sickness as his reason.

SHORT ON MECHANICS.

The scarcity of good machinists which is common to all industries, is particularly noticeable on the Wabash at present. While the local shops are supplied to the limit of the monthly expense appropriation, the shops at Peru, Detroit and Montpelier are badly in need of skilled workmen. All who apply here and are willing to go to either of the places mentioned are hired.

SURPRISES HIS PARENTS.

Thomas Fels, formerly employed at the Bowser plant, but now located at the government aviation field at Dayton, Ohio, surprised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fels, of 2105 John street, by paying them an unexpected visit over Sunday. Thomas, who was here on a furlough, claims that no one in the service of Uncle Sam has to fear starvation as they get all they want and of the best, he added.

WERE WILL LANGE'S GUESTS.

Dr. F. J. Schulz, Employment Agent W. F. Melching, Warehouse Superintendent R. O. Griff, Stockkeeper W. H. Fell and Garage Keeper Harry Barnes were guests of William Lange at his cottage at Clear Lake, Saturday and Sunday, and had some good fishing. The party caught over 200 ciscoes and had a most enjoyable time. All are connected with the General Electric works.

MISS POTTHOFF MAKES CHANGE.

Miss Mary Potthoff took a position in the office of Chief Shop Clerk J. F. Hobrock, of the Pennsylvania, this morning. She had been employed as cashier at the city lighting plant for several years and was known to a good portion of the residents of the city. She is considered one of the best stenographers and accountants in the city.

TRANSFERRED TO KALAMAZOO.

Floyd Stevens, clerk for Division Operator J. F. Betts, of the G. R. & I., who was sent to Kalamazoo a week or two ago, has received a regular appointment as third clerk operator in the company's telegraph office and will remain there. His place in the office of Mr. Betts has been taken by Miss Tucker, an expert stenographer.

UNDER SURGEON'S KNIFE.

F. F. Woehner, chief clerk in the Wabash shop office, went to Decatur, Ill., this morning to submit to a surgical operation by the company specialist for nasal troubles. The operation, while of much importance, is not dangerous and Mr. Woehner hopes to be able to resume his place at his desk soon.

IS TRANSFERRED.

H. C. Elchel, clerk in the office of Shop Clerk J. H. Holbrook, has been transferred to a similar position in the company's telegraph office and the vacancy caused by the resignation of J. R. Trautner.

MANY NEW MACHINISTS.

C. W. Smith, W. L. Curdes, John Heutzel and Ed. Stutzler have been employed as machinists and J. M. Richards as machine operator at the Pennsylvania machine shop by W. B. Madara, general foreman of this department.

MOVING IN NEW HOME.

J. F. Betts, division operator of the Grand Rapids and Indiana road, is today moving into the property at 1522 Webster street, which he recently purchased. Mr. Betts is laying off to assist in locating his family in the new home.

SICK AT CAMP TAYLOR.

Mrs. J. P. Boyce, of 153 East Leith street, is in receipt of a letter from her son, Archer Boyce, in which the latter states that he has been sick for two weeks with tonsillitis. Mr. Boyce is in the dental corps at Camp Taylor.

MR. STOCKER RETURNS.

H. E. Stocker, production manager at the General Electric works, was in his office again today after an absence of several days. He had been east on business for the company.

ALSO SOME NEW HELPERS.

H. Schroeder, H. Hammer, G. Kline and J. Robinson are new helpers at the Pennsylvania boiler shop, commencing their new duties this morning.

INDUSTRIAL NOTES.

Master Mechanic E. E. Griest, of the Pennsylvania, has gone to Pittsburgh on business for the company. H. E. Aushach, heater at the Pennsylvania blacksmith shop, reported off this morning, due to sickness. Division Storekeeper G. E. Guy, of the Wabash, is in Detroit on business for the department today. George Hauth, chief engineer at the Pennsylvania power plant, has resumed his duties after being off on account of sickness. Mr. and Mrs. A. R. Hall, the former a clerk in the General Electric works office, were host and hostess to a few friends Saturday night. Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Baker.

Miss Clara Roehm and M. J. Meisner. After an enjoyable session of cards, refreshments were served.

W. F. Spangler, electrician at the Pennsylvania, has returned to work after being on the sick list for the past week.

C. D. Frickle, employed as a carpenter at the Pennsylvania, has returned to work after being off, due to sickness.

J. P. Hasen and George Henline, boiler makers at the Pennsylvania, who have been off for the past two weeks on account of injured eyes, returned to their duties this morning.

Harry D. Kerr, has been given employment as a laborer in the Pennsylvania lumber yards and A. Patterson has been added to laboring gang of the old car machine shop.

Frank Stark, Leo Cashdollar and Robert Johnson, dynamo assemblers at the General Electric works, were unable to report for duty this morning on account of sickness.

Elmer Zinn, machinist in the Pennsylvania vice department, has fully recovered from a severe case of sickness and has resumed his duties at the shop this morning.

L. Meyer, cab builder at the Pennsylvania, who has been on the sick list since the 12th of this month, has fully recovered and resumed his duties at the shop this morning.

L. M. Kilgore, of Pittsburg, Mass., is particularly noticeable as a transfer of engineers of the General Electric works. Mr. Kilgore is connected with the Pittsburg plant.

R. H. Chadwick, transformer engineer at the General Electric plant, left last night for Schenectady on business for the company which will keep him there three or four days.

E. L. Haffner, chief inspector of the apparatus department of the General Electric works, has returned from Schenectady, where he spent a week on business for the company.

C. Constantino, a laborer in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, is off duty for treatment for lame back. He was injured by lifting a heavy piece last Wednesday, but worked up to this morning, when he had to quit and seek medical aid.

Gerald Henline, who officiates as chauffeur on one of the industrial trucks at the Wall street buildings of the General Electric works, showed up for work there this morning accompanied by a box of cigars for the "boys." Henline was married last Thursday to a most estimable young lady.

A hose cart is being located in the warehouse building at the General Electric plant to give good protection against fire while the new building just west of the warehouse is being erected. The entrance to the warehouse is more or less obstructed on the west, but the entrances on the north and east sides are open and easy of access.

GOVERNMENT OPERATION

If Pooling Does Not Solve Traffic Problem, Uncle Sam Will Try It.

VICE PRESIDENTS CONSIDERING IT

Committee of Officials of the Road Arranging for the Pool.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Government operation of railways if the pooling plan does not afford relief from the present situation, was being considered here today as the committee of vice-presidents of eastern lines gathered to perfect general plans to put the pooling arrangements in effect.

Congressional action would be necessary if government operation were to be decided upon, but that has been discussed by officials who have been considering what steps would be necessary if the pooling plans should not relieve the congestion in effect.

The operating committee of vice-presidents which will serve under the general direction of the railroad war board met today with the board to work out details of the plan of pooling trackage and equipment of the eastern lines. They expected to announce a general plan of operation later.

Adopted as the most practicable suggestion advanced, the pooling plan will be operated entirely by the railroads themselves without government participation. If it produces results, further steps will not be necessary.

AND ST. JOHN GAFFNEY IS AMONG HIS FRIENDS

Former American Consul at Munich Helps Germans Edit Irish Paper.

Amsterdam, Nov. 26.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press).—The first number of a new German review, the Irish-Bleat (Irish leaves), has just made its appearance in Berlin. It is published by the German-Irish society, which is under the presidency of Mathias Erzberger, assisted by Count Westarp and Baron von Richthofen. The editor of the journal is George Chatterton Hill, while St. John Gaffney, former American consul-general at Munich, is one of its directors.

The first number contains letters of congratulation and good wishes from General Ludendorff and former Foreign Secretary Zimmermann. These letters are signed by "Mathias Erzberger" of the German-Irish society, which says in part: "The war has proved that Germany has very few friends. But the Irish have acted as friends at home as well as in the United States, and Germany must not underestimate the value of Irish friendship. From the beginning of the war the American Irish adopted the German cause with enthusiasm, and in alliance with the German-Americans, conducted a courageous fight for true neutrality."

"The formation of this society is to supply visible proof to the Irish in Ireland as well as in America of German gratitude and German sympathy. The heroic rebellion of 1916 still lives in the memory of all of us. The uprising in Dublin, during which 2,000 armed Irish defied a British force many times their superior, evoked lively interest in Germany for the Emerald Isle and all its inhabitants. "The German-Irish society will devote its energies to reopening Ireland to the world, and especially to Germany. It will in every way further the progressive development of the Emerald Isle in the interest of the German as well as the Irish people."

HOLD CEREMONIES AT CAMP SHELBY

Hattiesburg, Miss., Nov. 26.—Soldiers of Camp Shelby are planning a home coming celebration for Private Malcolm Frase, Battery A, 137th field artillery and Glenn Meyer, Battery B, of the same regiment. The boys were married Thursday to Miss Meta Merz and Miss Esther Mertz, visitors from Kendallville. The ceremony was performed by Chaplain M. Eakins, and Colonel G. W. Frovornth, regimental commander, gave the brides away.

The young ladies are residents of Kendallville and although a few intimate friends knew of their intentions when they left with the Fort Wayne party for the camp Thursday, their marriage came as a decided surprise to the most of them. The four young people are widely known in Kendallville, having but recently graduated from the high school at that place. The young husbands obtained five days leave of absence and left after their wedding for Gulfport to spend their honeymoon. The brides will upon their return remain in Hattiesburg until their husbands are called for foreign service.

RECRUITING STATION TO BE CONTINUED

No One Who Has Registered Can Enlist After December 15.

The recruiting offices will be maintained and recruiting will be continued, but no person who is within the conscription age and who has registered can volunteer his services for the army, whether exempted or discharged by a local conscription board, after December 15 next. Young men between the ages of 18 and 21, and men over draft age, together with those young men who have become 21 years of age since June 5, 1917, will have the right to volunteer their services to the army.

This information was sent out to the various recruiting offices of the state by Major Ryan, head recruiting officer of Indiana, and corrects any erroneous conception that might have been started. The recruiting office reports that a large number of those who volunteer are those not registered and so the above order will not have a great effect on the rush of business. It is noticeable, however, that many who are registered but who would rather enlist than be drafted are hastening their plans to get in, as all chances will be cut off after December 15. Monday morning three left for the army, two for the aviation section and one for the coast artillery.

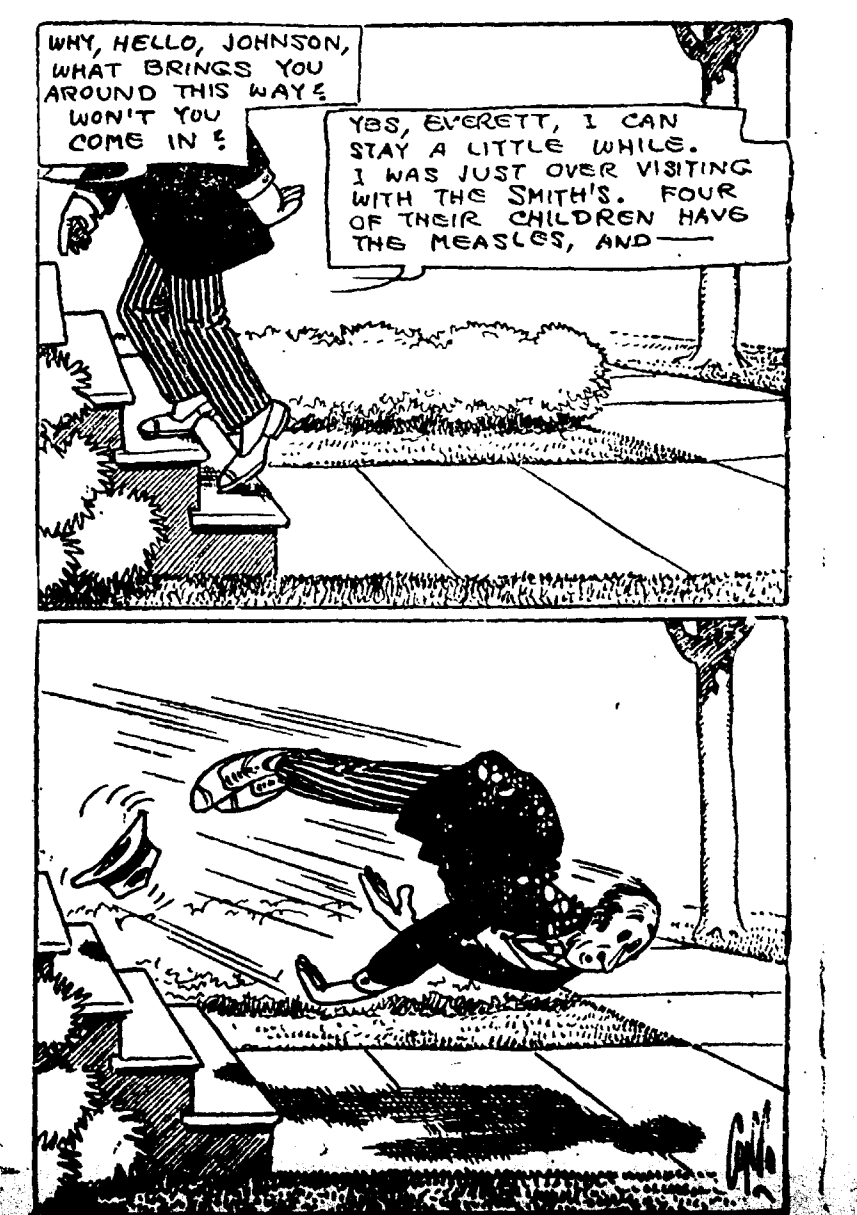

will meet on Tuesday with Mrs. Faulkner, 2323 Holton avenue. The regular monthly business meeting of the East Creighton Avenue Church of Christ's men's bible class will be held tonight with Mr. Lorton, 1431 East Creighton avenue.

VAN WERT MAN HIT BY SWITCH ENGINE

Lewis Emerick Has Both Legs Amputated as Result of Accident.

Van Wert, O., Nov. 26.—Lewis Emerick, of Woodland avenue, employed as a car repairer at the Cincinnati Northern shops, was the victim of a deplorable accident Saturday morning, in which both legs were amputated below the knees. While walking to his place of employment, Mr. Emerick started over a pathway between the tracks and at a point just north of Town Creek bridge, near Center street, he stepped from the pathway onto a track in order to evade a passenger train. A cloud of steam from the passenger train obscured the view and Mr. Emerick failed to see the approach of a switch engine with a cut of cars. He was knocked down and one freight car passed over his legs, crushing them so badly that amputation was necessary. The unfortunate man is aged 37 years and is the head of a family composed of his wife and three children.

OPERATION PERFORMED BY FT. WAYNE SURGEON

Emma Schlegel in Serious Condition at Home of Mrs. Nelson in Monroe.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 26.—An unfortunate girl, Emma Schlegel, eighteen-year-old daughter of the late Sam Schlegel, is lying at the point of death at the home of Mrs. Nelson, at Monroe, where she has made her home for eight years. Her condition is believed to be the result of a criminal operation performed by a Fort Wayne physician. The girl had been at Fort Wayne for a month and came to Monroe a few days ago, since which time she has been quite ill. Friday a man was seen about the house peering into the windows. He was brought here last night by William Scherer, and with whom he made arrangements to bring the girl here Saturday morning and put her on the 8 o'clock car. Instead of doing this Scherer started an investigation which revealed the serious condition of the girl. Saturday morning Bob Andrews and Mr. Scherer went to Port Wayne on the car which was supposed to take the girl there. The man, whose name is said to be Davis Brown, who is about forty years old, and said to have a wife and four children, got on the car just inside the city limits at Port Wayne. He was brought back to Monroe by the officers and a charge of assault placed against him. He seemed anxious to settle and as the offense, if one, was committed in Allen county, it was decided that he could not be held unless the girl should die and Brown was released. Monroe people are greatly incensed over the affair and declare they will see that the man and the doctor are prosecuted. Brown paid the expenses of the men who brought him here and he returned to Fort Wayne this afternoon.

AND A WOMAN SAW IT FIRST.

We are getting pretty well settled into the fashion of wheatless days and meatless days. We have had premonitory symptoms of sweetness days and fatless days.

But it has remained for a woman to put up squarely to the superior male animal that the thing for him to do is to subject himself to a smokeless day. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, dean of the suffragists and one of the best known women on this whirling old ball, tells the men folks to cut out their pipes and cheroots for one whole round of the clock each week and make it a "smokeless Friday."

Bully for Dr. Shaw. She has said something worth saying. The conservation of smoke will be almost as good as the prevention of smoke. Every American smoker, laying off from the weed for one day a week, can make it as certain as the next sunrise that every American smoker with our armies in France and on the decks of our fleets can smoke, if not as much as he likes, certainly as much as is good for him.

And that is the big idea. The pleading of the soldiers for tobacco is no affectation. There is nothing that ministers so much to their comfort and contentment as a regular and sufficient allotment of tobacco. The officers and the medical men of all the armies join in the testimony that the fighting men should have liberal tobacco rations. They stick closer to the job and fight harder when the supply is ample.

The only way the American soldiers on the other side can get plenty of tobacco is through the generosity and thoughtfulness of the American public. Much the same is true in the camps and cantonments, though the dearth of tobacco and the difficulty of procuring familiar grades and brands is nowhere so difficult as in France. An American smoker who is doing his bit in some other way than fighting can add a precious lot to that bit by making a regular weekly contribution to the tobacco supplies of the soldiers. If you do not want to go smokeless for a day make the equivalent of a day's consumption of tobacco your donation and stick to it while the war lasts.

Dr. Shaw has made a fine suggestion and it ought to take hold at once and tenaciously. The more you love the caresses of Lady Nicotine yourself the more you will appreciate what it must mean to a soldier smoker way over in France to be deprived or even curtailed in respect of tobacco.

BUYING UP THE REDS.

A newspaper in Geneva, Switzerland, suggests that the allies bribe Lenin, the leader of the Bolsheviks, before Germany gets him fast—taking the view that if he is to be bought it will be better that he be bound by corruption to the cause of democracy than that he become the mercenary of Prussianism.

Appearances are not wanting that this is precisely what Lenin and his closer following are after. It is stated for an almost authenticated fact that he was pressed into service of the Prussian cause almost as soon as the Russian revolution created a field for the operations of an agent of his character. He entered Russia through Germany and his entire course has been consistently directed to the purpose of getting Russia out of the war.

All's fair in war, and it would perhaps be less reprehensible for the allies to buy Russia's continuance in the war, if Lenin and other sordid hucksters have her on the block, than that they should permit her to be knocked off to the kaiser—the more so, since it will be wholly to the interest of rational democracy in Russia that the nation be united in some cause and especially in a "safety first" cause, than that the nation be swung about to the advantage of the worst of all its enemies.

The trouble with buying Lenin, Trotsky and their sort, however, is that they would scarcely stay bought. They seem to be attempting to drive a hard bargain now with someone—no doubt with the kaiser. A higher price than William can afford to pay quite certainly would pull the little crowd the other way and make them ready to negotiate for a better figure. Business is business, even with dynamiters of the altruistic breed, and money talks whether negotiating with a trader for a spavined mare or a nest of traitors for a nation, its armies and the loyal performance of its international obligations.

Of course, in suggesting that Lenin be bought it is implied that your dearly beloved Uncle Samuel finance the corruption. Toting an awful handicap of easy money, your uncle ought to be relieved. That would take well no doubt with Uncle Sam's allies, with the inner circle of the Bolshevik Patriotic league and perhaps with the kaiser. America is away off over here where he doesn't have to be looked in the face and it is much less a reproach to skin a wealthy cuss than to frisk a poor one. Moreover it pays better, besides holding out some sort of promise that after investing in the pretty soap that the big bank-note is wrapped in Uncle Sam might prove a likely prospect for the negotiation of a gold brick. Otherwise, small the odds will be to Lenin as to whom he skins—being no doubt an impartial man—and little more to the kaiser, who perhaps feels that having once corrupted this patriot he will know even better how to do it a second time.

In any event, we believe there should be caution and slow-going in buying Russia back into the war through the corruption of the anointed Bolsheviks. There are experienced men in the country who can be better entrusted with the management of a task so delicate and so involved in risks than any diplomats or other government agents. There are some who know how to buy in such a market and make the purchase stay bought.

AT ONCE OR NOT AT ALL.

Those who have not yet forwarded to the east any presents they may purpose to send to American soldiers in France will have to act at once if they wish to make sure their remembrances will reach the other side in time for the distribution at Christmas.

Packages received in Hoboken, N. J., after the first of December may have no chance at all to get into the Christmas ships. The war department has made all possible arrangements to insure departure in time to permit the vessels to reach the French coast and be distributed to the trenches and wherever else Americans may be billeted, and Christmas packages will have to be at the port of departure before those vessels sail or await later sailings.

Christmas will doubly be Christmas to the boys on the other side if the remembrances from family and friends come to their hands in time to be a part of their cheer on Christendom's great festival day. There is no time now to be spared by such as have neglected the forwarding of their packages. Already the crush of traffic by mail and express is beginning to manifest itself. Transportation is badly congested and everything that must be moved is exposed to uncommon risk of delay.

It will be well for the negligent to consider that about the last call is being sounded. Another day or two of delay will perhaps make it impossible for them to get their Christmas packages for soldiers in France on board the Santa Claus ships. Do it at once.

Two grade crossing accidents in Indiana yesterday cost the lives of five or six motorists. The old story tells the new tales. Each driver took a chance and it was a fatal one. There is no virtue in preaching safety first and the stop-look-listen propaganda. Safety first has no standing against the joy of skimming right along over the road and giving a grade crossing the laugh. To stop, look and listen takes time. It requires the halting of the machine and may in rare instances have the annoying accompaniment of a "dead engine." Not on your life. Most of the time there are no trains disputing the grade-crossings with motor cars, so most of the time there is a waste of precious minutes and the interruption of intoxicating speed stopping to look and listen—while a grade-crossing upon which no train is bearing down is perfectly safe; safe as any spot in the road.

And did that near-zero sample of weather last night make you consider that in the softer days you just couldn't close the furnace draft?

There are many fine substitutes for Thanksgiving turkey, but most of them are no cheaper and some of them are barred by the Hoover statutes.

The lawyer took the dreadful thing
That caused all this mischief.

Yes, Robert, it is not only conventional but highly proper to "Hip, hip, hurrah, for the Y. W. C. A." "It may be a far call from the art of Bernard and Whitman," remarks a wilful critic. And we reply gracefully that a far call from freaks is much better than a howl in one's ear.

May we not suggest that in addition to the other "less" days we could have a "dead-beatless" day on Sunday and nobody would ever miss anything. Kreiser, the assassin, is an admirable violinist—in other words, Kreiser is a Hun to fiddle. "Gasoline! Gasoline! My kingdom for more gasoline!" cried King Richard in a mad attempt to vary the w. k. Sonnet—"Italy in the Alps."
There slid an echo down the mountain-side
From where the peal shone like an arctic star.
And "Victory!" sounded like a bugle far.
Across the icy turrets. Then it sighed
On through the forests, with the wind for guide,
Along the little hamlet streets the jar
Of distant guarding guns told naught of war.
But when the vict'ry-echo, like a tide,
Swept through its quiet streets, there rose a shout
That shattered to the silent wastes of white,
And answered through the thin and icy air
To that high call that whispered of the rout
Of hostile arms. And onward through the light
Two echoes mingled on the glacier bare.

We Might be Prussians, But Are We?

BY EDMUND VANCE COOKE.

"But for the grace of God, there goes Isaac Watts."

The statement has been attributed to several theologians, but Watts will serve. The story is that the speaker saw a drunken vagabond pass by on his way to the gallows, and, though the speaker had never been accused of criminal tendencies, he recognized the essential unity of the human race in his charitable exclamation.

Similarly, some charitable people are still excusing the heinous offenses of Prussian autocracy and militarism by saying that German civilization is as high as ours, and that therefore we would do the same the Germans have done had we been in the same situation as Germany was and is.

Now, there is a deep truth in the assertion of Dr. Watts and of the German apologists. Given the heredity and the environment of the vagabond, and Dr. Watts might have been on his way to the gallows. Given an emperor "by Divine right," a reichstag without any actual governing power, and the Kaiser in control of the state expressed through its army are to be carried out implicitly; given the training of child, father, and grandfather that war is man's natural state and is God's way in the world, that our kultur is supreme beyond all laws, and that there fore the orders of the state expressed through its army are to be carried out implicitly; ## RAILROADS TO HELP FOOD CONSERVATION

Will Make Daily Reports of Every Car of Delayed Foodstuffs.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—In this city—the world's greatest railway and food center—went into effect today a far-reaching plan designed by the railroads and the food administration to conserve railway equipment and foodstuffs.

Hereafter every railroad entering Chicago will make a daily report to the food administration of every car of vegetables and other perishable foodstuff which has been delayed three days or over, either awaiting unloading or reconsignment or other disposition. This report will show the car initial and number, point of shipment, date shipped, name of shipper, contents, date of arrival, yard or track where held, name of consignee, destination for delivery and why car is held.

In all cases reported by the railroads of undue detention of cars so loaded the food administration and other government agencies will first definitely fix the responsibility for the detention and then take such steps as may be necessary to remedy conditions and prevent their recurrence by the offenders.

The chief results which it is believed the new plan will accomplish are:

The prompt unloading of cars containing perishable foodstuffs.

The prevention of similar loss at shipping points because of lack of transportation facilities, owing to the undue detention elsewhere of loaded cars of perishable foodstuff.

An increase in the amount of railway cars available for moving foodstuff and other commodities necessary for the public and national welfare.

Another important object of this latest conservation plan is the systematic salvaging of all food fit for human use, from shipments which have become damaged in transit by causes beyond the control of anybody, such as the unseasonable freezing weather last month which damaged potatoes in transit in certain sections.

All railroads centering in Chicago will daily place at certain freight terminals or yards cars containing damaged foodstuff which have been refused by the consignees. Under the inspection of the railroads, the food administration and the city health department, this damaged food will be carefully sorted by agents of the Salvation Army, the Volunteers of America and the accredited charitable organizations of the city. All the food that is fit for human consumption will thus be saved and go to those in greatest need of it. All that is worthless for food will be hauled away daily by the railroads and dumped where it will do no harm.

At the special meeting of the Chicago Car Service committee of the railroads' war board, at which the new plan for avoiding waste of food and freight cars was adopted, R. L. Evans, of the food administration, said:

"Through grossly exaggerated statements published about frozen potatoes which were hauled to railroad dumps in this vicinity, a lot of people got the idea that there was a gigantic conspiracy to boost prices by the wholesale destruction of food. A thorough investigation by federal officers proved the falsity of such allegations. Neither the railroads, the shippers nor the buyers of potatoes are to blame for a December freeze which came in October, when nobody expected it, during the movement of the biggest potato crop ever produced."

DR. EDWARD J. M'OSCAR AWARDED FIRST PRIZE

He is Given Electrical Diagnostic Outfit for Reading Best Paper.

Dr. Edward J. M'oscar is in receipt of a letter from the International Journal of Surgery announcing him the winner of prize awarded by that magazine for the best paper read at the Pennsylvania Railway Surgeons' meeting, held in Washington, D. C., a short time ago.

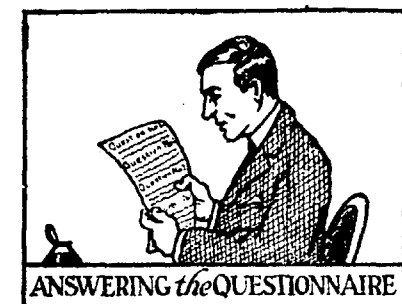

Managing Editor Frank E. Lewis in speaking of the matter expressed the hope that the Fort Wayne surgeon would take as much pleasure out of the outfit as the journal does in presenting it. The diagnostic outfit is a valuable one, being of the latest pattern and manufactured by the McIntosh Battery and Optical company, of Chicago.

Uncle Harry Tells About The New Plan For Drafting Soldiers

"Yes, there will be, the paper said so." "No, I think you're mistaken; that was finished last summer." "But they'll have to if they want to get more soldiers." "What's all this about 'they will' and 'they won't'?" said Uncle Harry as he stepped into the livingroom. He had arrived as Jimmy and Joe were in the midst of a lively discussion. "They're talking about a second draft," explained Helen. "I told them to wait until you arrived and that you'd settle it."

ANSWERING the QUESTIONNAIRE

Classifying All Men Who Registered

"Well, isn't there going to be a second draft?" said Joe. "And the government's going to call the older men?"

"Part right and part wrong," said Uncle Harry. "There probably will be a second draft, but it is not going to be among the older men. The second draft will be among those who were called and registered last June—the men between 21 and 31 years. There has been a great deal of talk about this second draft and judging from some of the discussions I have heard on the cars and in other places many people seemed to be confused on the subject."

"I'm not sure that I understand it," said Helen. "I wish you'd explain it to us."

"All right, and we'll begin with a little history," said Uncle Harry. "Last spring congress passed the law providing for the draft. Under the law, all men between 21 and 31 years were required to register, and registration day was held last June. Later, you remember, all the men were given numbers, and then each number was placed in a capsule and the capsules were put in a big bowl, down in Washington, and drawn out one by one, and as the numbers were drawn, they were written down and later the men were called for examination in the order in which their names were drawn."

"There were about ten million men within the draft age, weren't there?" asked Helen.

"What's become of the nine million or more who weren't drafted?" asked Joe.

"Now we're getting to the second draft," said Uncle Harry. "Many of the men who were examined during the summer and autumn were found by the doctors to be physically unfit for military service, and many others were exempted, or excused, because they had wives and children dependent on them. But there were also a good many whose names were among the last to be drawn from the big bowl last spring, and these, to a very large extent, will be the ones called on the second draft."

"Will the government be putting names in capsules and drawing them out of a bowl?" asked Jimmy.

"No, a new plan will be used on the second draft," explained Uncle Harry. "In a week or so a questionnaire—that is, a sheet of paper containing a number of questions, will be sent to every man who registered last June. The men will answer the questions and send their replies to the government. With the information given in the answers the government will divide all the men into five classes. The first class will include practically all the unmarried men. The second, third and fourth classes will consist of those men who have families dependent on them or who for other reasons are not so free to be drafted as the men in the first class. The fifth class takes in public officials, men who are already in some branch of the army and navy, ministers, and all others who are not subject to army service."

"When will this second draft be made?" asked Joe.

"Not until after the first of the new year, and probably not until the middle of February," said Uncle Harry. "It is going to be a big job to collect all the answers from the nine million and more men, classify each man correctly and attend to all the other things that must be done."

"How many men will be called on this second draft?" asked Jimmy.

"Probably 500,000," answered Uncle Harry, "and that will bring the total number of Uncle Sam's fighting men up to about 2,500,000. There are more than 1,700,000 in all the different branches of the army now, and more than 270,000 in the navy. And of course, if the war continues, and the need for men increases, there will be additional drafts; but right now, plans are only being made for the second draft."

A few minutes later as Uncle Harry was putting on his coat he remembered that Thursday would be Thanksgiving day, so he said:

"How about holding our meeting Wednesday evening, and making Thursday a holiday, so we won't have anything to think about but turkey and cranberry sauce. How about it?"

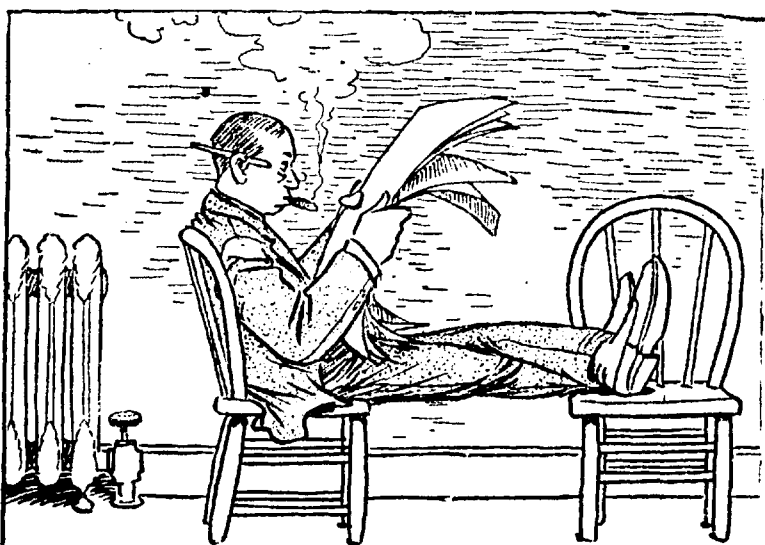

And so it was immediately moved and seconded and "carried" that Uncle Harry should come around both Wednesday and Thursday evenings, but that he should give his talk on Wednesday.

Editor's Note—Uncle Harry will be glad to answer inquiries, either in this column or by mail, provided letters are signed with the full name and address of the persons writing. The correspondents' names will not appear in the articles.

NONE OTHER SO PROFITABLE.

Of a voracious reader 'twas said that he put so many books on his head that his brain couldn't move—a paraphrase, probably, of Pope's oft-quoted "with loads of learned lumber in his head."

Few of us, however, need worry on that score.

We don't read enough—at least, of the right sort.

We starve our brains.

In much of the current fiction, or the daily press, there's mighty poor nourishment.

All right for entree; all wrong for steady diet.

Why not read good books—books that have stood the test of time?

FORT WAYNE'S GREATEST BARGAIN STORE.

Sixteen children, both boys and girls, enjoyed celebrating Master Wayne Hackett's birthday anniversary this afternoon at his home in West Berry street, with his little niece, Mary Alice Johnson, of Los Angeles, an honor guest. Lovely things suggesting the holiday of the week were on every hand, such as yellow pumpkins and chocolate cake tarts of ice cream, and a cake with seven candles to match in color, and little favors that also suggested the approach of Thanksgiving. Mrs. Johnson, Mary Alice's mother, told stories. One of the games was to hunt hidden kernels of corn and another was to pin the missing feather to the pictured turkey's tail. The table was laid at supper time with a real supper of good things and decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums.

On Saturday evening friends of Harold Norton, of 1723 Sherman street, reminded him of having a birthday by giving him a surprise party. The evening was spent in playing games and other amusement. At the luncheon hour the table was loaded with good things to eat not forgetting the big birthday cake. Those present to enjoy the fast were Ruth Orr, Vera Archer, Blanche Norton, Bernice Porter, Edith Voight, Mary Zureth and Florence Campbell, of Ari, Ind.; Russell Davis, Lewis Gifford, Douglas Seely, George Schoenherr, Burle Smith, Paul Geary, Royce Gifford, Forrest Norton and Harold Norton.

This Sturdy Coat of Wood and Fur

BETTY BROWN.

Silks, velvets and satins are beautiful to see and pleasing to wear but with winter we gladly abandon the blandishments of silk for the solid comfort of wool and fur. Here is shown a coat which convinces one that who enters its confines leaves chills behind. Of soft, heavy wool velour, with broad loose belt and substantial collar, this coat is further reinforced with fur at the collar and cuffs, and a bit at the hem. Pockets are cleverly inset at the side front seam and the fastening is at the side—the most popular place for any garment to fasten just now, from organdie collar to ulster coat.

Miss Marjorie Mahurin, who came home from Chicago university on Friday evening for a short visit, left this morning with her sister.

Miss Katherine Favery, who is to be a bride on Thursday, was surprised by a number of friends on Friday evening at her home, 1911 South Webster street.

Mrs. W. McEvoy planned the party and "led the procession" as they ended their way to Miss Favery's home. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were the decorations.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Gilpin left at noon today for Tacoma, Wash., where the doctor, who is now a captain in the medical service of his country, has been sent to Camp Lewis.

Mrs. Gilpin has been staying at the house of her mother since packing her household furnishings, preparatory to going west.

Jefferson P.-T. Club's New Work. Forty mothers of the Jefferson school Parent-Teacher club met at the school on Friday afternoon to sew for the Red Cross. The women worked for three hours and at the end of that time had turned in over sixty finished garments.

At 3 o'clock, the hour the pupils are usually dismissed for regular parent-teacher meetings, many of the mothers took occasion to visit and taught the children how to sew and knit. Some of the children sewed on blocks and others made bed slippers. The meetings will be held throughout the year on the second Friday of each school month.

CHEERFUL MOTTOES APPEAR IN ATTRACTIVE FORMS. Cheerful little motto signs for the house are made up in brown wood with cord attached, by which they may be "hanged." One motto reads as follows:

"Old friends are the best friends, their welcome rings out true; When others pass you onward, 'You'll find they'll stick to you.'"

These mottoes play a leading part in a recently released "movie."

In the old-fashioned house of her aunts, Rebecca, forbidden a piece of juicy blackberry pie, is ordered to carry it to the kitchen. There temptation overcomes her, and in the act of taking a stolen bite, she sees the motto above the kitchen door. "Thou shalt not steal." Slowly and reluctantly she replaces the plate upon the table and makes for the dining room.

And then above the dining room door she sees another sign, "God help those who help themselves." And Rebecca, wreathed in smiles, returns to the pie on the kitchen table.

CREAM OF TOMATO SOUP. One-half can tomatoes, one small tablespoon sugar, one-quarter teaspoon soda, one-quarter cup butter, one quart milk, one slice of onion, four tablespoons flour, one teaspoon salt, one-eighth teaspoon pepper.

Scald milk with onion; remove onion and thicken with flour mixed with cold water until smooth enough to pour. Cook twenty minutes, stirring constantly at first. Cook tomatoes and sugar fifteen minutes; add soda and rub through a strainer. Combine mixtures and strain into heated dish over butter, salt and pepper. Use medium flame.

AN INTERESTING NEW GIFT SHOP

(The Steele-Myers Gift Shop.)

WITH THE OPENING of their Gift Shop, the Steele-Myers company has added the finishing touch to their lovely store. The word, Gift Shop, suggests an old, old maxim, "It is more blessed to give than receive," and one feels the force of this when tempted by the lovely things on display. We are all thinking more of some one else nowadays, we're all doing something for some one. We just will give presents! And if we must, of necessity, be more economical in our spending, where in the world will we find so good a selection of gifts for everyone at a price that suits everyone as in a gift shop?

With the Christmas season so near, one is happy enough to loiter in such a fascinating spot. After all, a gift shop is a very sociable place too, where one may just look around and enjoy the new things; and they are so delightfully different this year.

For the little Miss who just lives in her world of Make Believe, we found Peter Rabbit all dressed up in his little blue coat, and Puss-in-Boots, wearing the most wonderful pair of real rubber boots, and Little Red Riding Hood ready to start for her grandmother's. Then we found Jane Elizabeth, too. She's the most lovable rag dolly. And Mary Lucille—well, we can hardly blame the child for being proud of her wonderfully tinted complexion, especially when Peter Van Pelt insists on gazing adoringly in her direction.

There's a lovely color note to the Gift Shop—given perhaps by the number of wonderfully painted gifts. You know women folks just adore Hand Paint. Fancy a great, old-fashioned palm fan—enameled black, decorated with bright flowers and set in a holder for a light screen. Or a gayly decorated hearth broom; with the return into favor of the old-fashioned fireplace, a hearth broom is really a necessity. Then there are stenciled trays and gayly decorated flower pot holders and ferneries, wood baskets and—well, no end to painted gifts.

Candle sticks find a welcome place in any home and when they hold wonderful handmade "dips" it is small wonder that everyone wants them. An unusual desk lamp appeals to the most fastidious and the whole family may enjoy a lamp for the living room. The work basket plays an important part in every woman's life nowadays, so why not own one that combines beauty and utility?

The Oriental influence is noted too, in the Gift Shop. Chinese embroideries are particularly attractive, especially when used for covering tea caddies or containers for beauty lotions on Missy's toilet table.

And you who love the beautiful—there's a delightful surprise in store for you; we found Rookwood Pottery, that exquisite American creation. A delightful collection is in the Gift Shop, and right near it a few pieces of rare Ruskin Eggshell ware, from England. We might go on and on telling about this delightful place where practical gifts are no longer homely. It was certainly a real treat to spend a half hour there.

Maggie Gown is of Black and White

BY BETTY BROWN.

One has heard so many of gowns that are "absolutely different"—but here it is. This gown is like nothing mentioned in the bright lexicon of clothes, but there is that in its sharp whiteness and its extreme blackness, which suggests the smartness of the magpie. The upper part, a sort of combination of bodice and coat, is of heavy white silk, oddly embroidered in pale colors and black. The skirt, such, and soft, loose collar are of black satin and the curious black and white shoes complete the striking costume.

PAINTED DECORATIONS ARE NOW THE CHRISTMAS CRAZE

By BIDDY BYE.

When women put down their knitting needles to make Christmas presents they seldom care about using needles of another kind. They want a different medium, something to take the stiffness out of their fingers. This may account for the tremendous popularity of painted decorations on some of the season's most charming gifts.

For example, there is the flower pot pictured today. Telephone shields, door stops, nut bowls, window boxes, book holders, coat swingers and fancy bits of furniture are among the practical articles which acquire distinction by liberal applications of gay oil colors.

WITHIN THE IRON RING

Poor Food is Spreading Disease Rapidly in German Empire.

WINTER FINDS A FUEL SCARCITY

(Special Dispatch from Milton Bronner, of our Washington Bureau.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—If there is one question more than another that has been asked about Germany since we went to war with that power, it is—how are things inside the empire with reference to food, fuel and manufacturing facilities?

The answer is three-fold: 1.—People are not starving, but they are so near to it that diseases brought on by malnutrition are on the increase.

2.—Germany has plenty of coal mines, but the rolling stock of the railways have compelled an economy with fuel hitherto unknown in Germany.

3.—Americans worrying about the tremendous flood of German-made goods that is being accumulated in warehouses against the day when it can be poured into this country, should calm themselves. Germany hasn't the labor to carry on her peace-time manufactures, and even if she had, she hasn't the necessary raw materials, such as wool, cotton and the various metals.

I have culled these things from documents which the British government gets out for the information of its own officials. Every effort is made to get the accurate news as the British do not want to befooled themselves.

Few of these publications came to this country. One set is sent to the state department, which never lets go of anything of the sort for the benefit of newspaper men.

The British government not only has a staff of men who carefully comb all enemy papers and letters for news of what is going on inside Germany, but also watch papers printed in adjoining neutral countries.

France and Serbia also have a similar information service. We have not yet established one.

To bolster up the German people and to make the enemy feel bad, German Minister for Food Control Muller recently submitted to an interview in which he made the surprising statement that the year's yield of agricultural products was only 1 per cent. less than before the war.

He said this was due to artificial manure. Potash is plentiful and saltpetre is extracted from the air. He admitted the lack of labor was serious, but farmers had overcome it. Fodder scarcity had not caused notable reduction of cattle since the war began, he said, and there had even been an increase since July 1, 1916, although the milk supply had been considered reduced. The number of swine had been reduced and were of inferior quality. The harvests were better than expected. The oats crop would more than supply the enormous demands of the army. In East Germany the barley, rye and wheat crops were fairly good. In middle Germany they were unsatisfactory, but in south Germany they were exceedingly good. The potato crop would break the record. The late vegetable and south German fruit crops were both good.

He concluded by saying that Germany was better prepared to meet the winter than for the past two years. Let's see how this checks up with other facts.

It was allowed to be published in Berlin, Oct. 2, that the eight weeks from mid-June to mid-August had been very difficult for the people, especially in Berlin, Hamburg, Frankfurt, Cologne, Düsseldorf, Stuttgart, Dresden and Leipzig.

It was stated that the food conditions had now improved and that the bread ration had been increased. But the meat ration was reduced to half a pound a week.

On Oct. 5 the Weser Zeitung announced that latest statistics made necessary the rationing of bread with potatoes in order to make bread suffice until next year. Until November the flour ration would be 220 grammes. From then on it would be 200 grammes, with an addition of 20 grammes of potatoes.

The present grinding percentage between grain and our 94 per cent. must be maintained.

In other words real flour, such as we know it, is not allowed in Germany. Practically the entire grain is utilized.

It was stated that if the wheat crop exceeded expectations, it could be so used to increase the flour ration, but to reduce the grinding percentage so as to get more bran for cattle.

On Oct. 8 there was a query in the reichstag as to the use of barley for beer. A representative of the government stated that next year beer could be limited to what was necessary, but the character was not prepared to reduce it further out of regard to the feeling of the populace.

On Oct. 15 a considerable increase in prices of wheat and rye flour was announced, thus increasing the price of bread.

It was announced that in the future communities would receive less bread and must substitute potatoes.

At the same time there appeared in some of the papers complaints that the meat supply was becoming more precarious in Berlin, Hesse, Bavaria and Saxony; that the milk and egg supply was decreasing; that there was a shortage in fish; and that sugar was hard to get.

Malnutrition leads to epidemics of dysentery, tuberculosis, cholera and hunger typhus. These are all reported in the papers.

In Munich last year the births were only 8,400 and the deaths 12,400. The year before the war the births were 12,900 and the deaths 9,700.

On Sept. 30 Wallmann's Versicherung Zeitschrift said bluntly: "Look at the people in the street; look at the hollow cheeks and big collars, and one cannot possibly be deceived. Ask any doctor or read the reviews of insurance companies and you will find the effect of malnutrition."

"The danger is that the mortality among the civil population is now competing with that at the front. It will be of no avail to try to satisfy oneself by lies and by closing one's eyes. It is a great wrong to conceal these facts from the population. Tuberculosis, which has been so successfully combated in recent years, now raises its head in a threatening manner as the result of the general shortage."

Vorwarts comments on the unusually high infant mortality this year, pointing out that it is 7 per cent. higher than last year and is largely due to the poor quality of the milk. Another paper reports that in the Arnberg district for the week ending Sept. 29, there were 282 dysentery cases, 38 resulting in deaths.

Diet, Exercise or Death!

An eminent medical authority writes that most of our city folks die of a thickening of the arteries or of kidney disease. The kidneys become clogged and do not filter the poisons from the blood, and one trouble follows another, high blood pressure damages the heart, arteries and kidneys. Usually its danger signals are backache, pain here or there, swollen feet or ankles, rheumatic twinges or spots appearing before the eyes.

"The very best remedy is this: Eat meat but once a day or not at all. Plenty of outdoor exercise, and drink pure water frequently. Before meals take a little Anuric, the great uric acid neutralizer that is easily obtained at the drug store. When you have dizziness, chills or sweating, worry, or dragging pains in back, try this wonderful enemy to uric acid, which Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., discovered and named Anuric. Anuric, more potent than lithia, dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar."

It will be seen from these things that the food supply is not as ample as Germany would have the world believe; that there is considerable dearth along certain lines; and that while people are falling prey to malnutrition illness.

Now what about coal? Germany has attempted to make up for its lack of native labor by putting Russian and French prisoners to work in the mines.

But this has worked indifferently well because most of the prisoners have never mined coal before and the percentage of those who are incapacitated by illness, bad food, or accident is large.

The National Zeitung of Berlin, Switzerland, on Oct. 11 stated that the German government had issued an order placing fresh restrictions upon passenger traffic in order to facilitate freight and save coal.

Fast train service was to be reduced. The amount of luggage allowed passengers was curtailed and trains were not to be heated much.

For short distance trains no heat was to be allowed.

Passenger rates were increased 100 per cent.

Prior to the war, the great trade fair of Europe was the Leipzig fair, to which business men from all over the world came to view samples and order stocks. Germany has made desperate attempts to keep this fair going in spite of the war.

The Schlesische Zeitung, in telling of the fair this autumn, says the general outstanding characteristic was the want of goods, due to the dearth of material, shortage of labor and shortage of auxiliary materials.

The largest stocks were those of earthenware, glass and toys. Prices were greatly increased, ranging from 30 per cent. more for wooden goods to 100 per cent. more for porcelain. The exhibit of substitutes was especially big.

FIVE WIN TURKEYS AT COUNTRY CLUB GARDENS

More than one hundred and fifty people visited Century Club Gardens, located just west of the Country Club, last Saturday afternoon. This splendid suburban development which offers such ideal opportunities to those employed in the city, has attracted many and all who have bought there have been enthusiastic boosters for this new community.

In order that as many as possible might see the features that have made Country Club Gardens so popular, the City and Suburban Building Co., developers of this suburban place, arranged a novel plan. Five turkeys were located on different parts of the Gardens, each of them being numbered. Each of the people who visited the Gardens Saturday afternoon had a numbered ticket, and the lucky one whose ticket number corresponded with the number found on the turkey carried it away. The five who received the turkeys were as follows: Warren Finley, 124 West Superior; Mrs. Henry Yaggy, 421 Rose Lane; Mrs. Sophia Malch, 530 State street; H. H. Snook, 1813 Sherman, and Mr. Sutton, G. E. works.

Clarence Hatfield, Roanoke, Ind., has purchased a lot in Country Club Gardens as an investment. The sale was made for the City and Suburban Building Co. by Ed Rieke.

This was equal to a saving of $1,258 cars in the number required to handle the traffic of the road during July. This saving aided materially in rendering efficient military transportation.

To Avoid Rough, Coarse, Chapped, Blotchy Skin

Most skins require constant grooming at this season to keep them from becoming unduly red, blotchy, coarse, rough or harsh, or if such conditions have developed, to overcome it. In such cases it is particularly inadvisable to keep piling on cosmetics which close the pores and make the complexion worse than ever. It's a lot more sensible to use ordinary mercurized wax, which literally absorbs a spoiled complexion. Apply the wax, like cold cream, before retiring. Next morning, in washing it off, you'll wash away the complexion of the unsightly cuticle. Repeat for a week or more and you'll have an entirely new skin—soft, white, spotless and beautiful as a child's. One ounce of mercurized wax, procurable at any drug-gist's, is all you'll need.—Advertisement.

CRACKSMEN DO NEAT JOB IN CLEVELAND

Fool Watchman of Big Store and Get Away With the Insides of Safe.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 26.—Three night watchmen were found bound and gagged in the vault at the Higbee company store early this morning, where they had been locked by four safecrackers who had broken into the strong box and escaped with a rich haul.

According to statements made by officials of the company the safe-crackers got between $5,000 and $10,000 in cash and stole $10,000 worth of merchandise, including jewelry and furs. The watchmen when released were almost suffocated, but were revived. They said the cracksmen gained entrance to the building by posing as United States secret service men looking for German spies who were reported to have plotted to set fire to the building.

The Higbee company operates one of the city's large dry goods and department stores in the downtown section.

The huge safe was wrecked by nitroglycerine, the work apparently being done by experts.

Patterson-Fletcher are selling many articles today at prices that are far below the market price. Large contracts placed months ago make this possible.

COMBINATION SALES PLACED UNDER BAN

An Exception Is Made, However, in Regard to Corn meal.

The buying of sugar in large quantities with a good-sized grocery order is prohibited by the federal decree passed on November 17. In other words combination sales are not permitted. The decree was sent to A. H. Perfect and affects both retailer and consumer. It reads as follows: "November 17.—On and after this date all combination sales of food commodities are forbidden, with one exception, as stated below. The sale of one or more food commodities upon condition that the purchaser shall buy one or more food commodity from the seller is regarded as a combination sale within the meaning of this ruling. Combination sales frequently result in the sale of more foodstuffs than the particular purchaser would ordinarily buy, and are, therefore, determined to be a wasteful practice within the meaning of Section 4 of the food administration act of August 19, 1917.

Exception.—Providing further notice, and as a wheat conservative measure, the dealer may sell sugar in combination with corn meal at the rate of one pound of sugar with two of corn meal. No other combination will be permitted, nor will any other ratio than that here stated be allowed. The dealer shall not sell either the sugar or corn meal at price yielding him a greater profit than he has normally enjoyed on the particular commodity. The dealer is not required to make combination sales of sugar and corn meal, but may do so at his discretion."

Our merchandise is sold with a guarantee of satisfaction to the purchaser, according to his own judgment.

Pollock picked out some valuable valves and tried to sell them at a pawn shop. The questions of the pawn broker frightened him and he left the place without the junk. Mrs. Tapp states that she did not sell the material to him but that it was stolen.

Makes Another Attempt.
Jacob Schmidt, the drunk arrested for uttering pro-German remarks seems to be bound to commit suicide. The first attempt was made Saturday when he hacked his wrist with the lid of his watch. He was caught in time and removed to the hospital. Sunday morning authorities found Schmidt gashing his neck on a broken pane of glass. Although he had made several cuts, they were not of a serious nature and will soon heal. Schmidt is undoubtedly unbalanced so his case was continued until December 4.

We are still selling a heavy white back overall at $1.25. The wholesale price is more than that today.

LAST PERRY EXPEDITION SURVIVOR VISITS JAPAN

Sent by Japanese Societies and Uncle Sam on a Historic Visit.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 23.—Captain William H. Hardy, 82 years old, Port-

Captain W. H. Hardy, wearing uniform of gunner's mate on the U. S. S. Mississippi, Commodore Perry's flagship on U. S. expedition to Japan in 1853.

land citizen and former gunner's mate in the U. S. navy, is on his way over to Japan for a visit.

His going is something of an international event. The grizzled old sea warrior is the last surviving member of the famous expedition commanded by Commodore Perry 64 years ago, which unfurled the Stars and Stripes for the first time on the Mikado's seas and started negotiations that resulted in the establishment of a lasting friendship between the United States and Nippon.

Commodore Perry presented a letter from President Fillmore to the Japanese government on July 14, 1853. The Mikado was pleased and sent back a satisfactory reply. Two years later Captain Hardy returned to Japan with the ratified treaty and the ports of that country became open to Americans.

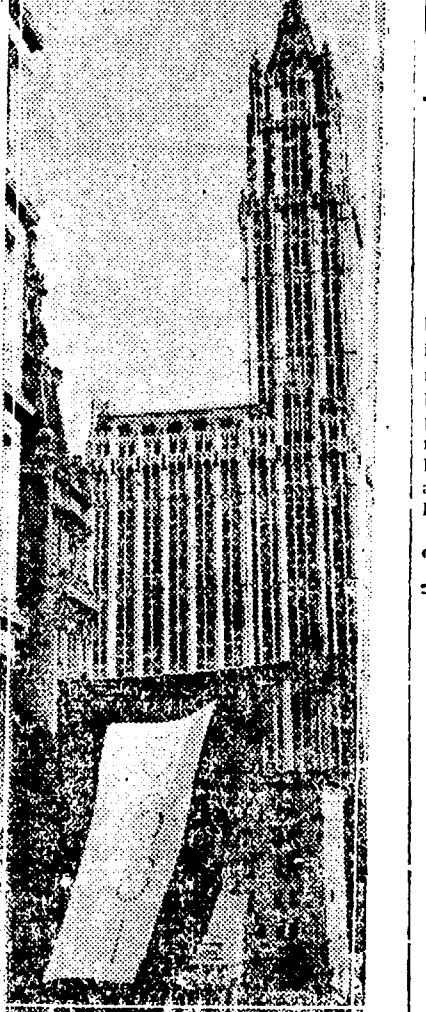

"That was the date of the awakening of Japan which put the country on the same basis as the other progressive nations of the world," said Captain Hardy before he left here. "The progress of Japan since that time has been more wonderful even than that of the United States. Now there is hardly a village where English is not spoken. The Japanese are a wonderful people, as honest as they are brave and progressive. Their friendship for the United States is deep seated."

Captain Hardy is being sent to Japan by the Japanese societies of Oregon with the consent of the United States government. Y. Mitsui, a prominent Japanese of Portland, accompanies him as an interpreter and manager of the lecture tour.

THE RAT IS ONE OF THE KAISER'S AIDES

Washington, Nov. 23.—The Kaiser has no more efficient allies in America than two or three billion rats and mice which are doing their "bit" for him night and day. The fast disappearing American black rat and the more vicious hyphenated gray rat and his brown brother from Scandinavia, all are doing their best to help the Kaiser and the U-boats. The agriculture department looks on them as a public enemy and is sending out fresh appeals for a war on rats.

War on rats, like war on Germans, must be scientific and methodical. No sudden bursts of energy, no spasmodic use of traps or poison will avail. Here are the rules for immediate warfare:

Clean up everything! Especially about markets, stores and barns. Thresh and market grain early to prevent rat colonies forming in grain stacks.

Remove all piles of straw, trash and lumber on vacant lots.

Don't destroy hawks, owls or non-poisonous snakes. The black, garter and chicken snakes are worth millions to America. They feast on rats.

Keep well-trained rat dogs on farms and in city warehouses. Unlike cats, dogs kill rats for sport and do not limit their kill to their appetites.

Keep everything eatable in rat proof containers.

Go after rats with poison, traps and organized hunts.

Arouse public opinion to the danger of the pest.

Building should be done with the purpose to eliminate the rat for all times to come.

Your money refunded if you want it, on any article you buy here that does not prove satisfactory. We would rather have your friendship than your money.

Sign Your Country's Food Pledge—This Is It:

CUT OUT CAREFULLY ALONG THIS LINE

Pledge Card for United States Food Administration
If You Have Already Signed, Pass This On To A Friend

TO THE FOOD ADMINISTRATOR:

I am glad to join you in the service of food conservation for our nation and I hereby accept membership in the United States Food Administration, pledging myself to carry out the directions and advice of the Food Administrator in my home, in so far as my circumstances permit.

Name _____

Street _____

City _____ State _____

There are no fees or dues to be paid. The Food Administration wishes to have as members all of those handling food in the home. Anyone may have the Home Card of Instruction, but only those signing pledges are entitled to the Membership Window Card, which will be delivered upon receipt of the signed pledge.

Cut this out carefully and send it to the Federal Food Administrator, Room 20, State House, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Do not send it to Washington. Send it to Indianapolis.

This is the same as the pledge card, and just as official. Do not sign this if you have signed a pledge card. Do not sign a pledge card if you sign this.

When you send this in, with your name and address, you will be sent free: (1) a handsome three-colored window membership card to show that you are trying to live up to the suggestions of the food administration at your house; (2) an interesting and valuable book of suggestions and recipes, entitled "Ten Lessons on Food Conservation"; (3) a wall card to hang in your kitchen, entitled "The Kitchen War Creed," to show you how you can help win the war in your own kitchen if you wish.

And the food administration will mail you other helpful things later, perhaps.

To sign this card is a patriotic privilege. It will make you a leader in your neighborhood in the task of saving certain foods for our soldiers and our allies.

Sign this card. Show Mr. Hoover you are with him. Hang out your window membership card when it comes. Read the interesting literature that will be sent you.

The government is not going to ask for your canned goods or for anything else, because you sign this card. You incur no obligations. You merely promise to study the problem of "food saving to win the war" and do what you can to help.

SELL 15,550 XMAS SEALS

This Year's Figures Slightly Below Last Year's Because of Many Funds.

WILL PLACE LARGE SIGN ON SQUARE

Many $5.00 Contributions
Among Saturday's List
of Purchasers.

Just 15,550 Red Cross seals have been sold this year up to date, in comparison with 57,400 sold last year. It will be seen that the amount of anti-tuberculosis seals thus far placed this season falls short of the same date of last year but headquarters is not disturbed for the reason that a little time last year the war had not involved America and the people had not been called upon for contributions to other causes. A special advance sale had been made by personal solicitation.

The amount reported for 1917 is only for Saturday, Nov. 24. Today's mail was heavy and the result will be reported tomorrow. It is believed that the sales this year, because of the vastly greater need, will total larger than any previous year. Headquarters is out for a new record.

Owing to the trouble in getting to the order for the usual measured emblem, the painters have not yet delivered the sign that is to adorn the court house corner from day to day. The sign this year is to picture a Red Cross nurse instead of merely the society's cross. This will be placed as soon as the painter can finish it.

A list of those buying $2 worth or more of the seals is as follows: All the contributions are gratefully received, but owing to the numerous people contributing less than $2 worth it would be impossible to make a complete list. Those subscribing $2 or more up to this time are: Leonard & Geller, $5; Dan Nide, $5; E. J. Little, $2; Kraus & Applebaum, $4; Theodore J. Isidor, $4; Hattley & Son, $3; Willis Hattersley, $2; S. Kraus, $3; Jacob Rohrer, $2; Conney Rayer, $5; Lantier, $2; L. O. Hull, $3; J. W. Miller, $2; Sol A. ## LOCAL ICE DEALERS

AGREE TO CO-OPERATE

They Will Assist All Efforts
to Conserve Foods, Labor and Ice.

Bernard Moran, who has been appointed delegate for Allen county to the Indiana Ice Dealers association and E. D. Eward, manager of the Consumers Ice company, reported to the Allen county council of defense Monday morning that they were ready to co-operate with all efforts to conserve foods, labor and ice.

Mr. Moran was advised, in accordance with his instructions from the state organization, to get in touch with Mr. Eward, the food administrator, and with George M. Haffner, the food administrator. They will together work out plans for the conservation both of foods and fuel.

Mr. Moran reported that he had closed down the artificial ice machinery for the winter and was serving customers with ice from his houses at Lake Pleasant. Mr. Eward reported that he would shut down the artificial ice machinery in his plant tomorrow night and thereafter serve his customers with lake ice. It is probable that the two ice plant managers will agree upon some organized system of delivery which will greatly reduce amount of labor and fuel and auto trucks needed for the satisfactory service of the customers of both.

Captain—Sergeant Spill-

Chief of Police Charles Lenz has been notified that he will be succeeded by Dayton Abbott at the expiration of his term of office. ## TELLS JURY OF HER WOE

Bianca De Saulles Heard in Court in Her Own Defense.

MURDERER OF HER EX-HUSBAND TALKS

Relates Finding Husband
Aboard Yacht With Bevy
of Stage Beauties.

Minneapolis, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Bianca De Saulles, on trial here for the murder of her husband, John De Saulles today from the witness stand told the story of her life.

It was a story brimming with dramatic interest. Her childhood, spent in Chile, her meeting there with De Saulles, their marriage in Paris and the return to the United States was the first and happiest part of the tale. Then came the defendant's detailed narration of the change in her husband's attitude toward her—of the trickery to which she claims he re- sorted in order to get possession of $100,000 which she had inherited from her father. Instances of his alleged infidelity were related by the witness who spoke in a calm, impassioned manner while thrills which filled the courtroom listened with breathless in- terest.

Letters which Mrs. De Saulles wrote to her husband were introduced by her counsel with the purpose of showing the jury she had suffered from neglect. The pathos of some of them drew tears from the listeners in the court room. Reading of these letters occupied nearly forty-five minutes. Mrs. De Saulles sat half contained and with downcast gaze while they were being read. The witness identified four drafts drawn on her account and made payable to "cash." All four have endorsements of John L. De Saulles. They were dated August 28, September 29, Octo- ber 24 and Dec. 9, 1913, and were for $15,000, $1,500, $2,000 and $1,000, re- spectively.

At this point Mr. Uterhart dis- missed to elicit from Mrs. DeSaulles an account of a Sunday afternoon in Sept. 1914 when the August Hecksher yacht, on which she was sailing in Long Island Sound, came upon a yacht chartered by the Duke of Man- chester, on the quarter deck of which the witness said she saw the duke and her husband surrounded by a number of girls. In telling of this incident in court last week Mr. Uterhart described these girls as a "bevy of Broadway's choicest beauties."

The defense presented a letter written by Mrs. De Saulles in August, 1916, to her son's former nurse, Miss Othel O'Neil, which read:

"Dear Miss Ethel: How glad I was to hear from you again and how happy I feel to know that I have a real friend in you. You have no idea how it helps. We are sailing, my brother, sister and myself, for London the day after tomor- row, and coming back in October. The baby will remain here. His father in every way makes to him, influences him so against me that he is now very hard to manage, and now Mrs. Mooney has adopted an extraordinary attitude as though the child belonged to her and it were a great concession for her to allow the child to talk to me, and when he does its only to tell me that his 'boobie' loves him more than I do, because she has told him that, and he says he would rather be with her."

Mrs. L. B. Wells will leave on Wed- nesday morning for her home in Pitts- burg, Pa.

SOCIALISTS SPEND $211 ON ELECTION

Remainder of Candidates
Expected to File Expense
Accounts This Week.

The socialist party has completed its expense account and has filed it with the city clerk. A total of $211.34 was spent for campaign expenses. This total is considerably lower than the democratic and republican expendi- tures, will be, but it accomplished the election of one candidate.

The following men filed their ex- pense accounts Saturday: Sam Hen- line, republican candidate for council- man-at-large, $20.50; Henry A. Miller, democratic candidate for councilman from the fifth ward, $41; Fred Wahr- enburg, candidate for council-at- large on the republican ticket, $50.75; Ben F. Bennett, republican candidate for councilman-at-large, $36.52; Charles King, republican candidate for councilman from the first ward $21.10; F. M. Price, republican candi- date for councilman from the sixth ward, $23.60; Michael J. Riley, demo- cratic candidate for councilman from the seventh ward, $47.80; Nathan B. Holsworth, socialist candidate for councilman from the sixth ward, none; William F. Jefferies, republican candi- date for city clerk, $97.

All But Two Sworn In.
All but two of the successful candi- dates have taken the oath of office. These two, Frank Mungovan and Tom Snook will appear at a later date and be sworn in by the city clerk.

The total for the receipts and expendi- tures of the republican central committee was filed with the city clerk late Monday afternoon. The sheet showed a total re- ceipt of $1,850 and an expenditure of $1,836.90. A small number of minor bills are still outstanding.

C. Ebersole, grocer at 1656 Richard- son street, is confined to his home of his son, Carl, on Rummion avenue. Eb- ersole went to the home of his son to stay until his wrist was healed, and shortly after the home was placed un- der quarantine on account of small- pox in the family.

BACK FROM THE TRENCHES.

An Atlantic Port, Nov. 26.—The party of American congressmen, mem- bers of which had narrow escapes from death or injury when they came under machine gun fire recently while visiting the trenches on the British front in France, returned home on a steamer which arrived here today. The Germans appeared to notice the unusual activity in the British trenches caused by the congressmen and thinking a raid was about to be- gin opened fire with a battery of ma- chine guns. Some of the congress- men who were exposed to the rain of bullets, promptly sought the shelter of the dugouts.

WOMAN KILLED ON TRACK.

Terre Haute, Ind., Nov. 26.—Mrs. William Crawford, living near Ed- wards crossing, south of Fontanet, was killed by a Big Four train to- day as she crossed the railroad tracks on the way to a neighbor's home. She had a coat over her head and did not hear or see the approaching train. Within the past ten years members of two other families who resided in the house now occupied by the Crawfords were killed at the Ed- wards crossing.

MOTORISTS ARE HURT.

Columbus, Ind., Nov. 26.—Henry Ryburn, of Amboy, Ind., was severely injured and John H. Kendall, an Am- boy banker, was slightly bruised when the automobile in which they were driving through to Camp Zachary Tay- lor, near Louisville, Ky., skidded and turned over here today. Ryburn was taken to a local hospital, but Kendall continued on his way to the national army camp.

THIRD ONE DIES.

Vincennes, Ind., Nov. 26.—James Wade Emison, prominent in state poli- tics, who was injured yesterday when his wife and son-in-law, Mrs. John W. Emison, were killed in an automo- bile accident near here, died today. Mr. Emison's brother, who was driving the automobile, was injured only slightly.

CANADIANS WIN GLORY

Fort Garry Cavalry in An Exploit That Will Live in Story.

IN GREAT BRITISH ADVANCE DO PART

Handful of Troopers Hack Down German Battery and Return.

Canadian Army Headquarters in France, Nov. 26.—(By Canadian Press Ltd.)—Canada was splendidly repre- sented in the great British advance of Nov. 20 which broke the Hinden- burg line and drove the enemy back on Cambrai.

For the first time since the Ger- man retreat from Bapaume last spring the Canadian cavalry went into action with their horses.

After waiting a long time opposite the village of Masnières for the signal which sent them into action, the "Hell-for-leather" Fort Garry gal- loped to the attack. They succeeded in crossing the Les Cault canal and penetrated the enemy's country. What followed equals anything in cavalry exploits in the history of the empire.

A Cavalry Exploit.
A single squadron found itself all alone. Racing forward with enemy to the right and to the left of them, the Fort Garry's galloped in sections over the crest of a hill concealing the enemy's guns. Advancing down the slope they found themselves facing a battery of four light German field guns. Charging straight for the bat- tery sabring everything as they came officers and men reeled to the guns.

In line of troop columns they ad- vanced, coming so quickly that the enemy had no time to man two of his guns, one other was cut off and put out of action. The gunners at- tempted to blow up the fourth. The cavalry wiped out that battery with the sword.

The majority of the enemy gunners attempted to fly and only a few brave men stood at attention beside their canon. On swept the little squadron. The retreating enemy's infantry were en- gaged.

Fought With Bayonets on Foot.
Dusk found the cavalry two miles in- side the enemy's territory, surrounded by a lieutenant. A defensive position was essential. With sword the horsemen fought their way through to a sunken road. There they dismounted. Two messengers sent back to report their position had their horses shot under them, but struggled back to the lines. Dark- ness was falling. The gallant band was isolated. Stamping their horses to di- vert the enemy's machine gun fire, what was left of the squadron prepared to re- turn. As they had galloped forward, using the sabre, they now fought their way back with the bayonet.

The retirement was a succession of hand to hand struggles. Four times the little party met enemy working parties with the bayonet and dispersed them. Midnight had passed when they reached Masnières again and fought their way through the enemy infantry in the town to a wrecked bridge, where they crossed to safety.

Forty-three of the men came through unscathed and they brought back their wounded and over a dozen prisoners.

EVANGELIST TAKES
KOKOMO BY STORM

Kokomo, Ind., Nov. 26.—Rev. E. J. Buglin, the great evangelist, is taking Kokomo by storm. Sunday marked the end of the second week of his series of evangelistic meetings in the great tabernacle built for them here. The preacher has heard 6,500 peo- ple in three services of that day. An afternoon meeting for men was at- tended by 2,500 and a double-header in the evening brought together six thousand more. The evening crowd was the greatest gathering of people ever seen in Kokomo. So great was the rush at the first of the evening meetings that two doors were torn off the tabernacle through which the crowd outside tried to rush in after the tabernacle had been filled to its utmost capacity.

RYDER BOY IMPROVES.
Harold Ryder, the seven-year-old lad run over by an automobile on Sat- urday afternoon is in a much im- proved condition. All hope for his recovery was given up Sunday evening, but an unexpected rally has carried the lad through. His injuries are in- ternal and include a punctured lung. The lad's condition is serious as both wheels of the heavy machine passed over him. Physicians state, however, that if the little chap holds on and shows the least improvement shown yesterday that his recovery will be certain.

CHARLES L. OLDS ILL.
Charles L. Olds, one of Fort Wayne's best known citizens, is ill with pleuro pneumonia at his tempo- rary home in Cleveland. Mr. and Mrs. Olds want to Cleveland for the win- ter, where Mr. Olds has a big con- struction contract on the New York Central terminal. He had been ill with the grip for several days, and the message that came to his son, Percy G. Olds, this morning was that the disease had developed into pleuro pneumonia and he is very ill.

SUBURBAN DAY

This Week, Wednesday
November 28

every visitor from out of town will find the Fort Wayne stores sparkling with appealing holiday and winter goods, at prices which will make the day one of the busiest of the early winter season.

Everybody comes to Fort Wayne now on Wednesday. It's the splendid new opportunity for the visitors to trade in comfort, which is not always possible on Saturday, when Fort Wayne people are crowding the streets and the stores.

So Come to Fort Wayne To Shop on Wednesday

This Week, Wednesday
November 28

will see the Christmas shopping go merrily forward. The people are buying sensible gifts this year, and that's the kind the out-of-town people will find here in great variety. Always the Fort Wayne merchant asks the visitors to "try your home merchant first—then try Fort Wayne." That is the fair plan, and Fort Wayne asks no other consideration.

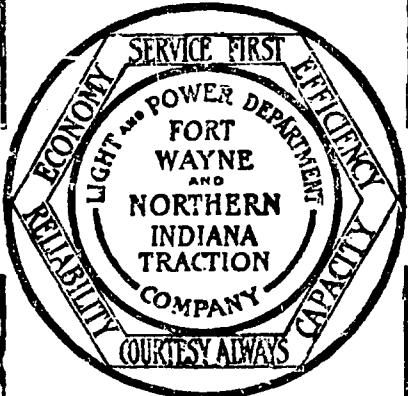

Look for the trade mark in the advertisements and in the store windows:

THE Y. M. C. A. IN THE GREAT ARMY CAMPS OF NATION

They had just heard a lecture, rather a heartening talk, these men, on the relation between clean living and clean thinking. In a few minutes they expect to see (they did see) a fine motion picture. Earlier in the evening (this was in a Y. M. C. A. building at Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill.), they had heard a concert by a regimental band. This shows how the Y. M. C. A. is appreciated by hundreds of thousands of sturdy young chaps at the cantonments and camps in the United States. Similar scenes are common on the battle fronts in Europe. Wherever is the red triangle, symbol of the service of the association, millions of war-worn soldiers the world over know there are rest and comfort, calm and content and good cheer. The highest commands of the armies of the world have declared the Y. M. C. A. a necessary part of their establishments.

SKULL TO REFORM HIM

Criminal Through Accident
in Youth, Hopes to Be Made Normal.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 26.—Dr. Roy C. McDaniel is going to take a rib from the side of Marcel G. Parsons, not to make him an Eve, but a new skull.

When Parsons was a 5-year-old lad in knicker he climbed a cherry tree in the yard of his wealthy parents in Spokane. A limb broke and he fell, dashing his head against a stone.

boy was a normal child. There was no criminal taint in his blood. The family record shows that. But his injury caused pressure on his brain and today Parsons is known to the police from Spokane to Los Angeles as one of the most persistent auto thieves in the business. He has stolen several cars and has gone to prison. He has been sent twice to insane hospitals in the hope that he might be cured. On the last occasion the hospital superintendent sent word to District Attorney Evans that Parsons was not insane and would be discharged in a week. Evans sent for Parsons and brought him back here for trial. The boy's mother took Dr. McDaniel to visit him in the county jail. McDaniel felt of Parsons' skull. There was a depression in it the size of a dollar, two inches back of the brow.

ENEMY PROPAGANDA

German Lies Spread in the United States Tell of
"Tumulty's Arrest."

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—The old lady who spoke well of everyone, and who called attention to the devil's virtues of patience and persistence could also point out some admirable traits of the German spy propaganda in this country. The number of canards set afloat by word of mouth or put on ticker wires in the past nine months is past all counting. Some of these stories have spread all over the country; others have been purely local. Many of them show a high order of imagination and versatility. Quite a few of them point to a common source and deliberate propagation. The most cruel form of this underhanded campaign is the calling up by phone of relatives of men known to be in the army and navy and telling them that their loved ones have been slain. The navy and war departments have been kept busy reassuring victims of this form of propaganda. Ground for this work was laid previously by widespread reports of transport sinking with great loss of life.

Here are a few of the German canards circulated recently: Secretary Tumulty arrested as a German spy and imprisoned in Fort Leavenworth. Battleship Pennsylvania and other American ships sunk in great North Sea naval battle won by Germans. Government preparing to seize all preserves in private houses and all meats in farmers' smoke houses. Government preparing to confiscate all bank deposits. A variant of this has been the report that deposits of all aliens are to be seized. There is a whole flock of "casualties" lies, purporting to tell of terrible trench fatalities. Parades of troops have been accompanied by whispers that "It's a pity, but we will never see them again. They are going to certain death."

RABBIT INDUSTRY AN IMPORTANT FACTOR

That the raising of rabbits is of some importance is shown by statistics given by W. H. Ashton, president of the National Breeders' and Fanciers' Association. Fort Wayne should prove a fertile field for the breeding of rabbits as many valuable ones ranging in prices from $5 to $100 are to be found here. Many of them weigh as high as eighteen pounds and include steel grey, grey, white, and black. The value of rabbit pelts as well as rabbit meat is extremely high at the present time. The exportation of rabbit pelts by United States breeders last year amounted to $15,000,000.

PAULDING COUNTY IS TO GIVE $5,000 TO THE RED CROSS WAR FUND

Home Talent is to Be Staged at Paulding.

[Special to The Sentinel.]
Antwerp, O., Nov. 26.—In the Red Cross war fund drive Paulding county is expected to contribute $5,000, this sum to be secured by Dec. 15. The call has been generously listened to and a goodly sum has already been raised. The following business men of Paulding have contributed $100 each: W. J. Wheeler, W. H. Phipps, G. C. Dittenhafer, Charles Ozias, J. A. Mohr, The Columbia Sugar Co., F. Morrissey, Gilbert Barnes, John S. Snook and W. N. Shaffer.

Letters received from Will Shepperd, who went to Phoenix, Ariz., to improve his health, states he is nicely healed and has already been benefited. He says the air is light and dry, and that the thermometer registers up about 104 in the daytime but that the air gets quite cool at night.

Harry Ely was a passenger to Toledo Thursday, called there on business matters.

Mrs. J. R. McCabe was a Fort Wayne visitor Friday.

Miss Jennie Bickhard is the guest of Guy Smith and family at Paulding, O., this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Garner Peffer have gone to Fort Wayne for a visit with her sister, Mrs. Alex Baker, and brother, Samuel Jordan and their families.

Wishing to be fair with all, we are anxious to correct an item relating to a visit made by Mrs. T. G. Foster, Mrs. N. Harmon and Mrs. J. Sexton as a committee of the Antwerp branch of the Red Cross society to Fort Wayne to attend a lecture by a woman from the headquarters at Cleveland, who said the work sent in by Antwerp branch was fine—not the best she had seen—as we stated.

Among the members of the Masonic lodge of this place that visited Van Wert Friday, were M. F. Jacobs, Jacob Hartman, William Wittmer, Roy Seelye and J. H. Jacobs. The party attended a meeting of the local lodge, when the past master degree was conferred.

The supper given by the ladies of the Presbyterian church in the basement of the church, Friday evening, was largely attended, and was pronounced very enjoyable by those in attendance, and netted the ladies something like $70.

Mervin Day and family, who lately moved to Paulding, are happy over the advent of a baby girl at their home, born last Friday.

At the annual election of officers of Masonic lodge No. 335, held Tuesday evening, the following were selected to fill the different offices as follows: W. M., M. P. Jacobs; S. E., D. C. Bickhard; J. W. A. D. Rodgers; treasurer, T. G. Foster; secretary, M. L. Reeb; S. D., R. B. Snell; J. D. Charles E. Hole; Tyler, S. B. Sunney.

After a week's visit with his parents, Russell Duval left Saturday for Camp Taylor, near Louisville, Ky. Russell is a member of the band in the United States service, and has been stationed at Fort Sheridan heretofore. He likes the work.

Milo Schwab, mail clerk on the Wash, who is enjoying a fifteen days' vacation, in company with his family, motored over into Michigan, where they spent the past week with relatives at different points, returning home Thursday and announcing having had a fine trip.

Mrs. Charles Keck, of Hicksville, was a visitor at this place a short time Thursday, while on her way to Delphi, Ind., called there to attend the funeral of her father, Mr. Jerry Garrison.

Mrs. Warren Seaster and son, Delmer, have gone to Detroit, where they will visit her sister, Mrs. George Thomas and family for a week or two. Russell Banks arrived home from Ames, Iowa, Thursday, where he has been assistant chemist in the laboratory of Ames university. He will remain home a few days and then will go into government work at Picatinny Arsenal, Dover, N. J., as assistant chemist.

Clarence Scoby, of Beaverton, Mich., who has been the guest of his uncle, Edward Scoby and family the past week, left Thursday for Toledo, where he expects to enlist in the United States service.

Mrs. N. G. Sunday, accompanied by her son, Harry, and daughters Isabelle and Jeanette, were passengers to Fort Wayne, Friday, to attend a family reunion at the home of her sister, Mrs. James Swartz and family, given in honor of their daughter, Hazel, who leaves soon for Seattle, Wash.

"The 1917 Revue," an entertainment consisting of music, dancing and comedy, will be staged at the Grand opera house at Paulding, Monday and Tuesday evenings, December 3 and 4, for the benefit of St. Joseph's church and the Red Cross. The cast will consist of local talent under the direction of John Deardoff, who put on a successful production there about a year ago, and he predicts this will be the best home talent show ever staged at that place.

A Splendid Cough Medicine.
I have used Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a number of times during the past two or three years for colds, coughs and hoarseness, and am pleased to say it has always given me prompt relief. I consider Chamberlain's Cough Remedy a splendid medicine and have recommended it to many of my friends, who have used it and likewise praise it highly," writes Mrs. W. F. Prantz, Colden, N. Y.—Advertisement.

Mindoro, one of the larger islands of the Philippine group, is a province by itself and contains 3,983 square miles. It is distant from Manila a little more than 100 miles. Along the shores of this island more than 30,000 acres of mangrove swamps, with large tracts in practically virgin growth, conservatively estimated to yield 50,000 tons of bark readily convertible into approximately 17,000 tons of cutch. Just why this growth should have remained untouched for so long it is not explained.

HOW TO GET RID OF WRINKLES

A Simple, Safe and Reliable Way, That Produces Marvelous Results Without Plasters, Face Steaming or Masks of Any Kind.

By Winifred Grace Forrest

If you have facial blemishes of any kind, with her younger and better looking sister. A woman really stands in her own light when she fails to realize the advantage that beauty gives to the gentle sex. Beauty may be only skin deep, but the woman who has improved her complexion and kept her face fair and free from wrinkles by the use of amonized cocoa cream has an attractive skin that suggests a refinement that places her in a higher class than that occupied by the careless woman who has been indifferent to the development of her personal charms. Beauty is woman's birthright and nature's greatest gift to enhance this charm is amonized cocoa cream.

Note—Amonized cocoa cream recommended above by Winifred Grace Forrest, the noted English Beauty Specialist, is one of the older forms of cocoa cream. Unlike the modern products it is pleasant to use, has a soft, fragrant odor and is used almost exclusively for massage and facial treatment in the English Beauty Parlors. American women who are treated by Beauty Specialists should insist that no other emollient be used on their face for massage. Superfluous hair and ruined complexion too often result from the use of cheap massage creams. Amonized cocoa cream can always be obtained from the nearest drug store, and is so easy to apply that the average woman has no need for the services of a Beauty Specialist.

AT THE PALACE

AMERICAN COMEDY FOUR.

Harmony and Hilarity in Top Line Act on Bill at Palace.

A rare combination of harmony and hilarity makes the American Comedy Four, a quartet of singing funsters, a qualified top line attraction on the bill for the first portion of the week at the New Palace. The absurd make-ups of the laugh-evokers and their sweetly harmonious voices put them over big. Johnny O'Connor cake of soap onto the stage in the middle of a recitation his partner, Frank Dixon, is doing and from that time on there never is an idle moment in the skit. "Hired and Fired," "Esmé's Asoria," a dancing, dancing of superlative grace, with the assistance of another girl and man, is staging a whiz of a dancing act, closing with a whirlwind number, the Dance of the Elements, that is a riot. Miss Fremont Benton, assisted by Richard Carroll and company, is offering "Handkerchief No. 15," a laughable farce in which Miss Benton has some clever lines and amusing situations that she makes the most of. Eddie DeNoyer and Rosa Danie in the singing, talking and dancing skit, "At the Wistaria Inn," and Aerial Tumbells, in a revolving ladder thriller, complete this bill.

TWO KILLED IN GRADE CROSSING COLLISION

Motorist Examining Another Auto Wreck When Train Hit Him.

Vincennes, Ind., Nov. 26.—Mrs. James Wade Emison and her sister-in-law, Mrs. John W. Emison, both of this city, were killed and their husbands were injured yesterday when their automobile was struck by a B. & O. passenger train at the First street crossing.

James Wade Emison, a lawyer, prominent in republican politics in this district, suffered four broken ribs, besides other injuries and his condition is serious.

His brother, John W., who was driving the auto, was injured only slightly. He, according to a flagman, was looking at a wrecked automobile that was struck at the crossing Saturday, and did not see the warning against the approach of the train.

The automobile was an enclosed one and was astride the track when struck. Mrs. Wade Emison's head was pushed through the windshield. She died an hour after the accident. Mrs. John W. Emison was killed 100 feet, suffering many broken bones. She lived fifteen minutes.

Work of Two Teams.

Much credit is given to the teams captained by Misses Grace Hines and Alma Hoff, composed of business women, teachers and nurses, who secured a total of $4,078.62 from office people. The Industrial Extension department teams gathered in a total of $1,082.93. These teams were composed of the industrial clubs of the Y. W. C. A. In the several factories, conducted under the direction of Mrs. Whitbeck. The four leading clubs in this group were the Gynmits, of the Wayne Knitting Mills; the Elex club, of the General Electric works; the Perfection club, of the Perfection Biscuit plant, and the Dudio Girls' club, of the Dudio Manufacturing company. Employees were generous in allowing the girls to look after the campaign in their plants; at the General Electric company, sixteen girls were allowed to conduct the work on full pay. Special mention is made of the work of Mrs. Charles Ashley, working among the residents of St. Joseph township, who secured about $100. In the city, the Misses Novak and the Shree secured over $1,200. The Busy Bee, a club composed of girls employed in the homes of the city, contributed $30.

Mrs. Fred H. McCulloch reported at the Saturday night meeting that Wells, Dekalb and Adams counties have promised to secure contributions to the fund this week. The Y. M. C. A. campaign was still in progress in Whitley and Steuben counties, which prevented the start of the Y. W. C. A. canvass. Huntington county, however, through the splendid efforts of a club of young women, raised $1,000. Praise for the success of the Fort Wayne campaign is given in large measure to Mrs. George Evans, who served as the director of the campaign teams, to Miss Anna Cole, general secretary of the Fort Wayne Y. W. C. A., and to Miss May Jewell Smith, treasurer of the association, as well as to their associates who devoted themselves unselfishly to the needs of the hour.

MAN OF 87 ENDS LIFE.

Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 26.—Ferdinand Seipel, aged 87, severed the exterior jugular vein in his throat with a pocketknife and died three hours later in a hospital from the resultant hemorrhage. Seipel had lived in Lafayette for sixty-eight years and had been a member of St. Anthony's home for the aged for fifteen years.

SHOOT OFF HAND WHILE OUT HUNTING

(Special to the Sentinel.)
Garrett, Ind., Nov. 26.—Anthony Shoudell, the young man from near Auburn, who shot his hand off Saturday afternoon while out hunting, is resting quite comfortable at Sacred Heart hospital, although still very weak from the great loss of blood. The young man is eighteen years old and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Shoudell of six miles southeast of Auburn. He was out hunting Saturday and had climbed a tree when in some way he slipped letting the gun drop, and the hammer caught on a limb discharging the gun. The lead grazed the abdomen several shots being imbedded in the skin and blew off the left hand and passed on to the left cheek, a number of shots entering there. He ran to a neighbor, a half mile away, and called for help, not wishing to frighten his mother, who was at home alone. He was rushed to the hospital here and operated on at once. While the accident is very sad the young man has won the admiration of those about him for his optimistic view of it for he remarked that he was lucky to be here at all, for had the shot entered a little deeper in the abdomen he would have meant death and he is thankful that it was his left hand that was lost.

In Runaway Accident.

Mrs. Scudder Schutt, wife of Trustee Schutt, is confined to her home south of this city, from injuries in a runaway Saturday night. Mrs. Schutt and her young son were driving on this city and were on South Cowen street when two young men drove up behind them racing. This frightened the Schutt horse and it started to run, throwing Mrs. Schutt to the pavement, breaking her nose and cutting a big gash in her head. The boy merely had a bruised leg. Mrs. Schutt was taken into the Novinger home on South Cowen street and a physician called, who dressed her injuries and later she was removed to her home south of this city a short distance. Word from there today is to the effect that she bruised all over her body and is severely shaken, although she will be all right in a few days. The officials are endeavoring to learn the names of the young men who were racing and give them a taste of the law.

tion and did not show a trace of fatigue

from their long march.

From Blue to Khaki.

Just beyond here color turned from blue to khaki as long lines of British came into sight. In the lead were cyclists, and then came engineer trains. Following were long ranks of infantry, cavalry and artillery. At one point headquarters had been tempo rarily established along the road and guards were at the gate as the officers went and came.

Further on a British general and his staff, all finely mounted, were cantering forward.

The artillery horses were especially marked for their sleek, well-fed condition and the other soldiers radiated all the brass work of the guns and equipment glinted with the thorough care it had had. One engineer corps was rumbling on camions, as it had been found these were not needed, but all the rest of the force was moving forward.

Look Hard and Fit.

The men looked hard as nails despite their steady marches. Both officers and men were eager to hear how the fight was going and were anxious to get forward. Talks with these men along the road gave an idea of what they had been doing. They had been marching steadily for several days. The sea was made every day at 3 a. m. with an early breakfast and with rations subsequently served at 11 a. m. and 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Along the route their headquarters were in village schools, houses, barns and public buildings. The men carried loads of about seventy pounds, including rifles, blankets, kits and the day's rations.

This looked like a heavy load as the long ranks ranged along the roads, but the men did not mind it, although they said the long marches had been hard on the feet. The regimental bands were in line and Italy may hear music again if things go right. All the Italian bands have disappeared in the fierce campane of recent days and the bandmen are charging with bayonets. The whole appearance of the British and French gave a feeling of great power because of the perfect organization and ardor of all ranks, accentuated by the timeliness with which they are arriving in the vicinity of the battle front.

GERMANS END THEIR ATTACK

"On the Cambrai battle front the enemy has not repeated his attacks on the Bourlon position since the failure of his attempt at midday yesterday and the situation is unchanged."

"Northeast of Ypres there was considerable artillery activity on both sides early last night in the Passchendaele sector, but no infantry action developed."

FIGHTING ON VERDUN FRONT

Paris, Nov. 26.—Violent artillery activity is continuing in the Verdun region, east of the Meuse, where the French are organizing the ground they captured yesterday to the north of hill 344, says today's war office statement.

The statement reads: "On the right bank of the Meuse there was lively activity by the enemy in the region north of hill 344, where our troops are organizing the positions which they had captured."

"An enemy raid upon our small posts in the region of Bezonvaux was repulsed by our fire."

STORY OF THE GREAT FIGHT.

British Army Headquarters in France, Sunday, Nov. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—This morning began the final battle of the year but it was a battle of British troops stretched in a semi-circle about Bour-lon wood and Bourlon village which nestles at the northwestern edge of the forest. It was a line which had been established in the face of dogged resistance on the part of the Germans who had taken back step by step, fighting with the fury of despair.

All day yesterday the opposing forces struggled bitterly at close quarters for possession of the little village from which the British were forced Friday after raining a rooting in the rains that took them through Bour-lon wood. Night fell with waves of infantry surging back and forth through the streets of the hamlet and among the houses their crimson bayonets telling the story of the terrible conflict being waged. Gradually the Germans fell back the British pressing forward with grim persistence until the dawn of Sunday found the hamlet was finally cleared of the major portion of the German troops.

All Seven Consented.

The decree was affirmatively presented to by all seven defendants.

Counsel for seven of the men under the indictment said in court that the present was not the time for a controversion between industries and the federal government, but they insisted that there had been no conscious violation by the defendants of either the spirit or the letter of the Sherman law.

Edwin W. Tamm, justice of the Minnesota and Ontario Powder company and the Fort Francis Pulp and Paper company, did not agree to the three cent price up to April 1, but asked that the federal trade commission fix the price of print paper by the federal trade commission.

The seven defendants said to be satisfactory to the publishers' association.

SENATOR STONE IS URGING THAT SUCH ACTION BE TAKEN

To have war formally declared against the German allies also, Senator Stone thinks, would simply matters of domestic concern such as measures to prevent espionage.

LOCAL MARKETS

MAY PRICES STILL SAG ON MARKETS

Corn and Oats Returns Are Small—Monday Markets Are Quiet.

Monday's markets were not as large as they were last week. Hay experienced another fair day's run, but the prices still continued to fall. The top mark reached $24.50, but the low price dropped back to $20.00. Two loads of new corn were received at $1.10 a bushel. Three loads of oats averaged 63c and 66c a bushel.

This week will prove to be a record corn week as the farmers have had good weather to rush their corn husking and will undoubtedly seize the first chance to get their products marketed. Old corn is nearly all gone and oats is getting scarce. Most of the baled hay to be shipped to the government has gone and the government buyers are not having any more baled.

IN THE CHURCHES MRS. DAISY BARR IS EXPECTED THIS WEEK Evangelistic Service Starts at Crescent Avenue Evangelical Church. The evangelistic campaign at the Crescent Avenue Evangelical church opened Sunday morning. Under the direction of the Barr party. Mrs. Daisy Douglass Barr, the evangelist was called to Hattiesburg last week to say good-bye to her only son, who will soon be sent to France, and was unable to reach Fort Wayne in time for the opening day. She is expected to arrive the first of this week. In her absence, the meetings Sunday were conducted by her assistants, Mr. Frederick J. Balmond, business manager and chorister and Miss Hazel Mason, Mrs. Barr's secretary, women's worker and pianist of the party. Mr. Balmond has been here for some days, doing preliminary work and organizing his choir. Mr. Balmond has a wonderful voice, and it will be a rare treat to the people of Fort Wayne to hear his solos each night during this campaign. Miss Mason, who has been engaged in Christian work for some years, preached both morning and evening, her messages being especially fitting for the first day of these meetings. Those who have heard Mrs. Barr's messages when she was in Fort Wayne, with the Lyon party, need no arguments to convince them that they will be well repaid for coming to these services. Mrs. Barr's work since entering the evangelistic field with her own party, has been significantly blessed and has been constantly enlarging. Until this year, her meetings have been held only in large tabernacles, seating from 3,000 to 5,000 people, but the scarcity of lumber and the uncertainty of coal, has made it wise to take some single church meetings this year. Her messages are potent and bring to the hearts of the people the things which are worth while. Watch the papers for announcements of special subjects for these meetings.

TO DECLARE WAR ON GERMANY'S ALLIES

SENATOR STONE IS URGING THAT SUCH ACTION BE TAKEN

Believes Congress Will Do That and Put an End to a Situation That

ARE ACTUALLY ENEMIES OF AMERICA

Washington, Nov. 26.—Declarations of war against Austria-Bulgaria and Turkey, Chairman Stone of the senate foreign relations committee, declared today seem "exceedingly advisable to simplify a situation now anomalous."

"We are in fact," said he, "now at war with Germany's allies."

Senator Stone's only reservation was that such action congress should be in harmony with the policy of the executive branch of the government. Although he voted against the declaration of war on Germany, Senator Stone has reiterated that the war once begun has his whole support. His statement today was taken as indicative of the agitation for war on Germany's allies which will face congress when it convenes a week from today.

"There should be an understanding of course," said Senator Stone, "between the two branches of the government before any action is taken. But we are, in fact, now at war with Germany's allies. The situation is anomalous. It would in my opinion simplify matters greatly if the senate formally declares war against Germany's allies. It seems to me exceedingly advisable."

"I have understood that some, if not a large number of Austrians troops have been on the western front. They soon may be actually fighting the American forces, the two forces fighting at each other. Anyway, the Austrians are desperately engaged with Italy, which is one of our allies just as much as France or England."

MORE OF THE "CLEAN CAMPAIGN."

Attention was called Saturday to the fact that the management of the Fort Wayne Journal-Gazette, employing stolen lists of the city carriers and rural agents of the Sentinel, had addressed letters to these persons urging them to desert and take employment with the Journal-Gazette, offering to pay them for the subscribers they could divert to that paper. The letter to the carriers was reproduced in both the News and the Sentinel on Saturday and the letter to the out-of-town agents was along similar lines. In this letter to the agents the following course of action is advised:

"Start in this morning and give all your subscribers a Journal-Gazette. Then go to our agent in your city and check up with him, so you will not both be delivering a Journal to the same party. Of course if one of our agents is already delivering a Journal to one of your subscribers you will have to lose this subscription, but hold all you can. We hope you will take this opportunity to make more money than when you were handling the Sentinel."

Thus were men in the employ of the Sentinel—men whose names were obtained by the theft of the Sentinel's mailing list—urged to desert their employment for a price.

But this was not all. Not only were the Sentinel's lists of carriers and agents taken but likewise its mailing list of out-of-town subscribers. To these subscribers a form letter has been sent by the Journal-Gazette in which they are urged to switch over to the Journal-Gazette, the statement being made in this connection that are long the publishers of the News will attempt to "force the News into your home."

Now, of course, the publishers of the News and Sentinel have no objection to any legitimate effort that may be made by the publishers of the Journal-Gazette to induce people to take the latter paper, but they most seriously object to the use in such a campaign of lists stolen from the Sentinel office. In the absence of positive information, it is not charged that any employee of the Journal-Gazette stole these lists, but it is charged that they were stolen by some one and that the management of the Journal-Gazette knows that it is making use of stolen property. How the Journal-Gazette obtained the lists and what if anything it paid for them, cannot now be stated, but the circumstances that are known are enough to warrant the condemnation of the whole proceeding. He who knowingly uses stolen goods is no better than the man who stole them.

TOTAL MAY BE $18,000

Y. W. C. A. Met With Glorious
Success in Women's Campaign.

SOME SUBSCRIPTIONS NOT YET TURNED IN

Not Get Into the Game.

"We believe," said Miss May Jewell Smith, treasurer of the Fort Wayne Young Women's Christian association, "that the total for Allen county in the Y. W. C. A. campaign will reach $18,000. We are hoping, too, for reports of additional subscriptions from the outside counties."

The fact is, that Allen county, in the campaign which closed on Saturday evening, already has gone $1,153 over its quota of $15,000, and this condition assists materially to make up for the shortage in all of the other counties of the district, except Huntington, which came across nicely with its apportionment of $1,000. The total in Allen county, up to Monday morning was $17,153. Various obstacles prevented the success of the work in five of the counties. Some had not yet finished their Y. W. C. A. campaign. Others, because of the lack of time, could not be organized for the work. Organizers going from Fort Wayne would have lost the opportunity to work here and make the bigger success of the Allen county campaign.

WHEN A GERMAN IS NOT GERMAN IS MADE CLEAR

Washington, Nov. 26.—When a German is not a German is understood today by Alexander Fred Freisheim, one of those who sought to register as an alien under President Wilson's proclamation. He came here from Germany when he was five years old and Marshall Spain has advised him to his surprise that the fact that his mother after the death of his father married an American citizen, resulted automatically in her children becoming Americans. Authorities here say that while only 18 Germans who came to Washington after the declaration of war have registered their departure, many more have left for unknown destinations without taking the trouble to register.

All of the men in the camp have known for some time unofficially the rank which they will receive. Those who failed in their efforts to win the coveted commissions have been so informed and many of them have left the camp.

While the official roster of commissioned men will not be available for publication until after the commissions are awarded Tuesday, a comprehensive list has been secured.

The unofficial list with the name, address, rank and branch of service, and where available the point of assignment of each officer, from northeastern Indiana, follows:

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 26.—The police department today continued its inquiry into Saturday night's tragedy which resulted in the death of nine members of the police force and one other when a bomb, intended for the supposed destruction of the Italian Evangelical church exploded in the central police station where it had been brought for examination.

According to the police nothing has been uncovered to indicate the bomb's planting or the explosion had connection with any anarchists and anti-government activities.

The police pointed out today that if the Rev. August Galliana, pastor of the church, was the intended victim, the bomb planters erred, for Galliana was not in the city on Sunday when officials believed the infernal machine was timed to explode.

Galliana and some of his followers were expected to appear at the trial of eleven Italians Wednesday for the murder of two detectives who were killed in a labor riot several weeks ago.

As they were to be witnesses for the state the police believe Saturday's outrage had connection with their appearance at the trial.

A federal inquiry into the outrage was demanded by Congressman W. J. Carey in a telegram sent to A. Bruce Bielaski, chief of investigation department of justice at Washington.

Mr. Carey said he would introduce legislation when congress convenes in December to give the police department authority to investigate.

Summary of the Day's War News

British troops have captured the high ground in Boulton wood and now dominate the region about Cambrai. This success came after two days of the most vicious fighting and its importance is indicated in part by the fact that German traffic southeast of the Cambrai has been heavy the probability being that the civil population of the town has been removed.

General Byng's latest triumph was one of hard and heroic endeavor. In paying tribute to the third army Field Marshal Haig declares that the capture of the Boulton position "crowns a most successful operation and opens the way to the further exploitation of advantages already gained."

Apparently the British commander will push his advantage still further and besiege Cambrai, which is three miles to the east.

Boulton village, changed hands three times in the desperate fighting for the possession of it and the adjoining wood. Severe fighting continues there and the Germans, massing their best troops in efforts to retrieve the position which means all to the security of Cambrai, pressed back the British from parts of the village Sunday. Gen. Byng's men withstood attacks on the wood and held the high ground intact. There also has been heavy fighting west of Moeuvres, southeast of Cambrai.

In six days Gen. Byng and the third army have broken the Hindenburg line, taken a score of villages, secured the dominating position west of Cambrai and overrun territory equal in area to that gained in the first three months of the drive in the Ypres salient. Nearly 10,000 prisoners, 100 guns and much war material have been captured. More important still probably is the "further exploitation" to which Field Marshal Haig refers in his congratulatory message.

Around Verdun, the pivot point of the German line in France, there has been heavy fighting in which the French have been victorious. After repulsing a strong German attack on the right bank of the Meuse near hill 344, the French attacked the enemy on a front of more than two miles in the same region. They occupied the first and second German lines and captured more than 800 prisoners.

From Lake Garda to the Adriatic the Italians continue to hold the invading Austro-Germans in check. Finding it impossible to break through the line directly west of the Piave river, the enemy has been making very strong attacks on the Asiago plateau, where he was defeated last week in an attempt to encircle the important Monte Melita position. The fighting has been most severe, the Italians meeting attack with counter attack.

East of the plateau between the Brenta and the Piave only artillery has been active. Along the Piave the Germans are showing signs of activity.

FRANCO-BRITISH FORCES TO AID OF TIRED ITALY

and Supply Trains Within Sound

HAVE BEEN ON AN EIGHT-DAY MARCH

Italian Army Headquarters in Northern Italy, Sunday, Nov. 25.—(By the Associated Press.)—Solid ranks of Franco-British infantry with artillery and supply trains were seen by the correspondent today within sound of the battle on the Italian northern line. They had been on an eight day march.

The correspondent was on a tour of the northern fighting front where the great battle is continuing with unexampled violence. Maj. Gen. Dignorgio was found commanding the extreme left of the fourth army at the point where the fighting was heaviest.

Throughout yesterday and today the battle in the mountains has developed in a steady succession of heavy attacks and counter attacks with occasional brief intervals for re-forming the lines and re-organizing new positions.

Twelve consecutive assaults.

Twelve different enemy assaults have been made within a few hours preceding the correspondent's visit to headquarters on the field but the Italian lines have not yielded a foot of ground and Gen. Dignorgio, while grave because of the fierce struggle his men were making against tremendous odds, was calm and confident that the defensive line would hold until reinforcements were swung into the fighting. Staff officers from headquarters were taking the trip along the line and the route lay straight north into the fighting zone.

Soon there were evidences of a bitter struggle just ahead, for along the route long lines of Italian infantry, decimated in the last few days, were reforming to return to the fight. They showed the fearful strain they had been under, but there was no trace of wavering and the long lines showed a spirit of eagerness.

A Sight to Stir the Blood.

In another zone a sight which stirred the blood was when solid ranks of allied reinforcements crowded the roads.

Already they were within sound of the battle and off in the distance could be heard above the gallop of the cavalry, the tramp of the infantry and the clamor of the batteries and supply trains.

The French reinforcements were first seen in force. They were splendid looking young men. One of their officers with whom the correspondent talked and who had stripes earned by gallantry on his sleeve, said they had just arrived after a hard forced march, with others following. Soon these others came in view and for two miles the party passed through endless lines of French. There were squadrons of cavalry in the road and in the nearby fields, and long lines of troops with artillery trains and supplies. Field kitchens had been set up at one point and the midday meal was being served. The men looked in the best of condition.

DRY FORCES TO MAKE INVASION OF WASHINGTON

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—Preparatory to a drive on the new session of congress in the hope of forcing action on the proposed liquor prohibition amendment to the federal constitution "dry" advocates from all parts of the country will meet here next Sunday for the annual convention of the National Woman's Christian Temperance union. Speakers and guests announced today include William J. Bryan, Herbert Hoover, Representative Joannette Rankin, of Montana; Senator Sheppard, of Texas, and Representatives Webb, of North Carolina, and Randall, of California.

MAY DECLARE WAR ON GERMAN ALLIES IN COMING SESSION

Washington, Nov. 26.—Continued session of congress today featured the legislative program of the session of congress which is to open Dec. 3 and probably run on until autumn. In the opinion of leaders here today, in the wake of these right of way measures a host of others of domestic concern, like prohibition and woman suffrage, will be presented for consideration. Sentiment developed among representatives here in favor of a declaration of war against Germany's allies, Austria, Turkey and Bulgaria, doubtless will be strengthened by the party of a dozen or more members of congress about to return from a visit to the battle fronts in Europe. There is expectation at the capital that the president may deal with the subject in his opening address to the joint session of congress.

Bond issue plans and other proposed legislation will be talked over soon between the president and capital visitors.

MEETS DEATH IN ENGINE PIT

Mitoe Pap Vasiloff Instantly Killed at the Pennsylvania Round House. EVERY BONE IN HIS BODY IS BROKEN Engine Backs Onto Him While He is at Work—Native of Macedonia.

Mitoe Pap Vasiloff, thirty-two years old, was instantly killed Monday morning at 8:40 o'clock when engine 7512 backed onto him as he was attempting to get out of engine pit No. 23 at the Pennsylvania round house. Vasiloff was a round house pit cleaner and was at work in that capacity when the engine entered the round house. Instead of remaining in the pit, where he would have been safe, the unfortunate fellow tried to get out and was caught between the engine pilot and the sill supporting the round house floor at the end of the pit. His chest and head were horribly crushed and death was instantaneous. Y. Tocheff, the hostler at the throttle of the engine, did not see Vasiloff, but B. F. Hostetter and Miss Hettie Schultz, employees at the round house, did see him and called to him to lay down in the pit; but he either failed to understand them or did not hear them. Coroner J. E. McArdle was summoned and after viewing the remains at the round house, ordered them removed to the Schaefer & Aukerman undertaking parlors. Vasiloff began work at the round house November 2. He was a Macedonian and came to America with his wife some time ago, leaving two daughters in the old home in Macedonia, expecting to send for them later. Mr. and Mrs. Vasiloff resided at 106 Holman street, where the remains

OPENED INDOOR RANGE

Number of Marksmen Assemble to Prepare for Shoots.

Upwards of a dozen members of the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club assembled at the indoor range in the basement of the warehouse building at the General Electric works Saturday night to participate in the opening of the range for the season. The meeting had not been advertised in advance and the attendance was not up to expectations. However, there was considerable enthusiasm displayed by those who did show up and the indications point to a most aggressive and interesting series of shooting events during the winter. No records were made of the shooting Saturday night, the marksmen devoting their energies to getting gun sights adjusted and making other preparations for the season's work. Rifle shooting meets will be held Tuesday, Thursday and Saturday nights and revolver practice will take place on Wednesday night.

Although the Fort Wayne Rifle and Revolver club is a city organization, the greater portion of the members are employees of the General Electric works and the General Electric company approves it and aids it in every possible way, even to the extent of providing and equipping the indoor range, which is located in the basement of the warehouse building, No. 5. Four of the officers of the club are employees of the G. E. company, but they are selected by ballot and do not claim any privileges that are not granted to members not employed by the company. During the summer months the shooting is done on an outdoor range, under military rules and with military rifles and ammunition. The officers of the club are: President, E. A. Wagner; vice president, H. A. Hartman; secretary, George R. Gawohn; treasurer, C. J. Reuss; and executive officer, O. E. Archibald. All are G. E. employees except Mr. Reuss. The indoor range, it is said, has no equal in the state. The five targets are equipped with retrieving apparatus, by means of which the target may be brought to the marksmen and returned to its position at the will of the latter without leaving his bench, and the lighting arrangements are excellent.

G. E. BAND TO ENLARGE

Will Have Greatest Musical Organization in City. If plans contemplated are carried to a consummation, the General Electric Works' band will be the largest organization of its kind in the city in a week or two. The band holds a business session and rehearsal tonight and will probably take in eight or ten new members, bringing the membership up to over fifty. Several new marches, quicksteps and other kinds of musical numbers have been received and will be heard for the first time by Fort Wayne people at the next public gathering at which the band participates in a musical way.

NEW MEN AT WESTERN GAS.

Plant Is One of the Busiest in the City.

Many new men are being put on the pay roll of the Western Gas Construction company, the following six men having been put to work this morning by Superintendent W. C. Kayser of the plant: Otto Gaff, bonhamman; J. H. Dalley, machinist; J. August Salter, tool maker; Howard Jones, laborer; Charles A. Barton and Emil Volrol, as helpers. The Western Gas plant is at the present time one of the busiest concerns in the city, having orders on hand enough at the present time to keep it busy until late in the spring.

HAD 102 EXCURSIONISTS.

The special train on the Wabash yesterday for the benefit of the Wabash football team and its "rooters" brought in 102 passengers. The company expected 300, but because of the cold, only a trifle of one-third that number showed up. What they lacked in numbers, however, was more than made up in "rooting" and cheers. The train was in charge of Conductor H.

RETURNS TO WORK.

E. M. Gnaul, machinist apprentice at the Pennsylvania erecting shop, has returned to work after being on the sick list for the last three weeks, and G. W. L. Kline, machinist helper, of the same department, is also again to be seen performing his duties after a week's layoff for the same reason.

SHORT ON MECHANICS.

The scarcity of good machinists which is common to all industries, is particularly noticeable on the Wabash at present. While the local shops are supplied to the limit of the monthly expense appropriation, the shops at Peru, Detroit and Montpelier are badly in need of skilled workmen. All who apply here and are willing to go to either of the places mentioned are hired.

SURPRISES HIS PARENTS.

Thomas Fels, formerly employed at the Bowser plant, but now located at the government aviation field at Dayton, Ohio, surprised his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Fels, of 2105 John street, by paying them an unexpected visit over Sunday. Thomas, who was here on a furlough, claims that no one in the service of Uncle Sam has to fear starvation, as they get all they want and of the best, he added.

Dr. F. J. Schulz, Employment Agent W. F. Melching, Warehouse Superintendent R. O. Orff, Stockkeeper W. H. ## TRANSFERRED TO KALAMAZOO.

Floyd Stevens, clerk for Division Operator J. F. Betts, of the G. R. & I., who was sent to Kalamazoo a week or two ago, has received a regular appointment as third trick operator in the company's telegraph office and will remain there. His place in the office of Mr. Betts has been taken by Miss Tucker, an expert stenographer.

UNDER SURGEON'S KNIFE.

F. F. Woehner, chief clerk in the Wabash shop office, went to Decatur, Ill., this morning to submit to a surgical operation by the company's specialist for nasal troubles. The operation, while of much importance, is not dangerous and Mr. Woehner hopes to be able to resume his place at his desk soon.

L. M. Kilgore, of Pittsfield, Mass., is here in conference with the transformer engineers of the General Electric works. Mr. Kilgore is connected with the Pittsfield plant.

R. H. Chadwick, transformer engineer at the General Electric plant, left last night for Schenectady on business for the company which will keep him there three or four days.

E. L. Haffner, chief inspector of the apparatus department of the General Electric works, has returned from Schenectady, where he spent a week on business for the company.

C. Constantino, a laborer in the Pennsylvania erecting shop, is off duty for treatment for lame back. He was injured by lifting a heavy piece last Wednesday, but worked up to this morning, when he had to quit and seek medical aid.

Gerald Henline, who officiates as chauffeur on one of the industrial trucks at the Wall street buildings of the General Electric works, showed up for work there this morning accompanied by a box of cigars for the "boys." Henline was married last Thursday to a most estimable young lady.

A hose cart is being located in the warehouse building at the General Electric plant to give good protection against fire while the new building just west of the warehouse is being erected. The entrance to the warehouse is more or less obstructed on the west, but the entrances on the north and east sides are open and easy of access.

GOVERNMENT OPERATION

VICE PRESIDENTS CONSIDERING IT

Committee of Officials of the Road Arranging for the Pool.

Washington, Nov. 26.—Government operation of railways if the pooling plan does not afford relief from the present situation, was being considered here today as the committee of vice-presidents of eastern lines gathered to perfect general plans to put the pooling arrangements into effect.

Congressional action would be necessary if government operation were to be decided upon, but that has been discussed by officials who have been considering what steps would be necessary if the pooling plans should not relieve the congestion.

The operating committee of vice presidents which will serve under the general direction of the railroad war board met today with the board to work out details of the plan of pooling trackage and equipment of the eastern lines. They expected to announce a general plan of operation later.

Adopted as the most practicable suggestion advanced, the pooling plan will be operated entirely by the railroads themselves without government participation. If it produces results, further steps will not be necessary.

AND ST. JOHN GAFFNEY IS AMONG HIS FRIENDS

Former American Consul at Munich Helps Germans Edit Irish Paper.

Amsterdam, Nov. 26.—(Correspondence of the Associated Press.)—The first number of a new German review, the "Irishische Blätter" (Irish leaves), has just made its appearance in Berlin. It is published by the German-Irish society, which is under the presidency of Matthias Erzberger, assisted by Count Westarp and Baron von Richthoven. The editor of the journal is George Chatterton Hill, while St. John Gaffney, former American consul-general at Munich, is one of its directors.

The first number contains letters of congratulation and good wishes from General Ludendorff and Former Foreign Secretary Zimmermann. These are followed by the "Inaugural Address" of the German-Irish society, which says in part:

"The war has proved that Germany has very few friends. But the Irish have acted as friends at home as well as in the United States, and Germany must not underestimate the value of Irish friendship. From the beginning of the war the American Irish adopted the German cause with enthusiasm, and in alliance with the German-Americans, conducted a courageous fight for true neutrality."

"The formation of this society is to supply visible proof to the Irish in Ireland as well as in America of German gratitude and German sympathy. The heroic rebellion of 1916 still lives in the memory of all of us. The uprising in Dublin, during which 2,000 armed Irish defied a British force many times their superior, evoked lively interest in Germany for the Emerald Isle and all its inhabitants."

"The German-Irish society will devote its energies to reopening Ireland to the world, and especially to Germany. It will in every way further the progressive development of the Emerald Isle in the interest of the German as well as the Irish people."

HOLD CEREMONIES AT CAMP SHELBY

High School Sweethearts Wed Soldier Boys at the Hattiesburg Camp.

Hattiesburg, Miss., Nov. 26.—Soldiers of Camp Shelby are planning a home coming celebration for Private Malcom Fraze, Battery A, 137th field artillery and Glenn Meyer, Battery B, of the same regiment. The boys were married Thursday to Miss Meta Merz and Miss Esther Mertz, visitors from Kendallville. The ceremony was performed by Chaplain M. Eakins, and Colonel G. W. Freyermuth, regimental commander, gave the brides away.

The young ladies are residents of Kendallville and although a few intimate friends knew of their intentions when they left with the Fort Wayne party for the camp Thursday, their marriage came as a decided surprise to the most of them. The four young people are widely known in Kendallville, having but recently graduated from the high school at that place.

The young husbands obtained five days leave of absence and left after their wedding for Gulfport to spend their honeymoon. The brides, will upon their return remain in Hattiesburg until their husbands are called for foreign service.

Emma Schlegel in Serious Condition at Home of Mrs.
Nelson in Monroe.

Decatur, Ind., Nov. 26.—An unfortunate girl, Emma Schlegel, eighteen-year-old daughter of the late Sam Schlegel, is lying at the point of death at the home of Mrs. Nelson, at Monroe, where she has made her home for eight years. Her condition is believed to be the result of a criminal operation performed by a Fort Wayne physician. The girl had been at Fort Wayne for a month and came to Monroe a few days ago, since which time she has been quite ill. Friday a man was seen about the house peering into the windows. He was brought here last night by William Scherer, and with whom he made arrangements to bring the girl here Saturday morning and put her on the 8 o'clock car. Instead of doing this Scherer started an investigation which revealed the serious condition of the girl. Saturday morning Bob Andrews and Mr. Scherer went to Fort Wayne on the car which was supposed to take the girl there. The man, whose name is said to be Davis Brown, who is about forty years old, and said to have a wife and four children, got on the car just inside the city limits at Fort Wayne. He was brought back to Monroe by the officers and a charge of assault placed against him. He seemed anxious to settle and as the offense, if one, was committed in Allen county, it was decided that he could not be held unless the girl should die and Brown was released. Monroe people are greatly incensed over the affair and declare they will see that the man and the doctor are prosecuted. Brown paid the expenses of the men who brought him here and he returned to Fort Wayne this afternoon.

COMEDIES OF CAMP ZACHARY TAYLOR

"Could you tell me where's the guard house, captain?"
"Right over there. Why?"
"Oh, I just thought I'd better know—I'm the guard."

Markowitz makes noise enough with the lugie, but I don't believe he'll ever get out of the swing he used to use on the fishwagon.

So! We maintain a "secret service department," DO WE?

"Aho, mate, where's the K-33?" (Street corner.)
"Don't ask me—I ain't the harbor-master, and I haven't seen no sub-marines."

"Good-night, Herb—we're in wrong. We ain't got this crick on our map." "Aw, we made that map before the rain."

How do you spell 'financially,' Herb?"
"F, i, n, a, n, c, i, a, l, l, y; and they's two R's in 'embarrassed'."

That six-inch grade at the end of the cantonment grade looked like Etxtry; this to select Simmons after four hours' tramping.

War correspondence and his own opportunity to report actual casualties among the selective service men!

AND A WOMAN SAW IT FIRST.

We are getting pretty well settled into the fashion of wheatless days and meatless days. We have had premonitory symptoms of sweetless days and fatless days.

But it has remained for a woman to put up squarely to the superior male animal that the thing for him to do is to subject himself to a smokeless day. Dr. Anna Howard Shaw, dean of the suffragists and one of the best known women on this whirling old ball, tells the men folks to cut out their pipes and cheroots for one whole round of the clock each week and make it a "smokeless Friday."

Bully for Dr. Shaw. She has said something worth saying. The conservation of smoke will be almost as good as the prevention of smoke. Every American smoker, laying off from the weed for one day a week, can make it as certain as the next sunrise that every American smoker with our armies in France and on the decks of our fleets can smoke, if not as much as he likes, certainly as much as is good for him.

And that is the big idea. The pleading of the soldiers for tobacco is no affectation. There is nothing that ministers so much to their comfort and contentment as a regular and sufficient allotment of tobacco. The officers and the medical men of all the armies join in the testimony that the fighting men should have liberal tobacco rations. They stick closer to the job and fight harder when the supply is ample.

The only way the American soldiers on the other side can get plenty of tobacco is through the generosity and thoughtfulness of the American public. Much the same is true in the camps and cantonments, though the dearth of tobacco and the difficulty of procuring familiar grades and brands is nowhere so difficult as in France. An American smoker who is doing his bit in some other way than fighting can add a precious lot to that bit by making a regular weekly contribution to the tobacco supplies of the soldiers. If you do not want to go smokeless for a day make the equivalent of a day's consumption of tobacco your donation and stick to it while the war lasts.

Dr. Shaw has made a fine suggestion and it ought to take hold at once and tenaciously. The more you love the carresses of Lady Nicotine, yourself the more you will appreciate what it must mean to a soldier smoker way over in France to be deprived or even curtailed in respect of tobacco.

BUYING UP THE REDS.

A newspaper in Geneva, Switzerland, suggests that the allies bribe Lenin, the leader of the Bolsheviks, before Germany gets him fast—taking the view that if he is to be bought it will be better that he be bound by corruption to the cause of democracy than that he become the mercenary of Prussianism.

Appearances are not wanting that this is precisely what Lenin and his closer following are after. It is stated for an almost authenticated fact that he was pressed into service of the Prussian cause almost as soon as the Russian revolution created a field for the operations of an agent of his character. He entered Russia through Germany and his entire course has been consistently directed to the purpose of getting Russia out of the war. All's fair in war, and it would perhaps be less reprehensible for the allies to buy Russia's continuance in the war, if Lenin and other sordid hucksters have her on the block, than that they should permit her to be knocked off to the kaiser—the more so, since it will be wholly to the interest of rational democracy in Russia that the nation be united in some cause and especially in a "safety first" cause, than that the nation be swung about to the advantage of the worst of all its enemies.

The trouble with buying Lenin, Trotzky and their sort, however, is that they would scarcely stay bought. They seem to be attempting to drive a hard bargain now with someone—no doubt with the kaiser. A higher price than William can afford to pay quite certainly would pull the little crowd the other way and make them ready to negotiate for a better figure. Business is business, even with dynamiters of the altruistic breed, and money talks whether negotiating with a trader for a spavined mare or a nest of traitors for a nation, its armies and the loyal performance of its international obligations.

Of course, in suggesting that Lenin be bought it is implied that your dearly beloved Uncle Samuel finance the corruption. Toting an awful handicap of easy money, your uncle ought to be relieved. That would take well no doubt with Uncle Sam's allies, with the inner circle of the Bolshevik Patriotic league and perhaps with the kaiser. America is away off over here where he doesn't have to be looked in the face and it is much less a reproach to skin a wealthy cuss than to frisk a poor one. Moreover it pays better, besides holding out some sort of promise that after investing in the pretty soap that the big bank-note is wrapped in Uncle Sam might prove a likely prospect for the negotiation of a gold brick. Otherwise, small the odds will be to Lenin as to whom he skins—being no doubt an impartial man—and little more to the kaiser, who perhaps feels that having once corrupted this patriot he will know even better how to do it a second time.

In any event, we believe there should be caution and slow-going in buying Russia back into the war through the corruption of the anointed Bolsheviks. There are experienced men in the country who can be better entrusted with the management of a task so delicate and so involved in risks than any diplomats or other government agents. There are some who know how to buy in such a market and make the purchase stay bought.

AT ONCE OR NOT AT ALL.

Those who have not yet forwarded to the east any presents they may purpose to send to American soldiers in France will have to act at once if they wish to make sure their remembrances will reach the other side in time for the distribution at Christmas.

Packages received in Hoboken, N. J., after the first of December may have no chance at all to get into the Christmas ships. The war department has made all possible arrangements to insure departure in time to permit the vessels to reach the French coast and be distributed to the trenches and wherever else Americans may be billeted, and Christmas packages will have to be at the port of departure before those vessels sail or await later sailings.

Christmas will doubly be Christmas to the boys on the other side if the remembrances from family and friends come to their hands in time to be a part of their cheer on Christendom's great festival day. There is no time now to be spared by such as have neglected the forwarding of their packages. Already the crush of traffic by mail and express is beginning to manifest itself. Transportation is badly congested and everything that must be moved is exposed to uncommon risk of delay. It will be well for the negligent to consider that about the last call is being sounded. Another day or two of delay will perhaps make it impossible for them to get their Christmas packages for soldiers in France on board the Santa Claus ships. Do it at once.

Two grade crossing accidents in Indiana yesterday cost the lives of five or six motorists. The old story tells the new tales. Each driver took a chance and it was a fatal one. There is no virtue in preaching safety first and the stop-look-listen propaganda. Safety first has no standing against the joy of skimming right along over the road and giving a grade crossing the laugh. To stop, look and listen takes time. It requires the halting of the machine and may in rare instances have the annoying accompaniment of a "dead engine." Not on your life. Most of the time there are no trains disputing the grade-crossings with motor cars, so most of the time there is a waste of precious minutes and the interruption of intoxicating speed stopping to look and listen—while a grade-crossing upon which no train is bearing down is perfectly safe; safe as any spot in the road.

And did that near-zero sample of weather last night make you consider that in the softer days you just couldn't close the furnace draft?

There are many fine substitutes for Thanksgiving turkey, but most of them are no cheaper and some of them are barred by the Hoover statutes.

Along the little hamlet streets the jar
Of distant guarding guns told naught of war.
But when the vict'ry-echo, like a tide,
Swept through its quiet streets, there rose a shout
That shattered to the silent wastes of white,
And answered through the thin and icy air
To that high call that whispered of the rout
Of hostile arms. And onward through the fight
Two echoes mingled on the glacier bare.

We Might be Prussians, But Are We?

BY EDMUND VANCE COOKE.
"But for the grace of God, there goes Isaac Watts."

The statement has been attributed to several theologians, but Watts will serve. The story is that the speaker saw a drunken vagabond pass by on his way to the gallows, and, though the speaker had never been accused of criminal tendencies, he recognized the essential unity of the human race in his charitable exclamation.

Similarly, some charitable people are still excusing the heinous offenses of Prussian autocracy and militarism by saying that German civilization is as high as ours, and that therefore we would do the same the Germans have done had we been in the same situation as Germany was and is.

Now, there is a deep truth in the assertion of Dr. Watts and of the German apologists. Given the heredity and the environment of the vagabond, and Dr. Watts might have been on his way to the gallows. Given an emperor "by Divine right," a reichstag without any actual governing power, a bunderath with the real governing power, and the kaiser in control of that, a militaristic training of generations until respect for authority and the impulse to obey were second nature; given a philosophy carefully fostered by every educational influence (from primer class to university) that the state is supreme and is beyond all moral law, and that therefore the orders of the state expressed through its army are to be carried out implicitly; given the training of child, father, and grandfather that war is man's natural state and is God's way in the world, that our kultur is supreme and must be enforced upon the world for its betterment and ours—given this background, there is no reasonable doubt that you and I would be Prussianized, that the kaiser would appear to us like the leading member of the Trinity; and that schrecklichkeit would be his prophet and his instrument.

Well, Germany has gone down the highway of the nations and, "civilized" though she be, she has acted like some sort of a maniac. We might have done the same, but we didn't. Watts might have been the gallows bird, but he wasn't. When we shoot Nurse Cavells, when we execute Capt. Fryes, when we bomb schoolhouses and hospitals, when we use our diplomats stationed under the protection of a friendly power to hatch schemes to burn and slay, and while professing friendship in words plot to array enemies against her, when we adopt the watchword "Spurs ver-senkt"—when we do these things, not as individual criminals, but as expressions of governmental policy, then maybe there will be some democratized Germany to call us to account.

WHAT'S A WOUND?

Wounds are not nearly so serious as most civilians suppose. To a healthy young man a bullet's flight through arm or leg usually means nothing worse than sitting around reading books or magazines in the base hospital for a while. For that modern surgery may be thankful, that and sanitation exports.

Colonel C. Deric, physician of the French army, now in this country, carries scars of 97 wounds, and still has 10 fragments of shell in his body. Recently he pointed to himself before the clinical congress of surgeons in session at Chicago as an example of what medical science is accomplishing at the front.

"Though they said could not live, I still have enough life to be able to go back again to the service of my country," he said. "To be wounded a few times doesn't mean much to a soldier over there."

By an unprecedented bit of daring surgery, Dr. John C. Calhoun, of Pittsburg, one of the officers in charge of the base hospital in Mont-gomery, Ala., has saved a life for Uncle Sam and has written a new chapter in the history of war surgery.

The mangled soldier was taken to a hospital and Lieutenant Calhoun was summoned. The lung was sewn up and the broken parts set. Now the soldier is walking about waiting for his arm to heal before resuming active service.

quiet, uneasiness, doubt. Mr. So-and-So, hearing other men "of standing" quoted night, with profit, takes the lesson unto himself.

THEY DID IT.

(Association Men.)
The colonel, commanding the troops at Transport, Australia, has said that this card posted everywhere on the troop ships and it is used in the addresses and talks of the transport secretaries:

"Say, fellows, let's be the kind of men our mothers think we are," has practically eliminated rough language and indecent talk among the soldiers on board ship. One posted that the soldiers could not stand, however, and asked to have taken down was:

"If you use bad language at home, use it here. We want you to feel at home."
The sting was so keen and the rebuke so sharp that it was removed, but not forgotten. The soldiers said, "if you will keep your other motto, 'talk clean, live clean, fight clean, play the game,' we will undertake for ourselves and our associates to drop bad language of all kinds," and they did it.

JAPANESE SHIP-BUILDING REVIVAL

(East and West News.)
Acting on encouragement given to Viscount Ishii at Washington regarding the partial lease of supplies of steel plates from the United States, Japanese shipbuilding is proceeding with its former activity. Fifty-three more chanties, having an aggregate tonnage of 322,000, are now building in twelve yards—not including many other vessels under way in smaller private concerns. If the supply of steel from the United States and, later, from home mills with the use of Chinese ores, can be secured, Japan will turn out 600,000 tons of merchant ships annually. With projected expansion of existing plants, this output will be increased to 1,000,000 tons per year. Fortunately most of the leading shipbuilders have twelve months' stock on hand, so that they can wait for foreign help to Japan.

FROM THE SENTINEL PAGES 25 YEARS AGO

Young, the electric light employe who was so badly hurt by falling from an electric light tower in Bloomingdale not long ago, is slowly recovering. It is a miracle that Young was not killed outright, as he fell a distance of over fifty feet. Dr. Stemen says his condition is now very favorable.

Eddie, the 12-year-old son of Henry F. Kiel, the special policeman, met with a serious accident yesterday afternoon. Eddie resides with his parents at No. 264 South Webster street, and was on his way home from the Emmanuel Lutheran school. He stopped to play on the Pennsylvania railroad tracks near Broadway. He attempted to climb on a box car and fell under the wheels. His right leg was crushed by a fearful manner below the knee. Last night about 11 o'clock Drs. Nie-schang and Rosenthal concluded to amputate the leg, which was done just above the knee. At last account he was resting easy.

Late yesterday afternoon while Louis Schroeder was walking along the railroad track near the Lafayette street crossing, he met with a serious accident. He had left his residence on Oliver street to go down town and took a short cut on the railroad tracks. A passing engine on the Pennsylvania road was blowing off a great cloud of steam, to escape which Schroeder stepped onto another track. As he did this he was struck by a Grand Rapids & Indiana passenger train from the south. The engine struck him and hurled him under the wheels of the Pennsylvania switch engine. His right side was fearfully bruised and his right arm crushed beneath the wheels. He was taken to the St. Joseph hospital in the patrol wagon. At the hospital the arm was amputated at the shoulder by Drs. Stemen. The injured man is only twenty years of age, and was on a visit to this city from Bremen, Ohio. He was the guest of his brothers-in-law, Messrs. H. W. Tracht, Louis Leumann and H. Schulte.

Uncle Harry Tells About The New Plan For Drafting Soldiers

"Yes, there will be, the paper said so." "No, I think you're mistaken; that was finished last summer." "But they'll have to if they want to get more soldiers." "What's all this about 'they will' and 'they won't'?" said Uncle Harry as he stepped into the livingroom. He had arrived as Jimmy and Joe were in the midst of a lively discussion. "They're talking about a second draft," explained Helen. "I told them to wait until you arrived and that you'd settle it."

Classifying All Men Who Registered

"Well, isn't there going to be a second draft?" said Joe. "And the government's going to call the older men?"

"Part right and part wrong," said Uncle Harry. "There probably will be a second draft, but it is not going to be among the older men. The second draft will be among those who were called and registered last June—the men between 21 and 31 years. There has been a great deal of talk about this second draft and judging from some of the discussions I have heard on the cars and in other places many people seemed to be confused on the subject."

"I'm not sure that I understand it," said Helen. "I wish you'd explain it to us."

"All right, and we'll begin with a little history," said Uncle Harry. "Last spring congress passed the law providing for the draft. Under the law, all men between 21 and 31 years were required to register, and registration day was held last June. Later, you remember, all the men were given numbers, and each number was placed in a capsule and the capsules were put in a big bowl, down in Washington, and drawn out one by one, and as the numbers were drawn, they were written down and later the men were called for examination in the order in which their names were drawn."

"There were about ten million men within the draft age, weren't there?" asked Helen.

"What's become of the nine million or more who weren't drafted?" asked Joe.

"Now we're getting to the second draft," said Uncle Harry. "Many of the men who were examined during the summer and autumn were found by the doctors to be physically unfit for military service, and many others were exempted, or excused, because they had wives and children dependent on them. But there were also a good many whose names were among the last to be drawn from the big bowl last spring, and these, to a very large extent, will be the ones called on the second draft."

"Will the government be putting names in capsules and drawing them out of a bowl?" asked Jimmy.

"No, a new plan will be used on the second draft," explained Uncle Harry. "In a week or so a questionnaire—that is, a sheet of paper containing a number of questions, will be sent to every man who registered last June. The men will answer the questions and send their replies to the government. With the information given in the answers the government will divide all the men into five classes. The first class will include practically all the unmarried men. The second, third and fourth classes will consist of those men who have families dependent on them or who for other reasons are not so free to be drafted as the men in the first class. The fifth class takes in public officials, men who are already in some branch of the army and navy, ministers, and all others who are not subject to army service."

"When will this second draft be made?" asked Joe.

"Not until after the first of the new year, and probably not until the middle of February," said Uncle Harry.

"It is going to be a big job to collect all the answers from the nine million and more men, classify each man correctly and attend to all the other things that must be done."

"How many men will be called on this second draft?" asked Jimmy.

"Probably 500,000," answered Uncle Harry, "and that will bring the total number of Uncle Sam's fighting men up to about 2,500,000. There are more than 1,700,000 in all the different branches of the army now, and more than 270,000 in the navy. And of course, if the war continues, and the need for men increases, there will be additional drafts; but right now, plans are only being made for the second draft."

A few minutes later as Uncle Harry was putting on his coat he remembered that Thursday would be Thanksgiving day, so he said:

"How about holding our meeting Wednesday evening, and making Thursday a holiday, so we won't have anything to think about but turkey and cranberry sauce. How about it?" And so it was immediately moved and seconded and "carried" that Uncle Harry should come around both Wednesday and Thursday evenings, but that he should give his talk on Wednesday.

Editor's Note—Uncle Harry will be glad to answer inquiries, either in this column or by mail, provided letters are signed with the full name and address of the persons writing. The correspondents' names will not appear in the articles.

Books Are An Investment

NONE OTHER SO PROFITABLE.

Of a voracious reader 'twas said that he put so many books on his head that his brain couldn't move—a paraphrase, probably, of Pope's oft-quoted "with loads of learned lumber in his head."

Few of us, however, need worry on that score. We don't read enough—at least, of the right sort. We starve our brains.

In much of the current fiction, or the daily press, there's mighty poor nourishment.

All right for entree; all wrong for steady diet.

Why not read good books—books that have stood the test of time?

We have them—as well as the more popular kinds—and at right prices, all.

All the good new books are here.

Books for young folks, 35c each

Popular copyrights, the latest fiction, 60c each

Dolls

Little eyes are brightening already in expectation of a nice Doll for Christmas. They are daily thronging our doll show on the 3rd floor picking out the light haired, blue eyed, or the brown haired, brown eyed beauty they want to see Santa Claus bring them. Notwithstanding the trouble in the home of doll making, we are showing our usual variety of handsome dolls, and prices are no higher. Everything in dolls. The prices range from 25c to $15.

RAILROADS TO HELP

FOOD CONSERVATION

Will Make Daily Reports of Every Car of Delayed Foodstuffs.

Chicago, Nov. 26.—In this city—the world's greatest railway and food center—went into effect today a far-reaching plan designed by the railroads and the food administration to conserve railway equipment and foodstuffs.

Hereafter every railroad entering Chicago will make a daily report to the food administration of every car of vegetables and other perishable foodstuff which has been delayed three days or over, either awaiting unloading or reclassification or other disposition. This report will show the car initial and number, point of shipment, date shipped, name of shipper, contents, date of arrival, yard or track where held, name of consignee, destination for delivery and why car is held.

In all cases reported by the railroads of undue detention of cars so loaded, the food administration and other government agencies will first definitely fix the responsibility for the detention and then take such steps as may be necessary to remedy conditions and prevent their recurrence by the offenders.

The chief results which it is believed the new plan will accomplish are:

The prompt unloading of cars containing perishable foodstuffs.

The prevention of similar loss at shipping points because of lack of transportation facilities, owing to the undue detention elsewhere of loaded cars of perishable foodstuff.

An increase in the amount of railway cars available for moving foodstuffs and other commodities necessary for the public and national welfare.

Another important object of this latest conservation plan is the systematic salvaging of all food fit for human use, from shipments which have become damaged in transit by causes beyond the control of anybody, such as the unseasonable freezing weather last month which damaged potatoes in transit in certain sections.

All railroads centering in Chicago will daily place at certain freight terminals or yards cars containing damaged foodstuff which have been refused by the consignees. Under the inspection of the railroads, the food administration and the city health department, this damaged food will be carefully sorted by agents of the Salvation Army, the Volunteers of America and the accredited charitable organizations of the city. All the food that is fit for human consumption will thus be saved and go to those in greatest need of it. All that is worthless for food will be hauled away daily by the railroads and dumped where it will do no harm.

At the special meeting of the Chicago Car Service committee of the railroads' war board, at which the new plan for avoiding waste of food and freight cars was adopted, R. L. Evans, of the food administration, said:

"Through grossly exaggerated statements published about frozen potatoes which were hauled to railroad dumps in this vicinity, a lot of people got the idea that there was a gigantic conspiracy to boost prices by the wholesale destruction of food. A thorough investigation by federal officers proved the falsity of such allegations. Neither the railroads, the shippers nor the buyers of potatoes are to blame for a December freeze which came in October, when nobody expected it, during the movement of the biggest potato crop ever produced."

Sixteen children, both boys and girls, enjoyed celebrating Master Wayne Hackett's birthday anniversary this afternoon at his home in West Berry street, with his little niece, Mary Alice Johnson, of Los Angeles, an honor guest. Lovely things suggesting the holiday of the week were on every hand, such as yellow pumpkins and chocolate color turkeys of ice cream, and a cake with seven candles to match in color, and little favors that also suggested the approach of Thanksgiving. Mrs. Johnson, Mary Alice's mother, told stories. One of the games was to hunt hidden kernels of corn and another was to pin the missing feather to the pictured turkey's tail. The table was laid at supper time with a real supper of good things and decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums.

On Saturday evening friends of Harold Norton, of 1723 Sherman street, reminded him of having a birthday by giving him a surprise party. The evening was spent in playing games and other amusement. At the luncheon hour the table was loaded with good things to eat not forgetting the big birthday cake. Those present to enjoy the fast were Ruth Orr, Vera Archer, Blanche Norton, Bernice Porter, Edith Voight, Mary Zureith and Florence Campbell, of Ari, Ind.; Russell Davis, Lewis Gifford, Douglas Seely, George Schoenherr, Burle Smith, Paul Geary, Royce Gifford, Forrest Norton and Harold Norton.

This Sturdy Coat of Wood and Fur

BETTY BROWN.

Silks, velvets and satins are beautiful to see and pleasing to wear but with winter we gladly abandon the blandishments of silk for the solid comfort of wool and fur. Here is shown a coat which convinces one that who enters its confines leaves chills behind. Of soft, heavy wool velour, with broad loose belt and substantial collar, this coat is further reinforced with fur at the collar and cuffs, and a bit at the hem. Pockets are cleverly inset at the side front seam and the fastening is at the side—the most popular place for any garment to fasten just now, from organdie collar to ulster coat.

ant. Miss Marjorie Mahurin, who came home from Chicago university on Friday evening for a short visit, left this morning with her sister.

Miss Katherine Favery, who is to be a bride on Thursday, was surprised by a number of friends on Friday evening at her home, 1911 South Webster street. Mrs. W. McEvoy planned the party and "led the procession" as they wended their way to Miss Favery's home. Yellow and white chrysanthemums were the decorations.

Dr. and Mrs. J. H. Gilpin left at noon today for Tacoma, Wash., where the doctor, who is now a captain in the medical service of his country, has been sent to Camp Lewis. Mrs. Gilpin has been staying at the Bruggeman home since packing her household furnishings, preparatory to going west.

Jefferson P. T. Club's New Work.

Forty mothers of the Jefferson school Parent-Teacher club met at the school on Friday afternoon to sew for the Red Cross. The women worked for three hours and at the end of that time had turned in over sixty finished garments. At 3 o'clock, the hour the pupils are usually dismissed for regular parent-teacher meetings, many of the mothers took occasion to visit and taught the children how to sew and knit. Some of the children sewed blocks and others made bed slippers. The meetings will be held throughout the year on the second Friday of each school month.

CHEERFUL MOTTOES APPEAR IN ATTRACTIVE FORMS.

Cheerful little motto signs for the house are made up in brown wood with cord attached, by which they may be "hanged." One motto reads as follows:

"Old friends are the best friends, Their welcome rings out true; When others pass you onward, 'You'll find they'll stick to you.'"

These mottoes play a leading part in a recently released "movie." In the old-fashioned house of her aunt, Rebecca, forbidden a piece of juicy blackberry pie, is ordered to carry it to the kitchen. There temptation overcomes her, and in the act of taking a stolen bite, she sees the motto above the kitchen door, "Thou shalt not steal." Slowly and reluctantly she replaces the plate upon the table—and makes for the dining room. And then above the dining room door she sees another sign, "God help those who help themselves." And Rebecca, wreathed in smiles, returns to the pie on the kitchen table.

AN INTERESTING NEW GIFT SHOP

(The Steele-Myers Gift Shop.)

WITH THE OPENING of their Gift Shop, the Steele-Myers company has added the finishing touch to their lovely store. The word, Gift Shop, suggest an old, old maxim, "It is more blessed to give than receive," and one feels the force of this when tempted by the lovely things on display. We are all thinking more of some one else nowadays, we're all doing something for some one. We just will give presents! And if we must, of necessity, be more economical in our spending, where in the world will we find so good a selection of gifts for everyone at a price that suits everyone as in a gift shop?

With the Christmas season so near, one is happy enough to loiter in such a fascinating spot. After all, a gift shop is a very sociable place too, where one may just look around and enjoy the new things; and they are so delightfully different this year.

For the little Miss who just lives in her world of Make Believe, we found Peter Rabbit all dressed up in his little blue coat, and Puss-in-Boots, wearing the most wonderful pair of real rubber boots, and Little Red Riding Hood ready to start for her grandmother's. Then we found Jane Elizabeth, too. She's the most lovable rag dolly. And Mary Lucille—well, we can hardly blame the child for being proud of her wonderfully tinted complexion, especially when Peter Van Pelt insists on gazing adoringly in her direction.

There's a lovely color note to the Gift Shop—given perhaps by the number of wonderfully painted gifts. You know women folks just adore Hand Paint. Fancy a great, old-fashioned palm fan—enameled black, decorated with bright flowers and set in a holder for a light screen. Or a gayly decorated hearth broom; with the return into favor of the old-fashioned fireplace, a hearth broom is really a necessity. Then there are stenciled trays and gayly decorated flower pot holders and fenders, wood baskets and—well, no end to painted gifts.

Candle sticks find a welcome place in any home and when they hold wonderful handmade "dips" it is small wonder that everyone wants them. An unusual desk lamp appeals to the most fastidious and the whole family may enjoy a lamp for the living room. The work basket plays an important part in every woman's life nowadays, so why not own one that combines beauty and utility?

The Oriental influence is noted too, in the Gift Shop. Chinese embroideries are particularly attractive, especially when used for covering tea caddies or containers for beauty lotions on lady's toilet table.

And you who love the beautiful—there's a delightful surprise in store for you; we found Rookwood Pottery, that exquisite American creation. A delightful collection is in the Gift Shop, and right near it a few pieces of rare Ruskin Eggshell ware, from England. We might go on and on telling about this delightful place where practical gifts are no longer homely. It was certainly a real treat to spend a half hour there.

Magpie Gown is of Black and White

BY BETTY BROWN.

One has heard so long of gowns that are "absolutely different"—but here it is. This gown is like nothing mentioned in the bright lexicon of clothes, but there is that in its sharp whiteness and its extreme blackness which suggests the smartness of the magpie. The upper part, a sort of combination of bodice and coat, is of heavy white silk, subtly embroidered in pale colors and black. The skirt, sash, and soft, loose collar are of black satin and the curious black and white shoes complete the striking costume.

Poor Food is Spreading Disease Rapidly in German Empire.

WINTER FINDS A FUEL SCARCITY

(Special Dispatch from Milton Bronner, of our Washington Bureau.)

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—If there is one question more than another that has been asked about Germany since we went to war with that power, it is—how are things inside the empire with reference to food, fuel and manufacturing facilities?

The answer is three-fold:

1.—People are not starving, but they are so near to it that diseases brought on by malnutrition are on the increase.

2.—Germany has plenty of coal mines, but the rolling stock of the railways have compelled an economy with fuel hitherto unknown in Germany.

3.—Americans worrying about the tremendous food of German-made goods that is being accumulated in warehouses against the day when it can be poured into this country, should calm themselves. Germany hasn't the labor to carry on her peace-time manufactures, and even if she had, she hasn't the necessary raw materials, such as wool, cotton and the various metals.

I have culled these things from documents which the British government gets out for the information of its own officials. Every effort is made to get the accurate news as the British do not want to befooled themselves.

Few of these publications came to this country. One set is sent to the state department, which never lets go of anything of the sort for the benefit of newspaper men.

The British government not only has a staff of men who carefully comb all enemy papers and letters for news of what is going on inside Germany, but also watch papers printed in adjoining neutral countries.

France and Serbia also have a similar information service. We have not yet established one.

To bolster up the German people and to make the enemy feel bad, German Minister for Food Control Muller recently submitted to an interview in which he made the surprising statement that the year's yield of agricultural products was only 1 per cent. less than before the war.

He said this was due to artificial manure. Potash is plentiful and salt-petre is extracted from the air. He admitted the lack of labor was serious, but farmers had overcome it. Fodder scarcity had not caused notable reduction of cattle since the war began, he said, and there had even been an increase since July 1, 1916, although the milk supply had been considered reduced. The number of swine had been reduced and were of inferior quality. The harvests were better than expected. The oats crop would more than supply the enormous demands of the army. In East Germany the barley, rye and wheat crops were fairly good. In middle Germany they were unsatisfactory, but in south Germany they were exceedingly good. The potato crop would break the record. The late vegetable and south German fruit crops were both good.

He concluded by saying that Germany was better prepared to meet the winter than for the past two years. Let's see how this checks up with other facts.

It was allowed to be published in Berlin, Oct. 2, that the eight weeks from mid-June to mid-August had been very difficult for the people, especially in Berlin, Hamburg, Frankfurt, Cologne, Dusseldorf, Stettin, Dresden and Leipzig.

It was stated that the food conditions had now improved and that the bread ration had been increased. But the meat ration was reduced to half a pound a week.

On Oct. 5 the Weser Zeitung announced that latest statistics made necessary the mixing of bread with potatoes in order to make bread suffice until next year. Until November the flour ration would be 220 grammes. From then on it would be 200 grammes, with an addition of 20 grammes of potatoes.

The present grinding percentage between grain and our 94 per cent. must be maintained.

In other words real flour, such as we know it, is not allowed in Germany. Practically the entire grain is utilized. It was stated that if the wheat crop exceeded expectations, it would not be used to increase the flour ration, but to reduce the grinding percentage so as to get more bran for cattle.

On Oct. 8 there was a query in the Reichstag as to the use of barley for beer. A representative of the government stated that next year beer would be limited to what was necessary, but the chancellor was not prepared to reduce it further out of regard to the feeling of the populace.

On Oct. 15 a considerable increase in prices of wheat and rye flour was announced, thus increasing the price of bread.

It was announced that in the future communities would receive less bread and must substitute potatoes. At the same time there appeared in some of the papers becoming more precarious in Berlin, Hesse, Bavaria and Saxony, that the milk and egg supply was decreasing, that there was a shortage in fish, and that sugar was hard to get.

Malnutrition leads to epidemics of dysentery, tuberculosis, cholera and hunger typhus. These are all reported in the papers.

In Munich last year the births were only 8,400 and the deaths 12,400. The year before the war the births were 12,900 and the deaths 9,700.

On Sept. 30 Wallmann's Versicherungs Zeitschrift said bluntly: "Look at the people in the street; look at the hollow cheeks and big collars, and one cannot possibly be deceived. Ask any doctor or read the reviews of insurance companies and you will find the effect of malnutrition."

"The danger is that the mortality among the civil population is now competing with that at the front."

"It will be of no avail to try to satisfy oneself by lies and by closing one's eyes. It is a great wrong to conceal these facts from the population. Tuberculosis, which has been so successfully combated in recent years, now raises its head in a threatening manner as the result of the general shortage."

Forwaerts comments on the unusually high infant mortality this year, pointing out that it is 7 per cent. higher than last year and is largely

Fodder scarcity had not caused notable reduction of cattle since the war began, he said, and there had even been an increase since July 1, 1916, although the milk supply had been considered reduced. The number of swine had been reduced and were of inferior quality. The harvests were better than expected. The oats crop would more than supply the enormous demands of the army. In East Germany the barley, rye and wheat crops were fairly good. In middle Germany they were unsatisfactory, but in south Germany they were exceedingly good. The potato crop would break the record. The late vegetable and south German fruit crops were both good.

He concluded by saying that Germany was better prepared to meet the winter than for the past two years. Let's see how this checks up with other facts.

It was allowed to be published in Berlin, Oct. 2, that the eight weeks from mid-June to mid-August had been very difficult for the people, especially in Berlin, Hamburg, Frankfurt, Cologne, Dusseldorf, Stettin, Dresden and Leipzig.

It was stated that the food conditions had now improved and that the bread ration had been increased. But the meat ration was reduced to half a pound a week.

On Oct. 5 the Weser Zeitung announced that latest statistics made necessary the mixing of bread with potatoes in order to make bread suffice until next year. Until November the flour ration would be 220 grammes. From then on it would be 200 grammes, with an addition of 20 grammes of potatoes.

The present grinding percentage between grain and our 94 per cent. must be maintained.

In other words real flour, such as we know it, is not allowed in Germany. Practically the entire grain is utilized. It was stated that if the wheat crop exceeded expectations, it would not be used to increase the flour ration, but to reduce the grinding percentage so as to get more bran for cattle.

On Oct. 8 there was a query in the Reichstag as to the use of barley for beer. A representative of the government stated that next year beer would be limited to what was necessary, but the chancellor was not prepared to reduce it further out of regard to the feeling of the populace.

On Oct. 15 a considerable increase in prices of wheat and rye flour was announced, thus increasing the price of bread.

It was announced that in the future communities would receive less bread and must substitute potatoes. At the same time there appeared in some of the papers becoming more precarious in Berlin, Hesse, Bavaria and Saxony, that the milk and egg supply was decreasing, that there was a shortage in fish, and that sugar was hard to get.

Malnutrition leads to epidemics of dysentery, tuberculosis, cholera and hunger typhus. These are all reported in the papers.

In Munich last year the births were only 8,400 and the deaths 12,400. The year before the war the births were 12,900 and the deaths 9,700.

On Sept. 30 Wallmann's Versicherungs Zeitschrift said bluntly: "Look at the people in the street; look at the hollow cheeks and big collars, and one cannot possibly be deceived. Ask any doctor or read the reviews of insurance companies and you will find the effect of malnutrition."

"The danger is that the mortality among the civil population is now competing with that at the front."

"It will be of no avail to try to satisfy oneself by lies and by closing one's eyes. It is a great wrong to conceal these facts from the population. Tuberculosis, which has been so successfully combated in recent years, now raises its head in a threatening manner as the result of the general shortage."

Forwaerts comments on the unusually high infant mortality this year, pointing out that it is 7 per cent. higher than last year and is largely

Diet, Exercise or Death!

An eminent medical authority writes that most of our city folks die of a thickening of the arteries or of kidney disease. The kidneys become clogged and do not filter the poisons from the blood, and one trouble follows another, high blood pressure damages the heart, arteries and kidneys. Usually its danger signals are backache, pain here or there, swollen feet or ankles, rheumatic twinges or spots appearing before the eyes.

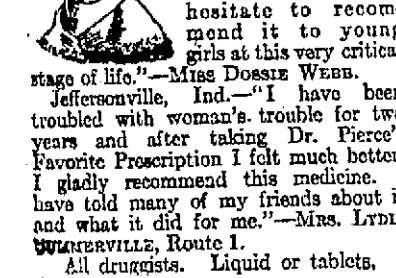

"The very best remedy is this: Eat meat but once a day or not at all. Plenty of outdoor exercise, and drink pure water frequently. Before meals take a little Anuric, the great uric acid neutralizer that is easily obtained at the drug store. When you have dizziness, chills or sweating, worry, or dragging pains in back, try this wonderful remedy, uric acid, which Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., discovered and named Anuric. Anuric, more potent than lithia, dissolves uric acid as hot water does sugar."

due to the poor quality of the milk. Another paper reports that in the Arnberg district for the week ending Sept. 29, there were 282 dysentery cases, 38 resulting in deaths.

It will be seen from these things that the food supply is not as ample as Germany would have the world believe; that there is considerable dearth along certain lines; and that while people are falling prey to malnutrition illness.

Now what about coal? Germany has attempted to make up for its lack of native labor by putting Russian and French prisoners to work in the mines.

But this has worked indifferently well because most of the prisoners have never mined coal before and the percentage of those who are incapacitated by illness, bad food, or accident is large.

The National Zeitung of Basle, Switzerland, on Oct. 11 stated that the German government had issued an order placing fresh restrictions upon passenger traffic in order to facilitate freight and save coal.

Fast train service was to be reduced. The amount of luggage allowed passengers was curtailed and trains were not to be heated much.

For short distance trains no heat was to be allowed. Passenger rates were increased 100 per cent.

FIVE WIN TURKEYS AT COUNTRY CLUB GARDENS

More than one hundred and fifty people visited Century Club Gardens, located just west of the Country Club, last Saturday afternoon. This splendid suburban development which offers such ideal opportunities to those employed in the city, has attracted many and all who have bought there have been enthusiastic boosters for this new community.

In order that as many as possible might see the features that have made Country Club Gardens so popular, the City and Suburban Building Co., developers of this suburban place, arranged a novel plan. Five turkeys were located on different parts of the Gardens, each of them being numbered. Each of the people who visited the Gardens Saturday afternoon had a numbered ticket, and the lucky one whose ticket number corresponded with the number found on the turkey carried it away. The five who received the turkeys were as follows: Warren Finley, 124 West Superior; Mrs. Henry Yaggy, 421 Rose Lane; Mrs. Sophia Malich, 530 State street; H. H. Smock, 1813 Sherman, and Mr. Sutton, G. E. works.

An unsuccessful attempt at suicide was made by Mrs. Florence Keintz Sunday night in the court house comfort station. The young woman was found on the floor with an empty chloroform bottle beside her by the matron. Officer Walter Kavanaugh was called and rushed the woman to the St. Joseph hospital where Dr. J. Frank Dinnen attended her.

She stated at the hospital that she desired to die because she could not earn enough money to live off of. She is divorced and lives at 234 West Butler street. Physicians stated that the woman will undoubtedly recover.

The Pennsylvania railroad (all lines east of Pittsburgh and Erie) reports that the average freight tonnage in July of this year was 32,51 tons, as compared with 23,57 tons in July, 1916, an improvement of more than 37 per cent. This was equal to a saving of 81,268 cars in the number required to handle the traffic of the road during July. This saving aided materially in rendering efficient military transportation.

To Avoid Rough, Coarse, Chapped, Blotchy Skin

Most skins require constant grooming at this season to keep them from becoming unattractively red, blotchy, rough or harsh, or if such condition has developed, to overcome it. In such cases it is particularly inadvisable to keep piling on cosmetics which clog the pores and make the complexion worse than ever. It is a lot more sensible to use ordinary mercurized wax, which literally absorbs a spoiled complexion. Apply the wax, like cold cream, before retiring. Next morning, in washing it off, you'll wash away fine, flour-like particles of the unsightly cuticle. Repeat for a week or more and you'll have an entirely new skin—soft, white, smooth and beautiful as a child's. One ounce of mercurized wax, procurable at any drug-gist's, is all you'll need.—Advertisement.

CRACKSMEN DO NEAT

JOB IN CLEVELAND

Fool Watchman of Big Store and Get Away With the Insides of Safe.

Cleveland, O., Nov. 26.—Three night watchmen were found bound and gagged in the vault at the Higbee company store early this morning, where they had been locked by four safe-blowers who had broken into the strong box and escaped with a rich haul.

According to statements made by officials of the company the safe-blowers got between $5,000 and $10,000 in cash and stole $10,000 worth of merchandise, including jewelry and furs. The watchmen when released were almost suffocated, but were revived.

They said the cracksmen gained entrance to the building by posing as United States secret service men looking for German spies who were reported to have plotted to set fire to the building.

The Higbee company operates one of the city's large dry goods and department stores in the downtown section.

COMBINATION SALES

PLACED UNDER BAN

An Exception Is Made, However, in Regard to Cornmeal.

The buying of sugar in large quantities with a good-sized grocery order is prohibited by the federal decree passed on November 17. In other words combination sales are not permitted. The decree was sent to A. H. Patterson and affects both retailer and consumer. It reads as follows: "November 17.—On and after this date all combination sales of food commodities are forbidden, with one exception, as stated below. The sale of one or more food commodities upon condition that the purchaser shall buy one or more food commodity from the seller is regarded as a combination sale within the meaning of this ruling. Combination sales frequently result in the sale of more foodstuffs than the particular purchaser would ordinarily buy, and are, therefore, determined to be a wasteful practice within the meaning of Section 4 of the food administration act of August 10, 1917.

Exception. "Pending further notice, and as a wheat conservative measure, the dealer may sell sugar in combination with corn meal at the rate of one pound of sugar with two of corn meal. No other combination will be permitted, nor will any other ratio than that here stated be allowed. The dealer shall not sell either the sugar or corn meal at price yielding him a greater profit than he has normally enjoyed on the particular commodity. The dealer is not required to make combination sales of sugar and corn meal, but may do so at his discretion."

Our merchandise is sold with a guarantee of satisfaction to the purchaser, according to his own judgment.

Frank Jones drew the lucky number and escaped with $1 and costs.

Loiterers Let Go. Vern Mertz and Harry Paul arrested for loitering, proved that they were on their way to take employment in government munition factories and that they had been employed in munition plants in Canada and were therefore let go. James Burns and George Thompson arrested Friday on loitering charges were also released.

Roy Pollock Held. Roy Pollock, the man arrested on suspicion of having stolen some lead pipe and copper valves from Herman Tapp, Hanna and Lewis street, was ordered held. Pollock testified that he made a bargain for some old harness in the Tapp barn and that Mrs. Tapp said that he could have anything in the barn. Pollock picked out some valuable valves and tried to sell them at a pawnshop. The questions of the pawn broker frightened him and he left the place without the junk. Mrs. Tapp states that she did not sell the material to him but that it was stolen.

Makes Another Attempt. Jacob Schmidt, the drunk arrested for uttering pro-German remarks seems to be bound to commit suicide. The first attempt was made Saturday when he hacked his wrist with the blade of his watch. He was caught in time and removed to the hospital. Sunday morning authorities found Schmidt gashing his neck on a broken pane of glass. Although he had made several cuts, they were not of a serious nature and will soon heal. Schmidt is undoubtedly unbalanced so his case was continued until December 4.

LAST PERRY EXPEDITION SURVIVOR VISITS JAPAN

Sent by Japanese Societies and Uncle Sam on a Historic Visit.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 22.—Captain William H. Hardy, 52 years old, Port-

Captain W. H. Hardy, wearing uniform of gunner's mate on the U. S. S. Mississippi, Commodore Perry's flagship on U. S. expedition to Japan in 1853.

land citizen and former gunner's mate in the U. S. navy, is on his way over to Japan for a visit.

His going is something of an international event.

The grizzled old sea warrior is the last surviving member of the famous expedition commanded by Commodore Perry 64 years ago, which unfurled the Stars and Stripes for the first time on the Mikado's seas and started negotiations that resulted in the establishment of a lasting friendship between the United States and Nippon.

Commodore Perry presented a letter from President Fillmore to the Japanese government on July 14, 1853. The Mikado was pleased and sent back a satisfactory reply. Two years later Captain Hardy returned to Japan with the ratified treaty and the ports of that country became open to Americans.

"That was the date of the awakening of Japan which put the country on the same basis as the other progressive nations of the world," said Captain Hardy before he left here. "The progress of Japan since that time has been more wonderful even than that of the United States. Now there is hardly a village where English is not spoken. The Japanese are a wonderful people, as honest as they are brave and progressive. Their friendship for the United States is deep seated."

Captain Hardy is being sent to Japan by the Japanese societies of Oregon with the consent of the United States government. Y. Mitsuk, a prominent Japanese of Portland, accompanies him as an interpreter and manager of the lecture tour.

THE RAT IS ONE OF THE KAISER'S AIDES

Washington, Nov. 23.—The Kaiser has no more efficient allies in America than two or three billion rats and mice which are doing their "bit" for him night and day. The fast disappearing American black rat and the more vicious hyphenated gray rat and his brown brother from Scandinavia, all are doing their best to help the Kaiser and the U-boats.

The agriculture department looks on them as a public enemy and is sending out fresh appeals for a war on rats.

War on rats, like war on Germans, must be scientific and methodical. No sudden bursts of energy, no spasmodic use of traps or poison will avail.

Here are the rules for immediate warfare:

Clean up everything! Especially about markets, stores and barns.

Thresh and market grain early to prevent rat colonies forming in grain stacks.

Remove all piles of straw, trash and lumber on vacant lots.

Don't destroy hawks, owls or non-poisonous snakes. The black, garter and chicken snakes are worth millions to America. They feast on rats.

Keep well-trained rat dogs on farms and in city warehouses. Unlike cats, dogs kill rats for sport and do not limit their kill to their appetites.

Keep everything eatable in rat proof containers.

Go after rats with poison, traps and organized hunts.

Arouse public opinion to the danger of the pest.

Name _____

Street _____

City _____ State _____

There are no fees or dues to be paid. The Food Administration wishes to have as members all of those actually handling food in the home.

Anyone may have the Home Card of Instruction, but only those signing pledges are entitled to the Membership Window Card, which will be delivered upon receipt of the signed pledge.

Cut this out carefully and send it to the Federal Food Administrator, Room 20, State House, Indianapolis, Indiana.

Do not send it to Washington. Send it to Indianapolis.

This is the same as the pledge card, and just as official. Do not sign this if you have signed a pledge card. Do not sign a pledge card if you sign this.

When you send this in, with your name and address, you will be sent free: (1) a handsome three-colored window membership card to show that you are trying to live up to the suggestions of the food administration at your house; (2) an interesting and valuable book of suggestions and recipes, entitled "Ten Lessons on Food Conservation"; (3) a wall card to hang in your kitchen, entitled "The Kitchen War Creed," to show you how you can help win the war in your own kitchen if you wish.

And the food administration will mail you other helpful things later, perhaps.

To sign this card is a patriotic privilege. It will make you a leader in your neighborhood in the task of saving certain foods for our soldiers and our allies.

Sign this card. Show Mr. Hoover you are with him. Hang out your window membership card when it comes. Read the interesting literature that will be sent you.

The government is not going to ask for your canned goods or for anything else, because you sign this card. You incur no obligations. You merely promise to study the problem of "food saving to win the war" and do what you can to help.

SELL 15,550 XMAS SEALS

This Year's Figures Slightly
Below Last Year's Be-

WILL PLACE LARGE SIGN ON SQUARE

Many $5.00 Contributions
Among Saturday's List
of Purchasers.

Just 15,500 Red Cross seals have been sold this year up to date, in comparison with 57,040 sold last year. It will be seen that the amount of anti-tuberculosis seals thus far placed this season falls short of the same date of last year but headquarters is not disturbed for the reason that a this time last year the war had not involved America and the people had not been called upon for contributions to other causes. A special advance sale had been made by personal solicitation.

The amount reported for 1917 is only for Saturday, Nov. 24. Today's mail was heavy and the result will be reported tomorrow. It is believed that the sales this year, because of the vastly greater need, will total larger than any previous year. Headquarters is out for a new record.

Owing to the trouble in getting to the order for the usual measured emblem, the painters have not yet delivered the sign that is to adorn the court house corner from day to day. The sign this year is to picture a Red Cross nurse instead of merely the society's cross. This will be placed as soon as the painter can finish it.

A list of those buying $2 worth or more of the seals is herewith given. All the contributions are gratefully received, but owing to the numerous people contributing less than $2 worth it would be impossible to make a complete list. Those subscribing $2 or more up to this time are: Lenhart & Geller, $5; Dan Nindo, $5; E. J. Little, $2; Krans & Applebaum, $4; Theodore J. Israel, $4; Hattersley & Son, $5; Willie Hattersley, $2; S. Krans, $3; Jacob Rohrer, $2; Conney Bayer, $5; Janthier, florists, $2; L. O. Hull, $3; J. W. Miller, $2; Sol A. Wood, $3; Miss Emanuel, $5; Hugh Keegan, $3; Charles Agster, $2; William N. Ballou, $2; Albert E. Thomas, $4; Harper & Fubler, $5; Old Fort Supply Co., $5; Brown Trucking Co., $5; Higgenian & Schauf, $5; Tickleham Coal Co., $2; Mrs. Deal Brich, $2.50; F. M. Kauffman, $2; Altschule Co., $5; National Handle Co., $4; Agnes Cochran, $2; Fort Wayne Dental, $4; George Gilie, $2; Schaub Roofing Supply, $3; Bell & Sons, $2; J. F. Freeman Co., $2; T. Pooler, $3; George Trier, $3; Sol Rothschild, $3; Kleban & Melchior, $5; W. M. Sanson & Co., $3.

LOCAL ICE DEALERS

AGREE TO CO-OPERATE

They Will Assist All Efforts
to Conserve Foods, Labor and Ice.

Bernard Moran, who has been appointed delegate for Allen county to the Indiana Ice Dealers association and E. D. Eward, manager of the Consumers Ice company, reported to the Allen county council of defense Monday morning that they were ready to co-operate with all efforts to conserve foods, labor and ice.

Mr. Moran was advised, in accordance with his instructions from the state organization, to get in touch with Mr. Beaulieu, the fuel administrator, and with George M. Haffner, the food administrator. They will together work out plans for the conservation of both of foods and fuel.

Mr. Moran reported that he had closed down the artificial ice machinery for the winter and was serving customers with lake ice from his houses at Lake Pleasant. Mr. Eward reported that he would shut down the artificial ice machinery in his plant tomorrow night and thereafter serve his customers with lake ice. It is probable that the two ice plant managers will agree upon some organized system of delivery which will greatly reduce amount of labor and teams or auto trucks needed for the satisfactory service of the customers of both.

DAYTON ABBOTT IS CHIEF OF POLICE

Eisenhut May be New Night
Captain—Sergeant Spill-
ner to Retire.

Chief of Police Charles Lenz has been notified that he will be succeeded by Dayton Abbott at the expiration of his term of office. The question as to who was to be new police head has been a cause for considerable speculation, and quite a number of promising candidates were mentioned immediately following the election. It is rumored at the police station that Balliff Eisenhut will be appointed captain in the place of Captain Kelly.
Abbott was chief of police for three years of Grace's administration and Eisenhut was lieutenant.
Several removals from the plain clothes squad are also mentioned, but they are not definite. The change of officers will necessitate the usual removal of officers and the appointment of new ones. Detective Sergeant Spillner has announced his intention of retiring the first of the year, as he is now on the pension roll, having been in the employ of the police department for twenty-five

MURDERER OF HER EX-HUSBAND TALKS

Relates Finding Husband
Aboard Yacht With Bevy
of Stage Beauties.

Mineola, N. Y., Nov. 26.—Mrs. Bianca De Saulles, on trial here for the murder of her husband, John De Saul-les today from the witness stand told the story of her life.
It was a story brimming with dramatic interest. Her childhood, spent in Chile, her meeting there with De Saulles, their marriage in Paris and the return to the United States was the first and happiest part of the tale.
Then came the defendant's detailed narration of the change in her husband's attitude toward her—of the trickery to which she claims he resorted in order to get possession of $100,000 which she had inherited from her father. Instances of his alleged infidelity were related by the witness who spoke in a calm, impassioned manner while throngs which filled the courtroom listened with breathless interest.

Letters which Mrs. De Saulles wrote to her husband were introduced by her counsel with the purpose of showing the jury she had suffered from neglect.
The paths of some of them drew tears from the listeners in the courtroom.
Reading of these letters occupied nearly forty-five minutes. Mrs. De Saulles sat half contained and with downcast gaze while they were being read. The witness identified four drafts drawn on her account and made payable to "cash." All four have endorsement of John L. De Saulles. They were dated August 28, September 29, October 24 and Dec. 9, 1913, and were for $15,000, $1,500, $2,000 and $1,000, respectively.

At this point Mr. Uterhart dis-gressed to elicit from Mrs. DeSaulles an account of a Sunday afternoon in Sept. 1914 when the August Hecksher yacht, on which she was sailing in Long Island Sound, came upon a yacht chartered by the Duke of Manchester, on the quarter deck of which, the witness said she saw the duke and her husband surrounded by a number of girls. In telling of this incident in court last week Mr. Uterhart described these girls as a "bevy of Broadway's choicest beauties."

The defense presented a letter written by Mrs. De Saulles in August, 1916, to her son's former nurse, Miss O'Neil, which read:

"Dear Miss Ethel: How glad I was to hear from you again and how happy I feel to know that I have a real friend in you. You have no idea how it helps.
We are sailing, my brother, sister and myself, for London the day after tomorrow, and coming back in October. The baby will remain here. His father in every visit he makes to him, influences him so against me that he is now very hard to manage, and now Mrs. Mooney has adopted an extraordinary attitude as though the child belonged to her and it were a great concession for her to allow the child to talk to me, and when he does its only to tell me that his 'boobie' loves him more than I do, because she has told him that, and he says he would rather be with her."

Mrs. L. B. Wells will leave on Wednesday morning for her home in Pittsburg, Pa.

SOCIALISTS SPEND $211 ON ELECTION

Remainder of Candidates
Expected to File Expense
Accounts This Week.

The socialist party has completed its expense account and has filed it with the city clerk. A total of $211.84 was spent for campaign expenses. This total is considerably lower than the democratic and republican expenditures, will be, but it accomplished the election of one candidate.

The following names filed their expense accounts Saturday: Sam Hen-line, republican candidate for councilman-at-large, $20.50; Henry A. Miller, date for councilman from the Sixth cratic candidate for councilman from the seventh ward, $47.80; Nathan B.

All but two of the successful candidates have taken the oath of office.
These two, Frank Mungovan and Tom Snook will appear at a later date and be sworn in by the city clerk.

The total for the receipts and expenditures of the republican central committee was filed with the city clerk late Monday afternoon. The sheet showed a total receipt of $1,850 and an expenditure of $1,836.00. A small number of minor bills are still outstanding.

BACK FROM THE TRENCHES.

An Atlantic Port, Nov. 26.—The

bers of which had narrow escapes from death or injury when they came under machine gun fire recently while visiting the trenches on the British front in France, returned home on a steamer which arrived here today.

The Germans appeared to notice the unusual activity in the British trenches caused by the congressmen and thinking a raid was about to begin opened fire with a battery of machine guns. Some of the congressmen who were exposed to the rain of bullets, promptly sought the shelter of the dugouts.

burg line and drove the enemy back on Cambrai.

For the first time since the German retreat from Bapaume last spring the Canadian cavalry went into action with their horses.

After waiting a long time opposite the village of Masnières for the signal, which sent them into action, the "Hell-for-leather" Fort Garry galloped to the attack. They succeeded in crossing the Les Caut canal and penetrated the enemy's country. What followed equals anything in cavalry exploits in the history of the empire.

A Cavalry Exploit.
A single squadron found itself all alone. Racing forward with enemy to the right and to the left of them, the Fort Garry's galloped in sections over the crest of a hill concealing the enemy's guns. Advancing down the slope they found themselves facing a battery of four light German field guns. Charging straight for the battery sabring everything as they came officers and men raced to the guns.
In line of troop columns they advanced, coming so quickly that the enemy had no time to man two of his guns, one other was cut off and put out of action. The gunners attempted to blow up the fourth. The cavalry wiped out that battery with the sword.

The majority of the enemy gunners attempted to fly and only a few brave men stood at attention beside their cannon. On swept the little squadron. The retreating enemy's infantry were engaged.

Fought With Bayonets on Foot.
Dusk found the cavalry two miles inside the enemy's territory, commanded by a lieutenant. A defensive position was essential. With sword the horsemen fought their way through to a sunken road. There they dismounted. Two messengers sent back to report their position told the horses shot under them, but struggled back to the lines. Darkness was falling. The gallant band was isolated. Stomping their horses to direct the enemy's machine gun fire, which was left of the squadron prepared to return. As they had galloped forward, using the sabre, they now fought their way back on foot with the bayonet.

The retirement was a succession of hand to hand struggles. Four times the little party met enemy working parties with the bayonet and dispersed them.
Midnight had passed when they reached Masnières again and fought their way through the enemy infantry in the town to a wrecked bridge, where they crossed to safety.

Forty-three of the men came through unwounded and they brought back their wounded and over a dozen prisoners.

EVANGELIST TAKES

KOKOMO BY STORM

Kokomo, Ind., Nov. 26.—Rev. E. J.
Rulgin, the great evangelist, is taking Kokomo by storm. Sunday marked the end of the second week of his series of evangelistic meetings in the great tabernacle built for them here.
The preacher was heard by 3,500 people in three services of that day. An afternoon meeting for men was attended by 2,500 and a double-header in the evening brought together six thousand more. The evening crowd was the greatest gathering of people even seen in Kokomo. So great was the rush at the first of the evening meetings that two doors were torn off the tabernacle through which the crowd outside tried to rush in after the tabernacle had been filled to its utmost capacity.

RYDER BOY IMPROVES.

Harold Ryder, the seven-year-old lad run over by an automobile on Saturday afternoon is in a much improved condition. All hope for his recovery was given up Sunday evening, but an unexpected rally has carried the lad through. His injuries are internal and include a punctured lung.
The lad's condition is serious as both wheels of the heavy machine passed over him. Physicians state, however, that if the little chap holds on and shows the same improvement shown yesterday that his recovery will be certain.

every visitor from out of town will find the Fort Wayne stores sparkling with appealing holiday and winter goods, at prices which will make the day one of the busiest of the early winter season.

Everybody comes to Fort Wayne now on Wednesday. It's the splendid new opportunity for the visitors to trade in comfort, which is not always possible on Saturday, when Fort Wayne people are crowding the streets and the stores.

will see the Christmas shopping go merrily forward. The people are buying sensible gifts this year, and that's the kind the out-of-town people will find here in great variety. Always the Fort Wayne merchant asks the visitors to "try your home merchant first—then try Fort Wayne." That is the fair plan, and Fort Wayne asks no other consideration.

THE Y. M. C. A. IN THE GREAT ARMY CAMPS OF NATION

They had just heard a lecture, rather a heartening talk, these men, on the relation between clean living and clean thinking. In a few minutes they expect to see (they did see) a fine motion picture. Earlier in the evening (this was in a Y. M. C. A. building at Camp Grant, Rockford, Ill.), they had heard a concert by a regimental band. This shows how the Y. M. C. A. is appreciated by hundreds of thousands of sturdy young chaps at the cantonments and camps in the United States. Similar scenes are common on the battle fronts in Europe. Wherever is the red triangle, symbol of the service of the association, millions of war-worn soldiers the world over know there are rest and comfort, calm and content and good cheer. The highest commands of the armies of the world have declared the Y. M. C. A. a necessary part of their establishments.

SKULL TO REFORM HIM

Criminal Through Accident
in Youth, Hopes to Be Made Normal.

Portland, Ore., Nov. 26.—Dr. Roy C. McDaniel is going to take a rib from the side of Marcel G. Parsons, not to make him an Eve, but a new skull.

in the yard of his wealthy parents in Spokane. A limb broke and he fell, dashing his head against a stone. When his distracted mother picked him up, she pressed to her heart a little unconscious boy with a mania for stealing automobiles. Before he fell from the tree the boy was a normal child. There was no criminal taint in his blood. The family record shows that. But his injury caused pressure on his brain and today Parsons is known to the police from Spokane to Los Angeles as one of the most persistent auto thieves in the business. He has stolen several cars and has gone to prison. He has been sent twice to insane hospitals in the hope that he might be cured. On the last occasion the hospital superintendent sent word to District Attorney Evans that Parsons was not insane and would be discharged in a week. Evans sent for Parsons and brought him back here for trial. The boy's mother took Dr. McDaniel to visit him in the county jail. McDaniel felt of Parsons' skull. There was a depression in it the size of a dollar, two inches back of the brow. "An operation will cure him," said the surgeon. "It is a delicate one to perform and might result fatally, but his only chance." Judge Kavanaugh consented to allow the boy to be removed to a hospital. That night he eluded his guard, jumped out a window and was caught as he was climbing into another automobile. Recaptured, Parsons pleaded for another chance to undergo the operation. Dr. McDaniel will perform it within a few days. "I don't know why I steal autos," said Parsons back in his cell. "I don't need them. I could have two or three of my own if I liked." Parsons is a graduate of Washington State college, an electrical engineer and one time had charge of the ventilating system in the Hercules mine, one of the largest mines in Idaho. "I'm for the operation," he says. "If I pull through I will join the army and go to France. If I don't I'll be all right, anyway. I'd rather not recover if I'm to be a thief."

German Lies Spread in the United States Tell of
"Tumulty's Arrest."

Washington, D. C., Nov. 26.—The old lady who spoke well of everyone, and who called attention to the devil's virtues of patience and persistency could also point out some admirable traits of the German spy propaganda in this country.

The number of canards set afloat by word of mouth or put on ticker wires in the past nine months is past all counting. Some of these stories have spread all over the country; others have been purely local.

Many of them show a high order of imagination and versatility. Quite a few of them point to a common source and deliberate propagation.

The most novel form of this underhanded campaign is the calling up by phone of relatives of men known to be in the army and navy and telling them that their loved ones have been slain. The navy and war departments have been kept busy reassuring victims of this form of propaganda.

Here are a few of the German canards circulated recently:

Secretary Tumulty arrested as a German spy and imprisoned in Fort Leavenworth.

Battleship Pennsylvania and other American ships sunk in great North Sea naval battle won by Germans.

Government preparing to seize all preserves in private houses and all meats in farmers' smoke houses.

Government preparing to confiscate all bank deposits. A variant of this lie has been the report that deposits of all aliens are to be seized.

There is a whole flock of "casualty" lies, purporting to tell of terrific trench fatalities. Parades of troops have been accompanied by whispers that "It's a pity, but we will never see them again. They are going to certain death."

The usual flock of "war baby" canards.

All sorts of stories about the liberty loan and the inability of the government to pay its obligations.

Practically every German canard used in America has also been used in Britain, France, Italy and Russia.

IMPORTANT FACTOR

That the raising of rabbits is of some importance is shown by statistics given by W. H. Ashton, president of the National Breeders' and Fanciers' Association. Fort Wayne should prove a fertile field for the breeding of rabbits as many valuable ones ranging in prices from $5 to $100 are to be found here. Many of them weigh as high as eighteen pounds and include steel grey, grey, white, and black. The value of rabbit pelts as well as rabbit meat is extremely high at the present time. The exportation of rabbit pelts, by United States breeders, last year amounted to $15,000,000.

James Wade Emison, a lawyer, prominent in republican politics in this district, suffered four broken ribs, besides other injuries and his condition is serious.
His brother, John W., who was driving the auto, was injured only slightly. He, according to a flagman, was looking at a wrecked automobile that was struck at the crossing Saturday, and did not see the warning against the approach of the train.
The automobile was an enclosed one and was astride the track when struck. Mrs. Wade Emison's head was pushed through the windshield. She died an hour after the accident. Mrs. John W. Emison was hurled 100 feet, suffering many broken bones. She lived fifteen minutes.

Work of Two Teams.
Much credit is given to the teams captained by Misses Grace Hines and Alsa Hoff, composed of business women, teachers and nurses, who secured a total of $4,078.62 from office people. The Industrial Extension department teams gathered in a total of $1,082.93. These teams were composed of the industrial clubs of the Y. W. C. A. In the several factories, conducted under the direction of Mrs. Whitbeck. The four leading clubs in this group were the Gymnasts of the Wayne Knitting Mills; the Elx club, of the General Electric works; the Perfection club, of the Perfection Blainit plant, and the Duddo Girls' club, of the Duddo Manufacturing company. Employers were generous in allowing the girls to look after the campaign in their plants; at the General Electric company, sixteen girls were allowed to conduct the work on full pay. Special mention is made of the work of Mrs. Charles Asch, working among the residents of St. Joseph township, who secured about $100. In the city, the Misses Nora and Mollie Shreve secured over $1,200. The Busy Bee, a club composed of girls employed in the homes of the city, contributed $30.
Mrs. Fred H. McCulloch reported at the Saturday night meeting that Wells, Dekalb and Adams counties have promised to secure contributions to the fund this week. The Y. M. C. A. campaign was still in progress in Whitley and Steuben counties, which prevented the start of the Y. W. C. A. canvass. Huntington county, however, through the splendid efforts of a club of young women, raised $1,000. Praise for the success of the Fort Wayne campaign is given in large measure to Mrs. George Evans, who served as the director of the campaign teams, to Miss Anna Cole, general secretary of the Fort Wayne Y. W. C. A., and to Miss May Carroll Smith, treasurer of the association, as well as to their associates who devoted themselves unselfishly to the needs of the hour.

MAN OF 87 ENDS LIFE.
Lafayette, Ind., Nov. 26.—Ferdinand Seipel, aged 87, severed the exterior jugular vein in his throat with a pocketknife and died three hours later in a hospital from the resultant hemorrhage. Seipel had lived in Lafayette for sixty-eight years and had been a member of St. Anthony's home for the aged for fifteen years.

tion and did not show a trace of fatigue from their long march.
From Blue to Khaki.
Just beyond here the color turned from blue to khaki as long lines of the British came into sight. In the lead were cyclists, and then came engineer trains. Following were long ranks of infantry, cavalry and artillery. At one point headquarters had been temporarily established along the road and guards were at the gate as the officers went and came.
Further on a British general and his staff, all finely mounted, were cantering forward.
The artillery horses were especially marked for their sleek, well-fed condition and the observers noted how all the brass work of the guns and equipment glistened with the thorough care it had had. One engineer corps was rumbling to the rear with huge pontoons on camions, as it had been found these were not needed, but all the rest of the force was moving forward.
Look Hard and Fit.
The men looked hard as nails despite their steady marches. Both officers and men were eager to hear how the fight was going and were anxious to get forward. Talks with these men along the road gave an idea of what they had been doing. They had been marching steadily for several days. The start was made every day at 3 a. m. with an early breakfast and with rations subsequently served at 11 a. m. and 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Along the route, their headquarters were in village schools, houses, barns and public buildings. The men carried loads of about seventy pounds, including rifles, blankets, kits and the day's rations. This looked like a heavy load as the long ranks ranged along the roads, but the men did not mind it, although they said the long marches had been hard on the feet. The regimental bands were in line and Italy may hear music again if things go right. All the Italian bands have disappeared in the fierce carnage of recent days and the bandmen are charging with bayonets. The whole appearance of the British and French gave a feeling of great power because of the perfect organization and ardor of all ranks, accentuated by the timeliness with which they are arriving in the vicinity of the battle front.

SHOOT OFF HAND WHILE OUT HUNTING
Anthony Shoudell, of Garrett, Meets With Painful Accident Saturday.
(Special to the Sentinel.)
Garrett, Ind., Nov. 26.—Anthony Shoudell, the young man from near Auburn, who shot his hand off Saturday afternoon while out hunting, is resting quite comfortable at Sacred Heart hospital, although still very weak from the great loss of blood. The young man is eighteen years old and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Mathias Shoudell of six miles southeast of Auburn. He was out hunting Saturday and had climbed a tree when in some way he slipped letting the gun drop, and the hammer caught on a limb discharging the gun. The load grazed the abdomen several shots being imbedded in the skin and blew off the left hand and passed on to the left cheek, a number of shots entering there. He ran to a neighbor, a half mile away, and called for help, not wishing to frighten his mother, who was at home alone. He was rushed to the hospital here and operated on at once. While the accident is very sad the young man has won the admiration of those about him for his optimistic view of it for he remarked that he was lucky to be here at all, for had the shot entered a little deeper in the abdomen it would have meant death and he is thankful that it was his left hand that was lost.
In Runaway Accident.
Mrs. Scudder Schutt, wife of Trustee Schutt, is confined to her home south of this city in injuries in a runaway Saturday night. Mrs. Schutt and her young son were driving to this city and were on South Cowen street when two young men drove up behind them racing. This frightened the Schutt horse and it started to run, throwing Mrs. Schutt to the pavement, breaking her nose and cutting a big gash in her head. The boy merely had a bruised leg. Mrs. Schutt was taken into the Novinger home on South Cowen street and a physician called, who dressed her injuries and later she was removed to her home south of this city a short distance. Word from there today is to the effect that she bruised all over her body and is scarcely able to move, although she will be all right in a few days. The officials are endeavoring to learn the names of the young men who were racing and give them a taste of the law.

"On the Cambrai battle front the enemy has not repeated his attacks on the Bourlon position since the failure of his attempt at midday yesterday and the situation is unchanged."
"Northeast of Ypres there was considerable artillery activity on both sides early last night in the Passchendaele sector, but no infantry action developed."
FIGHTING ON VERDUN FRONT
Paris, Nov. 26.—Violent artillery activity is continuing in the Verdun region east of the Meuse, where the French are organizing the ground they captured yesterday to the north of hill 344, says today's war office statement.
The statement reads: "On the right bank of the Meuse there was lively activity by the artillery in the region north of hill 344, where our troops are organizing the positions which they had captured."
"An enemy raid upon our small posts in the region of Bezonvaux was repulsed by our fire."

STORY OF THE GREAT FIGHT.
British Army Headquarters in France, Sunday, Nov. 25.—(Try the Associated Press.)—This morning found the line of battle of the weary but determined British troops stretched in a semi-circle about Bourlon wood and Bourlon village which nestles at the northwestern edge of the forest. It was a line which had been established in the face of dogged resistance on the part of the Germans who had fallen back step by step, fighting with the fury of despair. All day yesterday the opposing forces struggled bitterly at close quarters for possession of the little village from which the British were forced Friday after gaining a footing in the ruins that took them through Bourlon wood. Night fall found waves of infantry surging back and forth through the streets of the hamlet and among the houses their crimson bayonets telling the story of the terrible conflict being waged. Gradually the Germans fell back the British pressing forward with grim persistence which the enemy could not withstand, the hamlet was finally cleared of the major portion of the German troops.
Only a Few Remained.
Today some few of the enemy still remained in Bourlon to be mopped up, but all the main streets of the place had been cleared and it was surrounded by a strong force of British soldiers.
A little to the southwest of here another struggle was being staged in the village of Moerwaite, into which the British had battled their way with rifle and bayonet and pushed the Germans out of the southern half. Elsewhere along the Cambrai front there was no infantry action of importance. Prisoners continue to arrive at the British cages from the front. Nearly 10,000 captives thus far have been counted, including 20 officers.
In the capture of Bourlon woods and village the British have acquired possession of one of the most important points they have secured since the great drive began last Tuesday. This high ground controls a wide sweep of territory and its occupation holds out the possibility that the Germans eventually will be forced to withdraw their lines to the northwest. The Bourlon position also overlooks Cambrai. This city might be a hard nut to crack because the central part is walled and many suburbs radiate from it, forming natural barriers against an advance from the west.
Cambrai May Be Powdered.
It seems possible that Cambrai might ultimately become a sort of No Man's land, dominated by the big guns of both sides, and that this ancient town with its fine old Cathedral and picturesque would go the way of so many other places which came under artillery fire.
A large amount of traffic in the last few days has been pouring out of Cambrai toward the southeast, indicating the probability the Germans have evacuated the civilian population and are preparing for eventualities.
That the Germans attacked great importance Bourlon wood and the village was fully evidenced by their strenuous resistance and the intense counter-attacks. Several counter-thrusts were delivered by the enemy. Some of them succeeded temporarily, but the British immediately pushed forward again and regained the lost ground. The fighting over the wooded slopes of this elevation has been among the most spectacular of the war, for the occupation of the forest was due largely to the work of tanks and airmen who paved the way for the crushing infantry. A number of iron monitors led the advance to Bourlon wood Friday with British planes circling over the enemy at a height of from thirty to fifty feet and carrying on a vigorous warfare with their machine guns and bombs.
Fighting Was Hard.
It was hard fighting, but the advance was continued successfully until the northwest corner of the wood was reached, where the tanks were held up by a strong force of the enemy. British airmen, who had been fighting close to the ground, deliberately charged down on the enemy infantry with machine guns pumping a steady stream of bullets into the German ranks. The battle was short and decisive. The airplanes wheeled and re-wheeled over the heads of the Germans and maintained such an intensive fire that the defenders were forced to retire from the position after suffering considerable losses. The tanks then pushed on, the conquest of the wood being completed and an entering wedge having been driven into the village. Almost immediately the Germans delivered a heavy counter-attack on the troops who had penetrated the hamlet and after a stiff engagement forced them to withdraw again to the edge of the wood.
Saturday morning the British renewed the attack on the village.
It was a battle in which the British troops gloried for it took them when the days of other war when men struggled in the open.
British Forced Out for a Time.
During the morning the enemy advanced in strength from the north and threw themselves against the British line at the edge of the wood. A san-

RED CROSS NOTIFIED TO WATCH INSPECTORS
False Representatives Touring the County and Visiting Chapters.
The local Red Cross chapter is in receipt of a letter sent out from Indianapolis by Arthur F. Bentley, director of the Indiana Red Cross, and it warns local authorities to watch for false representatives. The letter reads:
"We have several reports of suspicious visitors at chapter workshops. Men report themselves as 'inspectors' and say they have been sent out from Indianapolis or from other cities in the state. We would advise you to question closely any visitors of this nature. No haphazard visiting or inspection is being carried on at this time. All representatives from Indianapolis or Cleveland should carry proper credentials."
"We also have received reports of men who represent themselves as sent out by Washington to make inquiries about girls who have taken Home Care and First Aid courses. Please watch out for these people also."
"If anything suspicious develops, report to us immediately by wire." No characters of the above mentioned kinds have been noticed at the local workshop, but all inspectors coming here will be required to show the proper credentials.
Miss Frances Ott, the teacher of the Home Care classes at the Red Cross workshop, who has been confined in the Lutheran hospital, will meet with her classes Tuesday night. She is not yet strong enough for her work but will be brought up from the hospital in an automobile and will return to the hospital as soon as she finishes teaching her classes.
A small number of French manuals to be used in the French classes taught by Mrs. Freda Strauss, have arrived and are on sale at the secretary's desk. Only a limited number came and these will be reserved for the students enrolled in the classes. The books have been arranged especially for those who are going into the service and contain a number of phrases that will be useful to every soldier who goes to France.
A useful donation was received from Mrs. Albert Bond in the form of a cutting table which was needed at the workshop. If the table had been made it would have cost at least $20. The teachers in the sewing room were engaged Monday in making new sample garments showing all the alterations which have been proposed lately.

but their efforts have not been fruitful. Attempts to cross the river on pontoons were crushed by the Italian artillery fire.
French and British troops have now arrived in force near the Italian northern fighting front heavy columns having marched more than 120 miles in eight days, evidently from railway terminals in northwest Italy to the battle zone. They are reported in fine fettle and apparently are about ready to reinforce the Italians on the important northern line.
From the Cambrai area Field Marshall Haig reports the Germans retreating down in the violence of their reaction. They failed to repeat last night their futile attacks on the British positions in the Bourlon sector.
TWO WOMEN COUNTY AGENTS.

New York, Nov. 26.—For the first time in eighteen years the "Amen Corner" will not hold its annual dinner this year. All the tickets had been subscribed for and the money will be refunded.

STOCK MARKET GETS A BETTER OPENING
Week's Trading Starts Off With Rally, But It Is Later Overcome.
New York, Nov. 26.—The week in the stock market opened with a general rally from last Saturday's moderate depression. War shares, shipping and specialties gained 1 to 1 1/2 points and Union Pacific featured the irregular rally, advancing 1 1/4 points. General Electric was reactionary, however, on the new financing of the company yielding more than 2 points. Liberty bonds showed a little change. Early advances were speedily forfeited on offerings of steels and pressure against rails. General Electric and Pullman extended their losses substantially. Shipments stood out for a time, marine preferred rising 3 1/4 points. Liberty 4s sold at 97.83 to 97.98 and 3 1/2 at 98.50 to 99.02.
